LEHMAN VICTOR OVER DEWEY BY NARROW MARGIN

G. O. P. Loser Sends Congratulations.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 9 [Wednesday].—[Special.]—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat was reëlected for a fourth term today by fewer than 75,000 votes over his Republican opponent, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, on the basis of nearly complete returns early today.

Dewey conceded his defeat early this morning. He called newspapermen to his headquarters and read a telegram which he sent to the governor. It read: "Heartiest congratulations on your reëlection. I wish you every success and happiness. With best personal regards, Thomas E. Dewey."

In vote tabulations prepared by the Associated Press, returns from 9,042 of the state's 9,051 districts gave: Lehman, 2,382,140; Dewey, 2,313,582. In 5,116 of the 5,133 upstate districts the count stood: Lehman, 914,195; Dewey, 1,526,780. Complete returns in New York City gave: Lehman, 1,467,306; Dewey, 784,641.

Senator Wagner Wins.

Senator Robert F. Wagner, Democratic nominee, also was reëlected over his Republican opponent, John Lord O'Brian. Rerpresentative James M. Mead, Democratic candidate for the senate seat left vacant by the death of Royal S. Copeland, defeated Edward F. Corsi, Republican.

The Associated Press tabulations from 8,623 districts gave: Wagner, 2,411,175; O'Brian, 1,936,133. In 8,603 districts the count stood: Mead, 2,342,715; Corsi, 1,930,605.

The lead in the gubernatorial contest see-sawed back and forth all last night, with Gov. Lehman's plurality rising as votes from the Tammany-controled districts in New York City were tabulated and Dewey forging ahead when additional returns came in from Republican strongholds upstate.

Closest Race Since 1928.

It was the closest and most hotly contested election since Franklin D. Roosevelt squeezed through for governor over the Republican candidate, Albert Ottinger, by 25,000 votes in 1928. A plurality of 75,000 is small when considered beside the 5,000,000 votes which were cast.

Although he lost, Prosecutor Dewey gave the Democratic machine in the home state of President Roosevelt and National Democratic Chairman James A. Farley a fight for its life. New York state in this election mirrored considerable change of sentiment from 1936 when Gov. Lehman was reëlected by more than a half million votes and President Roosevelt carried the state by more than a million.

Dewey carried on a vigorous campaign, striking at the alliance between politics and crime within the Democratic machines in New York City, Albany, and other cities in the state. Gov. Lehman, who himself has been regarded as far from a 100 per cent Roosevelt follower since he opposed the court packing plan, appealed for reëlection on his record of the last six years in office.

The most unexpected losses for the BULLETIN.

Oshkosh, Wis., Nov. 8.—(Special.)—With more than half of the precincts reported, including all Democratic strongholds and the three large cities in the 6th district, Republican congressional nominee Frank B. Keefe has a lead of more than 12,000 votes over the Democratic incumbent, Michael K. Reilly.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Philip La Follette, three times governor of Wisconsin and promoter of the National Progressive party, has been beaten for reëlection by Julius P. Heil, Republican, on the basis of incomplete returns tonight. State Senator Harry Bolens, Democratic nominee for governor, was a poor third.

Alexander Wiley, Republican nominee for the United States senate, was leading Lieut. Gov. Herman Ekern, Progressive, by almost two to one. Senator F. Ryan Duffy, New Deal incumbent, was running third.

Vote on Governor.

For governor, 1,611 precincts of 2,995 in the state gave: La Follette [Prog.], 143,580; Bolens [D.], 33,214; Heil [R.], 228,591.

For the senate, 1,605 precincts gave: 83,075; Wiley [R.], 185,383; John B. Chapple [Ind. Rep.], 1,997.
[Ind. Rep.], 1,997.

Heil, a Milwaukee manufacturer, promised Wisconsin a business instead of a political administration. Wiley is a successful small town lawyer who entered state politics two years ago, as Republican nominee for governor.

Expect Congressional Gains.

Wisconsin was expected to gain five to seven Republican seats in congress.

There have been lively fights in most of the ten congressional districts. In the 1st district Stephen Bolles, Republican, a Janesville publisher, is conceded a good chance. Frank B. Keefe, Oshkosh, in the 6th district and Joshua L. Johns, Appleton, in the 8th were picked as probable Republican winners.

In the 2d district Charles Hawks Jr. of Horicon opposed the Progressive incumbent, Harry Sauthoff, Madison. In the 3d Harry W. Griswold, a cattle breeder of West Salem was making a strong fight against Gardner Withrow of La Crosse.

Runs as Independent.

Ray Cannon, Democratic incumbent in the 4th Milwaukee district, who was beaten in the primary, ran as an independent to complicate the competition between Thaddeus Wasielewski, Democratic nominee, and John C. Schafer, Republican.

Lewis D. Thill, Milwaukee, young lawyer, in the 5th district was the Republican opponent of Thomas O'Malley, Democratic incumbent. Reid Murray, Waupaca, Republican nominee in the 7th, was conceded to have made a strong campaign against Gerald Boileau, Wausau, Progressive incumbent.

In the 9th, Merlin Hull, Black River Falls, Progressive incumbent, and in the 10th, B. J. Gehrmann, Mellen, were believed to be so strongly entrenched that only a miracle would prevent their reëlection.

G. O. P. Victor in Bay State Governor Race

Boston, Mass., Nov. 9.—[Wednesday]—(AP)—Massachusetts Republicans captured the governorship for the first time in eight years in yesterday's election.

They elected Leverett Saltonstall and crushed the comeback aspirations of James M. Curley, a Democratic veteran of four decades of the state's political warfare.

With 1,129 of the 1,794 precincts tabulated—including all of Democratic Boston—Saltonstall had 527,683 votes to 463,848 for Curley, and his lead was mounting steadily.

G. O. P. Sweeping State.

The avalanche of votes for Saltonstall, former speaker of the Massachusetts house, also gave heavy leads to all Republican nominees for minor state offices. These trends, if maintained, would give the G. O. P. complete control of the state's administrative departments for the first time in years.

Curley's defeat was his third political setback in two years.

In 1936 he voluntarily vacated the governor's chair to seek a seat in the U. S. senate, losing to Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. Last year he was defeated for the Boston mayoralty.

Backed by Roosevelt Son.

Political observers attributed Curley's latest defeat largely to his failure to win the public support of Gov. Charles F. Hurley, whom he defeated in the primary.

Curley had the blessings of James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and an indorsement from James Roosevelt, son and secretary of President Roosevelt.

Saltonstall, a Harvard graduate, had emphasized throughout the fight that public demand for honest government would insure his election.

Taft Defeats Bulkley in Ohio Returns

Columbus, O., Nov. 9 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Robert A. Taft, vigorous anti-New Deal Republican, ejected Robert J. Bulkley, administration supporter, from his United States senate seat in Tuesday's election.

With returns compiled early today from 5,708 precincts out of 8,599 in the state Taft held a lead which informed observers said Bulkley could not overcome. The vote was:

Taft, 766,109; Bulkley, 690,980. Bulkley's early lead, furnished in greater Cleveland, vanished before a swelling tide of votes from elsewhere in the state.

Bricker Leads for Governor.

In the race for governor John W. Bricker, Republican, held a commanding lead over Charles Sawyer, Democrat. The New Deal was an indirect issue in their fight.

The vote in 5,024 precincts was: Bricker, 681,082; Sawyer, 648,802.

Bulkley, whom the President has praised, said in his final campaign address that "no part of the New Deal has been seriously attacked." Taft told voters the "tremendous political danger in the control of millions of relief recipients must be removed." He termed relief "largely a local problem."

Sawyer Defeated Davey.

Sawyer defeated Gov. Martin L. Davey in the primary. Bricker is a former attorney general. Both previously had sought the office unsuccessfully, Sawyer in 1934 and Bricker in 1936.

GOV. HORNER IS ILL; CONFINED TO HOTEL ROOM

Gov. Henry Horner was taken suddenly ill last night in his suite at the Congress hotel. His friends expressed concern over the governor's health, but no statement was made concerning his condition. The governor received no visitors during the evening.

For several days Gov. Horner has suffered from a severe cold, which forced him to cancel several speeches during the closing days of the campaign.

The entire Cook county Democratic ticket with the exception of five county commissioners from the country towns was elected yesterday in a smashing victory reminiscent of the landslide of 1936.

The retention of the five places on the county board which they have held for years was no solace to the Republicans. They saw the Democratic triumph become so sweeping as the returns piled up that it apparently engulfed the three Republican judges in the Municipal court who were up for reëlection.

Deluge of Straight Ballots.

A deluge of straight Democratic ballots—crosses in the party circle—did the work for the victors. On incomplete returns it was estimated that there was an average of 185 straight Democratic votes per precinct in Chicago. The Republican average, it was indicated, did not exceed 100 per precinct.

The test offices on which police returns were telephoned were those of county judge, which had been the focus of the local battle, and sherif. Incomplete figures indicated that County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, Democrat, was reëlected by more than 330,000 votes—a figure surpassed

Earle Beaten; Penn Returns to G. O. P. Fold

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 9.—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—Pennsylvania swung back into the Republican column today.

As returns steadily pushed the Democratic slate farther behind, New Deal Gov. George H. Earle this morning conceded his defeat for the United States senate by Senator James J. Davis, veteran Republican.

Earle also sent a telegram to Judge Arthur H. James, Republican candidate for governor, conceding James' victory over Charles Alvin Jones, Democratic gubernatorial candidate. "My heartiest congratulations and deepest sympathy," he said in the telegram to Jones.

Significant G. O. P. Victory.

At 2:45 o'clock this morning returns from 6,889 of the 8,079 districts gave Davis 1,816,611 votes to 1,473,404 for Earle. In the race for governor 6,876 districts gaves James 1,776,267 votes to 1,526,765 for Jones.

Thus was marked up a victory significant to Republicans the nation over in their onslaught against the New Deal.

Pennsylvania was solidly Republican from 1895 until 1934, when Earle, a member of a wealthy Philadelphia family and a former Republican, led a Democratic state ticket to triumph.

Teams with Senator Guffey.

He teamed with United States Senator Joseph F. Guffey in that year's precedent-shattering success. Two years later, under the banner of President Roosevelt, the Democratic party swept to a still more convincing victory.

Democratic campaigners came down to the vote drive terminated yesterday holding "Democratic liberalism versus Republican reaction—the New Deal against the old"—as their chief issue.

Senator Davis and Judge Jones, assailing New Deal legislation, also hit at graft charges exchanged among Democrats themselves in last spring's Democratic primary.

The charges were made the subject of a special investigation, now in recess until after the election. Their presentation to a grand jury also was ordered, but legal tangles have delayed that move.

Stassen Leads Gov. Benson in Minnesota

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Harold E. Stassen, Republican, held a commanding lead over Gov. Elmer A. Benson, Farmer-Laborite seeking reëlection, and Thomas Gallagher, Democrat, in Minnesota returns tonight.

On the basis of 612 of the state's 3,740 precincts the vote was: Stassen, 153,475; Benson, 99,620; Gallagher, 16,093.

Governor Race High Point.

The gubernatorial race today was the high point of interest in the statewide election, including nine congressmen and state and minor offices.

Benson, only Farmer-Labor governor in the nation, claimed support from President Roosevelt. Gallagher also claimed New Deal support.

Benson charged Stassen with "sham liberalism, strike breaking, and stirring up prejudices." Stassen replied with accusations of "racketeering, boss rule, and maladministration."

Stassen Is Only 31.

Stassen, who is only 31 years old, is the son of Scandinavian-German parents. For the last eight years he has been county attorney for Dakota county, which includes Minnesota's largest packing center, South St Paul. His youth and convincing platform appearance have been leading factors in his popularity

Benson, elected governor two years ago, succeeded the late Floyd B. Olson at the Farmer-Labor helm following Olson's death in 1936.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Democrats made a sweep of their state ticket, from United States senator down, in yesterday's election, incomplete returns indicate.

Returns from about 60 per cent of Illinois' 8,315 precincts show Scott W. Lucas, Democrat, candidate for senator, leading by a large margin in Cook county. Richard Lyons, Republican, is leading down state, but by smaller pluralities. This was the great contest of the day. More than 3,000,000 voters trooped to the polls, a record for an off year election.

When 75 per cent of the Cook county precincts were in, Lucas was 217,000 votes ahead of Lyons in the county. When 45 per cent of downstate precincts were tabbed Lyons was 51,000 votes in front of Lucas downstate. That ratio indicates a Lucas plurality of 260,000 in Chicago. The computations indicate a Lyons plurality of 30,000 in the country towns and 117,000 downstate. The net result, provided the present rate is kept up, would make Lucas winner in the state by about 115,000 votes.

County Against State.

Returns from 3,300 precincts out of 4,377 in Cook county give Lucas 715,969; Lyons, 508,363.

In 1,757 downstate precincts out of 3,938 figures reported by the Associated Press give Lucas 271,110 and Lyons 323,401.

The actual vote cast in 5,057 of the state's 8,315 precincts follows:

	Downstate. 1,757 pcts.	Cook Co. 3,300 pcts.	Total.
Lucas	271,110	715,969	987,079
Lyons	323,401	508,363	831,764

Lyons issued the following statement at 1 o'clock this morning:

"Things look a little bad now, but we have consistently said that our majority would come from downstate. Most of the unreported precincts are outside of Cook county. We have based our claims for victory on a large vote and until this vote is counted we'll wait."

Advises President of Victory.

Two hours earlier Mayor Kelly, talking by telephone to President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y., said: "We will carry Illinois by 200,000 votes. We will carry Cook county by 300,000. We may lose downstate by 50,000, but Lucas is safe. I think all our congressmen are reëlected. We made it a Roosevelt fight."

Shortly before midnight Lucas issued the following statement:

"Reports from every section of Illinois indicate I have been successful in my race for the United States senate. To every one who has labored in this cause I express my heartfelt and sincere congratulations. I am happy in the thought that all through this campaign I have had the active, loyal, and generous support and counsel of Gov. Horner.

"I am likewise grateful to the leaders of the Democratic party in Cook county, as well as the leaders in every section of the state who have earnestly and enthusiastically given me their undivided support. Tonight the President of the United States called me to present his congratulations and

Fitzgerald Is Ahead in Race with Murphy

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Frank D. Fitzgerald [R.] built up a substantial lead over Frank Murphy [D.] tonight in Michigan's gubernatorial election.

Unofficial returns from 1,396 of the state's 3,553 precincts gave Fitzgerald 319,821 and Murphy 211,394. These figures included some of the Wayne county [Detroit] vote, which was expected to be heavily in Murphy's favor. The tabulation also included only a few scattered precincts from Genesee county [Flint], which has a big labor vote claimed by the Democrats.

Speculate on Detroit Vote.

Observers said that if former Gov. Fitzgerald maintained his present ratio outstate Gov. Murphy would need to carry Wayne county by 185,000 votes to be reëlected. In defeating Fitzgerald in 1936, Murphy carried Wayne county by 119,000 votes.

Fitzgerald, who, during the campaign assailed Murphy for his conciliatory policy during the 1937 Michigan sitdown strikes, was trailing Murphy in the industrial counties, but amassed a substantial lead in agricultural districts.

Genesee county [Flint], center of the General Motors strikes, had not reported.

Must Win City Votes.

In Kent county, returns including most of Grand Rapids, the state's second city, gave Murphy a slender lead.

Fitzgerald's hope of regaining the governor's office rested on his piling up an advantage outstate large enough to offset the lead which all sides conceded Murphy would command in Detroit.

Dickinson and Gillette Wage Close Contest

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 8.—(AP)—L. J Dickinson, Republican senatorial nominee and uncompromising foe of the New Deal, drew up almost even with Senator Guy M. Gillette, Democrat, in Iowa's senatorial battle tonight as returns piled up.

In a surprising spurt, the former senator was only a few thousand votes in arrears of Gillette on the basis of returns from 1,040 of the state's 2,447 precincts. The totals gave Gillette 159,413 to 154,123 for Dickinson.

George A. Wilson, Des Moines Republican, swept into an impressive lead over Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel on the basis of returns from 1,002 precincts. The tabulation gave Kraschel 143,069 and Wilson 162,912.

On the basis of early returns, Republicans threatened to recapture three seats from the Democrats in the Iowa delegation in congress. Congressmen Fred Bierman of Decorah and Vincent F. Harrington of Sioux City were trailing their Republican opponents by narrow margins.

Test for Wallace.

The contest between Gillette and Dickinson is expected to have an indirect bearing on a Wallace for President movement in the 1940 Democratic convention.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, whose home is in this state, espoused the Gillette cause in two recent Iowa political speeches. The senator, on the other hand, is a 100 per cent Wallace backer.

Dickinson Veteran Legislator.

Dickinson, 12 years in congress and 6 in the senate, has never wavered in his opposition to the New Deal.

Gillette won the Democratic senatorial nomination last spring despite the opposition of such New Dealers as WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins and James Roosevelt, son of the President. The senator was paired against President Roosevelt's court enlargement proposal.

REVOLT AGAINST ROOSEVELTISM SWEEPS NATION

Close Contests May Add to Victory.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

A notable series of Republican victories in the congressional and state elections yesterday recorded a popular verdict against the New Deal in every part of the country.

A wave of conservatism swept the nation engulfing Democratic senators and congressmen and Democratic, Progressive, and Farmer-Labor governors. As a portent of political events in the presidential election of 1940 the turning of the tide against thet New Deal was a sensational development.

The Republicans gained not less than 8, possibly as many as 10 seats in the senate and upwards of 60 seats in the house as well as wresting 11 governorships and several state legislatures from Democratic control.

Reaction Against New Deal.

The reaction against the New Deal permeated the farming regions and was manifested also in industrial centers where the labor vote failed to measure up to Democratic expectations.

The senate seats gained by the Republicans were in the following states:

Connecticut
Kansas
New Hampshire
Ohio
Oregon
South Dakota
Wisconsin
New Jersey

The incomplete returns indicated the possibility that the Republicans had gained senate seats also in Idaho, Iowa and Nevada. The outcome of the senatorship contest in Indiana also was in doubt this morning.

The governorships gained by the Republicans were in these states:

Colorado
Connecticut
Kansas
Massachusetts
Michigan
Minnesota
Ohio
Oregon
Pennsylvania
Rhode Island
Wisconsin

In addition, complete returns may show the capture of governorships by the Republicans in Idaho, Iowa and Nebraska.

On the other hand, the Republicans apparently have lost three governorships to the Democrats in Maryland, North Dakota, and California.

Lehman Wins in N. Y.

The only balm for the President in the election was provided by his own state, New York, and even there is was qualified by a number of circumstances. Democratic Gov. Herbert Lehman, whom the President induced to run again as the only man who could beat the Republican candidate, young District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, was reëlected. But he won by less than 75,000 votes, a striking indication of the degree to which the New Deal has slipped in popular favor in the President's own state.

In addition Gov. Lehman owed much of his strength to the tact that he is only a 50 per cent New Dealer, having been on the presidential blacklist for a year because he dealt a body blow to the scheme to pack the Supreme court.

Mr. Roosevelt also found satisfaction in the reëlection of Democratic Senator Robert F. Wagner, author of more New Deal legislation than any other legislator.

Finally Mr. Roosevelt succeeded at last in purging his party of a Democratic legislator who had flouted his will in congress. Congressman John J. O'Connor of New York, chairman of the rules committee of the house, was defeated.

As a result of proscription by the President, O'Connor failed of renomination by the Democrats but won the nomination of the Republican primary. His defeat yesterday by the Democratic candidate, James H. Fay, retires O'Connor from congress and records the only success scored by the President in the purge. All the others he undertook to defeat, including nine Democratic senators and numerous Democratic congressmen, survived the purge.

Murphy Defeated.

The President was hard hit by the defeat of Gov. Frank Murphy in Michigan, a 100 per cent New Dealer, whom Mr. Roosevelt went out of his way to defend on two occasions during the campaign. He was so solicitous for the success of Mr. Murphy that speculation arose as to the rôle in 1940 that the President might be planning for the Michigan governor. The latest returns indicated that while Murphy had carried Detroit he had been overwhelmed by the outstate plurality rolled up by his Republican adversary, former Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald.

Another personal upset for the President occurred in Pennsylvania, where the Democratic régime was swept out of office bag and baggage. Mr. Roosevelt had written a letter giving his blessing to Gov. George Earle, 100 per cent New Dealer, who was floundering in a welter of graft charges against his administration in his campaign to defeat Republican Senator James J. Davis. The Roosevelt letter availed Earle naught, if it did not further injure his chances of success.

Kansas Goes Republican.

Significant of the disillusionment of the farmers of faith in the Roosevelt program for boosting farm prices by curtailing production was the clean sweep the Republicans made of Kansas. Clyde M. Reed, Republican candidate for senator, easily defeated Democratic Senator George McGill, co-author of the 1938 farm act. The other co-author, Democratic Senator James Pope of Idaho, was defeated in the primaries.

A clear cut verdict against the New Deal was that delivered by Ohio in the election by smashing pluralities of Robert A. Taft, Republican candidate for senator, over Democratic Senator Robert J. Bulkley, whom the President had indorsed as a satisfactory yes man. The merits and demerits of the New Deal had been the subject of a series of six dignified debates between Taft and Bulkley and it was the popular impression that Taft got the better of the argument that contributed greatly to his success at the polls. The Republican sweep also carried John W. Bricker, Republican, into the governorship.

First Serious Reverse.

The losses sustained at the polls yesterday were the first reverses of consequence for the Democrats in eight years. Since the beginning of the depression until this election the Democratic party has scored a series of triumphs in an ever ascending scale, repeatedly receiving popular vindication at the polls and increasing its hold on the national and state governments.

In 1930 the Democrats wrested control of both houses of congress from the Republicans. In 1932 Mr. Roosevelt was borne into office on a Democratic landslide that also increased the Democratic majorities in the house and senate. Then in the mid-term elections of 1934, instead of losing seats in congress as the party in power generally does, the Democrats gained seats in both branches. Another landslide in 1936 reëlected Mr. Roosevelt and again increased the Democratic majorities in both house and senate.

New Deal Reaches Zenith.

As the President was inaugurated for the second time the New Deal was at the zenith of its career. He had overwhelmed all opposition. His popularity had been impressively attested. There was a semblance of prosperity for which he took credit, saying "we planned it that way and don't let any one tell you differently."

Within a month thereafter, however, the New Deal was in troubled waters. Mr. Roosevelt had submitted to congress his scheme to pack the Supreme court and its cold reception by a large number of Democrats in both houses foreshadowed the split of his party into conservative and radical factions. In the spring of 1937 there was no denying that the effect of the 1935-'36 pump priming had worn off and that the country was back in the trough of the depression.

In the summer occurred the defeat of the court packing bill, reflecting the country's revulsion against the undertaking to subject the judicial branch to the executive and recording the most devastating repudiation of a President by his own party in our history. In the spring of 1938 occurred the defeat in the house of the bill clothing the President with dictatorial power to reorganize the government, which again reflected popular fear of dictatorship and again left Mr. Roosevelt repudiated by his party.

Smarting from these reverses the President plunged into the 1938 elections seeking a popular vindication of his course that would react against his opponents and assure him control of the Democratic national convention of 1940 in which he is credited with the ambition to renominate himself for a third term or name his successor. He first addressed himself to the situation in his own party, undertaking to purge it of the Democratic candidates who had flouted his will on the court packing and reorganization bills and to obtain renomination of his unvarying supporters.

At first he proceeded covertly, not showing his hand in intervening in Democratic primaries but intrusting the job to Thomas G. [Tommy the Cork] Corcoran, Jimmy Roosevelt, Harry Hopkins and other members of what soon became known as the "elimination committee."

And at first he was successful on the positive side of getting faithful New Dealers renominated. When Senator Claude Pepper, 100 per cent New Dealer, won renomination in Florida over Congressman J. Mark Wilson, anti-New Dealer, Roosevelt stock went up and a lot of anti-Roosevelt legislators ran for cover, so much in fact that the Democratic opposition to the wage and hour bill began to melt and the measure was slated for passage.

First Rebuff in Iowa.

Outside the solid south, however, misfortune dogged the President. His "elimination committee" was badly worsted in the attempt to defeat Senator Guy M. Gillette in Iowa. It was that miscarriage of plans that caused a change of tactics. Up to that time Mr. Roosevelt had denied, often angrily, that he was interfering in the primaries to help or hurt Democratic candidates for nomination. The alibi of the "elimination committee" for the failure to "liquidate" Gillette was that the President had not openly opposed the senator. If he would come into the open, Mr. Roosevelt was told, he would not fail to defeat the recalcitrants and reward the faithful.

Makes Trip Across Country.

As he set forth in July on a journey across the country the President was supremely confident that he would win every contest in which he might take a hand. To be sure, he cautiously avoided those states in which defeat was staring him in the face, such as Indiana, where the McNutt-Townsend-Minton Democratic machine had just capitulated to Senator Frederick Van Nuys, one of the first senators to be proscribed for fighting the court packing bill.

In Kentucky he asked for the return of Senator Alben W. [Dear Alben] Barkley and with success. In Ohio he boosted the 100 per cent New Dealer, Senator Robert J. Bulkley, whom he referred to as "my old friend Bob." Bulkley won.

Mr. Roosevelt snubbed Senator Alva Adams in Colorado and Senator Pat McCarran in Nevada for their opposition to the court packing bill and other Roosevelt measures. Both were renominated. He blessed Senator William G. McAdoo in California and McAdoo was defeated. In Texas Representatives Maury Maverick, who introduced the court packing bill in the house, was beaten while all the members who opposed it were renominated. Also W. D. McFarlane, New Dealer, was defeated.

Three Senators Beat Purge.

Swinging home from his deep sea fishing, the President went hammer and tongs after Senators Walter F. George in Georgia, Ellison D. Smith in South Carolina, and Millard E. Tydings in Maryland, all of whom he classed as "yes-but" men. All were renominated.

When the primaries came to an end the purge was a 99 per cent flop. The President had failed to defeat any of the nine senators up for renomination who had disobeyed him.

With prestige impaired by the failure of the purge but fortified by the 5 billion dollar funds for relief, subsidies and pump priming the expenditure of which was beginning to show results in the improvement of business, the President entered upon the election canvass.

All the vast influence of the administration and all the resources of the greatest political machine ever put together were invoked to preserve, if not still further increase, the tremendous Democratic majorities in congress and thereby record another impressive popular vote of confidence in the New Deal.

LUCAS AND ALL DEMOCRATS WIN IN STATE RACES

Lyons Insists He's Still in Running.

I was deeply honored by his felicitations."

At 10 o'clock last night Gov. Horner announced that the early returns indicated the Democratic candidates had won both in Cook county and downstate. The governor spoke through his secretary, Arthur V. O'Brien, from his suite at the Congress hotel where he is ill with a cold.

The count of the ballots saw downstate balanced against Cook county, with the question of whether Lucas' plurality would outweigh Lyons' downstate.

Although leading in the total vote, the Democrats sustained a setback downstate. Two years ago President Roosevelt carried downstate Illinois by 160,648 and Gov. Horner by 92,528. Yesterday the Republicans, on the basis of the incomplete returns, carried downstate and set back the Horner machine. The Lyons downstate vote, the returns indicate, was rolled up in the northern counties, traditionally Republican, in areas in the corn belt, in rural regions in southern and central Illinois, and in the towns.

Vote for Treasurer.

A tabulation by the Associated Press of returns from 1,757 out of 3,938 precincts downstate shows Lyons leading in 60 of the 101 downstate counties, and Lucas leading in 33. In Sangamon county, seat of the statehouse and the Democratic state machine, in 88 precincts out of 155 Lyons has 15,403 votes; Lucas, 13,902. In Lake, his home county, Lyons also was leading. In northern counties he was ahead. Along the eastern edge of the state he was in front in Iroquois, Kankakee and Vermilion counties. In McLean county, heart of the corn belt, and in Livingston county the incomplete returns gave Lyons leads.

For congressmen at large, T. V. Smith and John C. Martin, Democrats, had a 127,000 to 70,000 lead from 576 Cook county precincts over Simon E Lantz and Stephen A. Day, Republicans. The first 782 downstate precincts gave the Republicans about 125,000 to 107,000 for the Democratic pair.

Tabulation for State.

For state treasurer, Louie E. Lewis, Democrat, got about 129,000 votes from 576 Cook county precincts to 72,000 for William R. McCauley, Republican. From 1,004 downstate precincts McCauley got a 173,000 to 149,000 lead over Lewis.

For state superintendent of public instruction, John A. Wieland, Democrat, was given about 129,000 in 576 Cook county precincts to 70,000 for Wiley B. Garvin, Republican. In 1,011 downstate precincts Garvin led Wieland, 170,000 to 146,000.

A similar tendency between Cook county and downstate was registered in the contest for trustees of the University of Illinois. Downstate 792 precincts gave Frank H. McKelvey, Frank M. White, and Albert I. Appleton, Republicans, about 107,000 votes each. Frank A. Jensen, Dr. Karl A. Meyer, and O. M. Karraker, Democrats, received 136,000 votes each. In Cook county 576 precincts gave the Democrats an average of 126,000 to 69,000 for the Republicans.

Downstate returns also gave a lead to the Republican clerk for candidate for clerk of the Illinois Supreme court, George E. Lambur Jr. In 985 downstate precincts he got 163,000 votes to 133,000 for his Democratic opponent, Adam F. Bloch. But in Cook county the first 576 precincts gave Bloch 128,000 to 71,000 for Lambur.

Heavier Voting Widespread.

Elgin reported the vote total in Kane would be almost as large as four years ago, the last off-year election. Republicans were claiming a good lead for their state ticket in Kane. Danville, Pontiac, Joliet, and Bloomington reported heavy voting.

At Champaign the vote was expected to be 1,000 over the 1934 total. La Salle reported a trend toward a record vote for the off-year contest. The vote was slightly above normal at Carbondale and heavy in Macon county. Spirited voting at Freeport was said to be largely the result of the fight over county offices.

In the coal fields of southern and central Illinois both parties made unusual efforts to roll out the vote. East St. Louis reported a large industrial vote for an off-year.

HOUSING PROJECT RESIDENTS TOLD TO 'VOTE RIGHT'

Attempts by Democratic precinct captains to coerce residents of the Julia Lathrop homes into voting the Democratic ticket were revealed yesterday by D. E. Mackelman, executive secretary of the Metropolitan Housing council. The apartments were built with federal money.

Mackelman said he had several telephone calls from residents of the homes who said they had been threatened with possible eviction if they "didn't 'vote right.'" Sherman Aldrich, general housing manager of the Chicago Housing authority, instructed the residents of all three federal housing projects that they could vote any way they pleased.

TRIBUNE TELEPHONE OPERATORS ANSWER 25,000 VOTE QUERIES

More than 25,000 telephone calls for election information were answered by TRIBUNE switchboard operators up to midnight last night, Miss Ann Garrow, chief operator, reported.

The calls started Monday. Questions on proper methods of marking ballots, and the time that polls opened and closed predominated until first returns on the count became available shortly before 6 p. m. yesterday.

As the night wore on, scores of inquiries were received on long distance lines. While the bulk of the interest was in the Illinois contests, hundreds of inquiries were received regarding the races in New York, Michigan, and Pennsylvania.

BARKLEY LEADS BY WIDE MARGIN IN SENATE RACE

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley and eight of the state's nine congressmen appeared assured of reëlection on the basis of incomplete returns tonight from today's voting.

Congressman A. J. May in the 7th district was the only incumbent trailing. With 155 of the 355 precincts in the district reported, May had 10,500 votes to 10,545 for his Republican opponent, Hillard H. Smith.

Senator Barkley was well ahead of his Republican rival, John P. Haswell of Hardinsburg. With 2,547 of the state's 4,324 precincts tabulated, Barkley had 200,630 votes to 112,642 for Haswell.

John M. Robison of Barbourville, the only Republican in the Kentucky congressional delegation, was leading his Democratic opponent, Bert Rowland, 11,528 to 5,905 in 185 of the district's 606 precincts.

Flees After Young Woman Drinks Poison in His Room

A young woman, about 25 years old, was in a serious condition early today in the Henrotin hospital after drinking poison in the room of Nolan H. Tepper at the Park-Dearborn hotel, 1260 North Dearborn street. Police were unable to learn anything about her. When they sought to question Tepper he could not be found. He had summoned a physician who took the young woman to the hospital.

REPENTANT THIEF HAILS G-MEN WITH A BIG HALLELUJAH

G-men usually are greeted at least with reserve—certainly never with enthusiasm—by those they are about to arrest. But the federal agents who went to 2258 Clybourn avenue yesterday were met with shouts of "Hallelujah! I've got religion. You're the answer to my prayers!"

It was Hobart Hale speaking. He is 40 years old and has a police record that dates to 1922. He is in custody just now on charges of stealing an automobile in St. Paul and driving across a state line. But he has become a crusader for the Salvation Army and is anxious to return to St. Paul and face the charges, Hale said. He will be arraigned tomorrow before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

JARECKI SWEEPS TO VICTORY WITH ALL HIS TICKET

only by the Democratic pluralities recorded in the Cook county phase of the Roosevelt landslide two years ago.

Telephone returns were received on only one other local office, that of sherif. In that contest, Congressman Thomas J. O'Brien, Democrat, was shown as the victor by a margin smaller than Jarecki's but still big enough to break records in previous off years. On the basis of incomplete returns O'Brien was believed to have won by 195,000 over the Republican nominee, Patrick Sheridan Smith.

Ehler Ahead in Suburbs.

Reports from 2,900 out of 3,648 precincts in Chicago and from 224 out of 729 precincts in the country towns—a total of 3,124 precincts out of 4,377 in Cook county—gave Judge Jarecki an actual lead of 283,852. The score stood 729,693 for Jarecki and 445,841 for the Republican, Theodore F. Ehler. In Chicago those precincts gave Judge Jarecki a lead of288,402. In the suburbs within the county former Judge Ehler had a lead of 4,550 in those precincts.

In the race for sherif the same precincts gave a total of 668,785 for O'Brien and 485,076 for Smith, making O'Brien's actual lead at that point 183,709. His lead in the city precincts was 195,752. The 224 country town precincts gave Smith a lead of 12,143.

Returns from other local fights were much more fragmentary. They were sufficient, however, to show that the Democrats had won for their eighteen county officers, including ten city members of the county board. They reëlected three incumbents on the sanitary district board, elected two new men to important county places already held by other Democrats and apparently elected their entire slate of twelve candidates for the Municipal court.

Democrats Boast of Victory.

Entire credit for the victory was claimed by the Cook county central committee which early in the evening began its celebration in its headquarters in the Hotel Morrison. Leaders of this organization, known as the Kelly-Nash machine, were gathered there for the returns and boasted that they had won the victory in the extraordinarily brief campaign period of only three weeks.

Few of the Horner leaders appeared for the jollification. James M. Slattery, chairman of the state commerce commission, and a few others were there, but Gov. Horner, who heads the Democratic state machine, remained at the Congress hotel because of a cold that laid him low a few days ago. State's Attorney Courtney, his principal ally, who has refused to associate himself directly with Mayor Kelly or County Chairman P. A. Nash, did not appear. He was not expected.

Chairman Nash came into the headquarters for the first time since he sent a letter to the county committee asking that Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th] be elected vice chairman and given charge of the campaign.

He admitted smilingly that he hadn't been out of town during the last two weeks while the Republican "Smash Nash-Kelly Boss Rule" fire was the hottest. The issue of bossism became a jest in the conversation that followed.

"How's my machine coming?" was his jovial greeting to Arvey.

"Congratulations," answered the acting chairman.

"On what?" asked Nash, "You smashed 'em."

"We made the smashing all even, didn't we?" interjected Mayor Kelly, and got a big laugh from everybody.

"We pulled 'em down," said Nash when the noise subsided.

Newspaper reporters asked him for a statement.

"I'm not going to make any statement of any kind," replied Nash. "The statement was made by the people."

Later Ald. Arvey made a statement emphasizing the contention the citizens of Cook county had reacted to the issue of bossism in a manner that surprised its Republican sponsors.

"Incomplete returns," it read, "indicate a sweeping victory which can be interpreted in only one way—a ringing voice of majority public confidence in the national administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Scott W. Lucas will be elected United States senator with a mandate from the people of Illinois to go down to Washington to uphold the hands of our gallant President. It is indicated further that the Cook county congressional districts with possibly one exception will send Democrats to Washington pledged to the support of the President and his humanitarian program for America.

"The result of the balloting, in addition to being a triumph for the Roosevelt program, is an unforgetable victory for sincerity, which was the guiding principle of the Democrat appeal to the electorate, a victory over the hypocrisy and sham of the opposition."

Record Off Year Vote.

Beautiful fall weather brought out a record breaking vote for an off year. Incomplete returns indicated that in Chicago 1,360,000 voters went to the polls and that in the suburbs the total vote was 220,000. These figures show a total for the county of 1,580,000. In 1934, the last off year election, the total vote in the county was 1,397,185. The total registration for the county now is 2,032,659.

New Dealer Loses Early Lead in Montana Race

Helena, Mont., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Representative Jerry J. O'Connell, New Deal Democrat, dropped behind his Republican opponent, Dr. J. Thorkelson, tonight after leading on the basis of first returns. Returns from 160 precincts of 413 in the 1st congressional district gave Thorkelson 22,947; O'Connell, 19,878. In the 2d district, Representative James F. O'Connor, another New Deal adherent, ran a close race with W. C. Husband, Republican.

NEW DEAL FOES PILE UP LEADS IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Anti-New Deal Republican candidates for congress and governor held various leads ranging up to nearly 9,000 when returns had been tabulated from approximately half of the state's 1,959 precincts in today's election.

Chan Gurney, Republican candidate for the United States senate, held a lead of about 7,000 over his Democratic opponent, former Gov. Tom Berry. The vote in 1,038 of the state's 1,959 precincts gave Gurney 71,747 and Berry 64,656.

In the governorship race, Harlan J. Bushfield, Republican, held an advantage of 8,026 over Oscar Fosheim, his Democratic opponent, on returns from 1,028 precincts. Bushfield's total was 69,584 and Fosheim's 61,558.

In the race for the short term in the senate, Gladys Pyle, Republican, former secretary of state, polled 60,152 votes to 43,594 for J. T. McCullen Sr., Democrat, with 916 precincts reported.

2 Steady Customers Rob Trolley; Land in Jail

Stanley J. Heinrich, 4753 South Marshfield avenue, a street car conductor, told police last night that the two passengers who robbed him of $10 often boarded his car near Emerald avenue and 47th street. One of the robbers, he said, was a hunchback. The police searched the neighborhood and arrested a hunchback, Frank Irwin, 4638 Wallace street, and his companion, George Claffy, 620 West 47th street. Henrich identified both.

DEMOCRATS WIPE REPUBLICANS OFF MUNICIPAL BENCH

Take Commanding Leads for All Places.

The entire Democratic slate for associate judges of the Municipal court appeared to have been elected by a wide margin yesterday on the basis of scattered returns.

With nearly a fourth of the 3,648 precincts reported on the judges' baby ballot, the Democratic candidates were leading by majorities ranging between 3 to 2 and 2 to 1. Indications were that the Republican candidates had been swamped by a wave of straight Democratic ballots.

The indicated vote sweeps from the Municipal bench its only three Republican judges—Samuel H. Trude, Edward B. Casey and Samuel Heller. Even these veteran campaigners who withstood the Democratic landslide in 1932, were running about three to one behind the lowest Democratic candidate.

Casey Workers Won't Give Up.

Their elimination would give the Democrats complete control of the Municipal court. At Republican headquarters Casey workers, however, refused to concede the defeat of their candidate. They pointed out that in 1932 early returns indicated a similar overwhelming Democratic victory, but the final count found their man among the twelve winners.

City News bureau returns from 850 precincts of the 3,648 in Chicago at midnight gave the following tabulation, with sitting judges designated by an asterisk [*]:

Democratic.	Republicans.
*Gutknecht, 212,666	Haas, 117,796
*Rooney, 198,072	*Trude, 113,388
*Holland, 192,610	Fisher, 108,758

Donoghue, 184,208	Lyle, 102,863
Kula, 184,107	Quinn, 99,765

4 Democrats Recommended.

Of the Democratic ticket, only four judges—Rooney, Hayes, Smith, and Gutknecht — were recommended by the members of the Chicago Bar association in the poll held last month. Eight Republicans — Haas, Casey, Heller, Fisher, Hamlin, Morgan, Hayes, and Trude—were recommended.

The bar association's poll failed to recommend three of the sitting Democrats—McGarry, Holland, and Bonelli.

DRY GAINS SEEN AS 31 PRECINCTS VOTE ON LIQUOR

Several new precincts and fractions of precincts joined the roll of dry Chicago communities yesterday when a majority of their residents voted to prohibit beer and liquor sale. This was indicated by returns which were not expected to be complete until later today.

Local option referenda were held in thirteen of the city's fifty wards. Voting on the wet-dry question was held in thirty-one precincts as they existed in 1932. [The state liquor law specifies that the precinct boundaries of that year shall be followed.] The actual number of precincts affected is considerably larger because of boundary relocations in recent years.

The wards and the 1932 precincts that voted on prohibiting liquor and beer trafic were: 3d ward, precincts 10, 22 and 54; 4th ward, precinct 26; 5th ward, precincts 52, 53, 55 and 60; 6th ward, precincts 27, 28, 30, 44, 47 49 and 50; 7th ward, precincts 1 and 80; 8th ward, precinct 64; 17th ward, precincts 38, 41 and 45; 19th ward, precinct 46; 27th ward, precinct 4; 33d ward, precinct 21; 37th ward, precincts 13, 29, 35 and 38. 41st ward, precinct 19; and 48th ward, precincts 36 and 45.

Before yesterday 107 of the 3,648 Chicago precincts of the 1932 setup had voted to ban the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Watertown's Oldest Voter, 108, Ballots from Her Bed

Watertown, S. D., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Mrs. Sylvia Jones, almost 108 years old, was one of the oldest voters in today's election. A cold kept her in bed, but she was able to mark her ballot, aided by a granddaughter, Mrs. Mamie Potvin. Mrs. Jones said she voted a straight Democratic ticket.

WAITING UNTIL HE'S SURE, LUCAS SMILES THANKS

Senator-Elect Jubilant in a Quiet Way.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

A restrained and cautious enthusiasm, covering a deep felt happiness, characterized the victory scene in the headquarters of Senator-elect Scott W. Lucas in the Congress hotel last night. Lucas had motored up from his home in Havana during the evening and heard the returns in rooms close to the sick bed of Gov. Horner.

It was not until 11:45 o'clock that Lucas came to the conclusion that it was safe to make a statement to the public. In the meantime he had received the congratulations of President Roosevelt and Gov. Horner had expressed his happiness over the result. Mayor Kelly was also in the room, and said in presenting Mr. Lucas to the radio listeners:

"It is a distinct honor to introduce a man who represents real Americanism in every shape and form, a man who will represent the people—all of the people."

Gives Thanks to Leaders.

The senator-elect in turn paid his compliments to the governor and the leaders of the Chicago Democratic organization.

"Reports coming in from every section of Illinois indicate that I have been successful in my race for the United States senate," Lucas said. "To every one who labored in this cause I express my heartfelt and sincere congratulations. I am happy in the thought that all through this campaign I have had the active, loyal and generous support of Gov. Horner. I am likewise grateful to the great leaders of the Democratic party in Cook county as well as the leaders in every section of the state, who have earnestly and enthusiastically given me their undivided support.

"Tonight the President of the United States called me to present his congratulations, and I was deeply honored."

Confident of Victory Early.

James M. Slattery, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, had accepted the victory as assured an hour earlier. It was due, he said, to the devoted leadership of President Roosevelt and Gov. Horner. In electing Lucas, he said, the people had chosen a man of exemplary character and unusual fitness, one who would serve them well.

Congressman Lucas won the senatorial nomination in the April primaries over Michael L. Igoe. In 1932, when Igoe ran for governor, Lucas made the race for the senatorial nomination. He was defeated by Senator William H. Dieterich, who had the Horner support. The Chicago organization was against Lucas then and he fought it. He fought it also in the primaries.

But all these things were buried last night in the joy of victory. There was little hilarity in the crowd that came to congratulate Lucas, probably because of the governor's condition.

Senator Elect Is 46.

Lucas is 46 years old, a man of fine presence and poise. He was born in Cass county, Illinois. He was graduated from Virginia High school and in 1914 was graduated from the law school of the Illinois Wesleyan university at Bloomington. He started practicing law in Havana, Ill., 23 years ago. In 1920 he was elected state's attorney, was reëlected in 1925, and resigned to become the department commander of the American Legion in that year.

In the world war Lucas rose from a private to second lieutenant. He served four years in the reserve corps. He organized the Legion post in Havana. He was assistant judge advocate of the corn belt district and chairman of the Legion's national legislative committee. In 1927 he was appointed national judge advocate.

When Gov. Horner was elected he named Lucas as chairman of the state tax commission. Lucas ran for congress in the 20th district when Henry T. Rainey died and was reëlected in 1936. In the house he was a member of the farm bloc and fought for mandatory crop loans in the farm bill. At the height of the Supreme court packing fight he condemned the measure as dictatorial.

NYE TAKES EARLY LEAD IN DAKOTA RACE FOR SENATE

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 8.—(AP)—United States Senator Gerald P. Nye, Republican, took an early lead in first returns in North Dakota tonight in his race for reëlection over Gov. William Langer, Independent, and J. J. Nygaard, Democrat.

Returns from 405 of the state's 2,260 precincts gave: Nye [R.], 35,495; Langer [Ind.], 22,744; Nygaard [D.], 4,303.

Nye defeated Langer in the Republican primaries for the nomination for senator, and Langer then entered the race in the Independent column.

John Moses, Democrat, held a wide lead over John N. Hagan, Republican, in the fight for the governor's chair being vacated by Langer. Returns from 423 of the state's 2,260 precincts gave Moses [D.], 32,873; Hagan [R.], 22,803.

SITDOWN STRIKE IN KENTUCKY TIES UP BALLOT COUNT

Bedford, Ky., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Trimble county's vote counting in eleven precincts was blocked tonight by a sitdown strike over tabulators' pay. The tabulators refused to work for 25 cents an hour, the rate recently set by the fiscal court in an economy move reducing the pay from a flat $2.50 for the job. Election commissioners refused to unlock the ballot boxes, claiming the fiscal court failed to notify them of the pay cut.

G. O. P. BANNERS WAVE OVER FIVE NEARBY COUNTIES

Democrat Office Holders Ousted with Votes.

Fairly complete returns early today indicated that full Republican slates had been voted in by the five Illinois counties adjoining Cook county. Four of them now have one or more Democrats in office.

Will county apparently had made a clean sweep of the Democratic administration which has been in power since 1932. Observers said that it was possible one Democrat might slip in. He is Henry Koerner, candidate for county clerk. However, with 44 of the county's 98 precincts counted, he was trailing Joseph H. Hartley, Republican, 8,231 to 9,756.

For Will county sherif, Joseph J. O'Neill, Republican, led Emmett McGuire, 11,456 to 8,141. For probate judge, Fred R. Adams was ahead of the Democrat, William E. Austin, 9,856 to 8,359. The other Republican nominees had large leads. They are James C. Bell for county treasurer, Glen L. Cowing for county judge, Donald C. Lang for probate clerk and Louis F. Bottino for school superintendent.

Du Page Solid for G. O. P.

Du Page county returned a complete Republican ticket. With 55 of 86 precincts tabulated, Win G. Knoch was leading Crescy E. Woehrel for county judge, 18,697 to 6,385. Elmer Hoffman's margin over Hugo Carlson for sherif was 15,799 to 8,624. Arthur Hellyer, Democrat who now holds the office of county treasurer, was defeated for probate judge. He received 9,322 votes and his Republican rival, Edgar F. Thoma, 14,029 in the 55 precincts.

The other Republican nominees in Du Page county were Walter Youngberg for county treasurer, Clarence V. Wageman for county clerk, Bernard M. Long for probate clerk, and Lewis V. Morgan for school superintendent.

Eighty-one of 95 precincts in Lake county gave Thomas E. Kennedy, Republican, 21,462 votes for sherif. His Democratic opponent, Bart Tyrrell, received 17,018. Lake county now has one Democratic office holder, County Clerk Russ Alford. He was defeated for reëlection, 22,002 by 16,552, by Jay B. Morse on the incomplete returns.

Other Republicans sure of election were Garfield R. Leaf for county treasurer, Perry L. Persons for county judge, Martin C. Decker for probate judge, Allen J. Nelson for probate clerk, and W. C. Petty for school superintendent.

Kane Heavily Republican.

Kane county, which elected Democrats as sherif and county treasurer in 1934, swept in the whole Republican slate by heavy majorities. Marcus Damisch led Oscar Augie Olson for sherif, 18,797 to 11,539 in 84 precincts, and County Judge Olney C. Allen led Harold L. Beamish, 21,346 to 8,373.

Other Kane county winners were: Louis Rockwell, county treasurer; Harry C. Daniels, probate judge; Charles Lowry, county clerk; Bert D. Galbraith, probate clerk; E. Earl McCoy, school superintendent, and L. Victor Peterson, coroner.

McHenry county followed tradition and elected Republicans by majorities of better than 2 to 1. Lester Edinger, for sherif, led the Democrat, George J. Lazansky, 11,167 to 5,285. For county treasurer the margin of C. Frank Daly over William W. Desmond was almost as great. Henry C. Cowlin, Republican, was unopposed for county judge.

KENNA PRECINCT SETS RECORD FOR STRAIGHT VOTES

A 1938 record for consistent voting was established last night in the returns from the 20th precinct of the 1st ward. Michael [Hinky Dink] Kenna is Democratic ward committeeman and boss of that bailiwick.

More than half the candidates on the Democratic ticket received a majority of exactly 218 votes in the ward. The most shining mark of the whole tally, however, was on the separate ballot for judges of the Municipal court. Each of the twelve Democratic nominees received 239 votes. Each of the twelve Republicans got 25.

The precinct was once the heart of Chicago's red light district. Its boundaries are Cermak road and 26th street on the north and south, Wentworth avenue on the west, and State and Dearborn streets on the east.

DOWNSTATE VOTE GAINS CONGRESS SEATS FOR G. O. P.

Keep 6 Places; May Take 7 from Democrats.

BY HAROLD SMITH.

Sweeping congressional gains by the Republicans downstate were suggested by early returns from yesterday's election. The fragmentary figures indicated that the G. O. P. not only had retained its six congress seats, but also stood an excellent chance of taking seven others.

This would give the Republicans thirteen of the state's twenty-five district congressional seats, the first time the G. O. P. has had a majority since 1930. It is also the first election since 1928 in which the Republicans have shown a congressional gain. The present Illinois party division in congress is six Republicans and nineteen Democrats.

The districts that apparently remained in G. O. P. possession are the 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 16th, and 17th.

In the 18th, the Republican nominee, County Judge Jessie Sumner of Iroquois county, took an early lead of nearly 2 to 1 over the Democratic congressman, James A. Meeks.

As the tally progressed, Republicans led by narrow margins in the 14th, 15th, 19th, and 21st, all of which are now held by the Democrats.

Cook County Returns.

The picture in Cook county apparently remains unchanged so far as the national house of representatives is concerned. Here the Democrats still hold nine districts, with the Republicans in possession of only one—the 10th.

Partial returns for the ten districts in Cook county follow:

2d district [574 precincts out of 697]—Raymond S. McKeough [D.], incumbent, 107,579; Noble W. Lee [R.], 88,148; Dr. LeRoy Bernard [Prohib.], 1,128.

3d district—[490 precincts out of 625]—Edward A. Kelly [D.], incumbent, 101,250; Goodwin L. Dosland [R.], 75,725.

4th district [170 precincts out of 200]—Harry P. Beam [D.], incumbent, 52,642; Dominic M. Janec Jr. [R.], 16,510.

5th district [90 precincts out of 109]—Adolph J. Sabath [D.], incumbent, 26,531; Max Price [R], 8,708.

6th district [431 precincts out of 733]—A. F. Maciejewski [D.], 112,071; Robert Ishan Randolph [R.], 52,420, and Michael J. Creighton [Ind.], 746.

7th district [788 precincts out of 956]—Leonard W. Schuetz [D.], incumbent, 160,527; James Moreland [R.], 130,958.

8th district [95 precincts out of 111]—Leo Kocialkowski [D.], incumbent, 27,301; Mrs. Rena E. Pikiel [R.], 8,335.

9th district [204 precincts out of 229]—Congressman James McAndrews [D.], incumbent, 40,785; Charles S. Dewey [R.], 36,630.

How It's Going Downstate.

Here is the lineup for the fourteen downstate districts as shown by the incomplete tally:

Eleventh, or Joliet-Elgin district—Chauncey W. Reed of West Chicago, a consistent G. O. P. critic of the Roosevelt régime, snowed under his Democratic rival, Attorney William J. Bossingham of Joliet, a newcomer to politics. Reed is finishing his second term.

Twelfth, or Rockford-La Salle district—Congressman N. M. Mason, former state senator, held the fort for the G. O. P. for the second consecutive term. As the count progressed he was pursued closely by Edward C. Hunter of Rockford, one of the strongest Democrats who ever tried to break the anti-Democratic tradition of the district.

Thirteenth, or Freeport district—This is the only district in the state that has always remained Republican since the present districts were carved out in 1901. Leo E. Allen was apparently reëlected to his third term, although his Democratic opponent, Theodore A. Secker of Freeport, cut into his 1936 lead of 15,000 over David L. Trunck.

Johnson Leading Thompson.

Fourteenth or Rock Island district—Anton J. Johnson, Macomb attorney, surprised the prophets by taking a lead over the Democratic congressman, Chester Thompson, that widened as new precincts reported.

Fifteenth, or Galesburg district—R. B. Chiperfield, Canton Republican who carried the fight into Adams county, home territory of the Democratic Congressman Lewis L. Boyer, led by a small margin as returns trickled in.

Sixteenth, or Peoria district—The excellent record made by Congressman Everett M. Dirksen during his three congress terms gave him victory over the Democrat, James C. Dillion of Peoria.

Seventeenth or Bloomington district—Leslie C. Arends, G. O. P. incumbent now rounding out his second term, showed his customary vote getting strength against the less prominent Thomas V. Watson, Bloomington Democrat.

Jessie Sumner Forges Ahead.

Eighteenth or Danville district—County Judge Jessie Sumner of Iroquois county apparently has become the first woman to sit in an Illinois congress seat since Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms retired to run unsuccessfully for the senate against James Hamilton Lewis. First returns put her in the lead over Congressman James A. Meeks, Democrat who is finishing his third term.

Nineteenth or Champaign district—Rural dissatisfaction in this district, the heart of the corn belt, was translated into a margin for the Republican, William H. Wheat, banker and farmer from Rantoul, that threatened to retire the Democratic incumbent, Hugh M. Rigney.

Twentieth or Jacksonville district—This is the late Democratic Speaker Henry T. Rainey's district, from which Scott W. Lucas is retiring after two terms to run for United States senator. The heavy farm vote for the G. O. P. entry, Stuart Pierson of Carrollton, former director of the state department of agriculture, was not enough, it seemed, to repulse the Democrat, County Judge James M. Barnes of Jacksonville.

Neck and Neck in the 21st.

Twenty-first or Springfield district—It was a neck and neck race between the G. O. P. nominee, Frank M. Ramey of Hillsboro and Congressman Frank W. Fries, whose indorsement by the C. I. O. got him in trouble with the Progressive Mine Workers' union.

Twenty-second or East St. Louis district—Edwin M. Schaefer, the Democratic congressman, led in the early count by a slim plurality that the Republican nominee, Jesse R. Brown, continually threatened to dissipate. Brown had tried twice before to unseat Schaefer.

G. O. P. Has Hopes in 23d.

Twenty-third or Salem district—The first precincts to report turned in such narrow margins for Congressman Laurence F. Arnold, the Democrat, that there was ground for predictions that he might be nosed out by his G. O. P. foe, O. A. James of Salem.

Twenty-fourth or Harrisburg district—The Democratic incumbent, Claude V. Parsons, led in the first straggling reports, but his margin was so small that a few heavy G. O. P. districts could swing the tide in favor of the Republican, R. R. Randolph of Harrisburg.

Twenty-fifth or Cairo district—There was ample evidence that the fight between R. G. Crisenberry, Murphysboro Republican, and Congressman Kent E. Keller, who claimed major credit for federal lavishness in Williamson county and other parts of the district, might not be decided until all the votes were in. Democratic Floor Leader Sam Rayburn of Texas was imported to stump for Keller.

PARTY LEADERS AND CANDIDATES AT POLLS EARLY

Democratic and Republican candidates and leaders of their parties went to the polls yesterday to cast their ballots.

Richard J. Lyons, G. O. P. senate nominee, and Mrs. Lyons voted in the Old Town hall at Libertyville at 9 o'clock. Scott W. Lucas, the Democratic nominee, motored from Springfield to his home town of Havana to cast his ballot with Mrs. Lucas. Gov. Horner voted at 1320 Madison parkway in the morning. Mayor Kelly and Mrs. Kelly voted at 1035 East 47th street.

DELAWARE G. O. P. FORGES AHEAD IN ALL STATE RACES

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Returns from nearly half of Delaware's precincts tonight gave substantial leads to the Republican candidates in all state-wide fights.

William F. Allen, Democrat and lone United States representative from Delaware, trailed his Republican opponent, George S. Williams, by more than 5,000 votes.

Returns from 135 of the state's 233 districts gave: Allen, 19,021; Williams, 24,571.

PENSION SCHEME FOR CALIFORNIA LACKS SUPPORT

Los Angeles Vote Gives Democrats Lead.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Returns from Los Angeles county, which contains nearly one-half of California's voters, tonight indicated that Culbert Olson, Democrat, had defeated Frank F. Merriam, incumbent Republican, for the governorship and that Democratic Sheridan Downey had won the United States senatorship from Philip Bancroft, his G. O. P. opponent.

The $30-every-Thursday plan was losing in the southern section of the state with indications that the statewide vote would definitly defeat the initiative proposal which would grant a pension of $30 a week in warrants to unemployed persons over 50. Southern California had the strongest "ham 'n' egg" preëlection support.

Two other key propositions, one regulating picketing and the other a single tax measure, were apparently defeated.

Overcome Lead in North.

While Merriam and Bancroft were enjoying slight leads in the northern part of the state, their advantages there probably will not overcome the pluralities given Olson and Downey by Los Angeles county voters.

Returns from 4,742 precincts of 12,472 gave Downey 228,716 and Bancroft 180,960. In the governor's race Olson led his Republican rival, Gov. Frank F. Merriam, 271,911 to 211,510.

In the 2,795 precincts the pension plan gathered 118,066 affirmative to 136,903 negative votes. An initiative measure to limit picketing and otherwise regulate the activities of unions was lagging. In 2,887 precincts it had 102,257 yes and 158,290 no votes. Los Angeles, which a few months ago adopted a city ordinance similar to the initiative measure, voted heavily against the state proposition.

Congressionl Races.

Democrats were trailing in at least three congressional contests on the basis of early returns. Incumbents John Tolan, John McGrath, and Harry R. Sheppard were trailing their Republican opponents, Charles Snook, John Anderson, and C. T. Johnson, respectively.

Frank Havenner, Democratic incumbent, was apparently reëlected.

Election had previously been automatically assured for seven congressmen by virtue of their having been nominated on both party tickets at the August primaries. These were Representatives Lea and Buck for the Democrats and Englebright, Welch, Carter, Gearhart, and Leland Ford for the Republicans.

Other Western States.

In Idaho C. A. Bottolfsen, Republican candidate for governor, led his Democratic opponent, C. Ben Ross, by 13,008 votes to 9,948 in returns from 111 precincts out of 809. According to Associated Press figures the senatorial race was led by D. Worth Clark, Democrat, who received 12,206 votes to 10,531 for Donald A. Callahan, Republican.

A Republican also led for governor of Colorado. Ralph L. Carr, G. O. P. candidate, polled 65,335 votes, while Gov. Teller Ammons, Democrat, was given 53,011 in 471 precincts out of 1,590. Alva B. Adams, Democrat, led by a vote of 69,994 to 53,070 for Archibald A. Lee, Republican, in their quest of a senate seat.

Colorado voters, on the basis of scattered but indicative returns, apparently had rejected a proposal to repeal the state's $45 a month old age pension agreement.

Republican Ahead in Wyoming.

Early returns from Wyoming showed Nels H. Smith, Republican candidate for governor, leading his Democratic opponent, Leslie A. Miller, incumbent, by a vote of 2,227 to 1,064 in reports from 63 precincts out of 686. Representative Paul R. Greever was trailing Frank H. Horton, Republican, 1,588 to 2,405 in 67 precincts.

Utah's senatorial race was led by Senator Elbert D. Thomas, Democrat, He received 24,279 votes, while his Republican opponent, Franklin S. Harris, was given 19,147 in returns from 174 precincts of 798 in the state.

In Nevada Senator Patrick A. McCarran, Democrat, was ahead of Tasker L. Oddie, Republican, by 4,914 votes to 3,770 in the balloting in incomplete returns from all counties. A Democrat, E. P. Carville, also led in the gubernatorial contest, 5,137 to 3,496 for John A. Fulton, Republican.

New Mexico Race Close.

First returns from New Mexico showed John E. Miles, Democratic nominee for governor, holding a lead over Albert K. Mitchell, Republican. Reports from 129 precincts out of 912 gave Miles 17,666 votes and Mitchell 14,463. Representative J. J. Dempsey apparently was reëlected.

Arizona's Senator Carl Hayden, Democrat, was leading for reëlection. Returns from three out of 433 precincts gave him 507 votes, and Burt H Clingan, Republican, 143. Eighty precincts, some incomplete, gave R. T. Jones, Democratic nominee for governor, 16,933 votes and Jerrie W. Lee, Republican, 8,671.

Senator Homer T. Bone, Washington state's Democratic senator, was ahead of Ewing D. Colvin, Republican, 95,594 to 52,484 in returns from 824 precincts out of 2,962.

Veteran Re-elected

James J. Davis, Republican senator from Pennsylvania, whose reëlection was conceded.

2 REPUBLICANS WIN TENNESSEE CONGRESS SEATS

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Democratic nominees tonight held a lead that their Republican opponents could not hope to overcome, although two Republicans appeared to be winners in congressional races.

The Republican nominees for governor and United States senator conceded their defeat shortly before midnight.

Prentice Cooper, Democratic nominee for governor, had 108,743 votes to Howard Baker's 50,509.

Tom Stewart [D.] was leading Harley Fowler by 51,000 for United States senator. In the race for utility commissioner W. D. Hudson [D.] had 63,626 to John A. Pritchett's 23,025.

Apparent winners in the congressional races were B. Carroll Reece and J. Will Taylor, Republicans, and S. D. McReynolds, Albert Gore, Joseph W. Byrns Jr., Clarence W. Turner, Jere Cooper, and Walter Chandler, Democrats.

NEBRASKA G. O. P. NOMINEE LEADS FOR GOVERNOR

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Charles J. Warner, Republican gubernatorial nominee who campaigned on a platform calling for a $30 monthly old age pension, maintained a narrow lead tonight over R. L. Cochran, Democratic incumbent seeking a third term. Charles W. Bryan, independent, brother of the great commoner, trailed a poor third.

Returns from 743 of 2,033 precincts gave Warner 64,513; Cochran 64,196, and Bryan 23,543.

Ohio Republican

John W. Bricker, Republican candidate for governor of Ohio, held a comfortable lead over Charles Sawyer, Democrat.

G. O. P. SWEEPS NEW HAMPSHIRE AND VERMONT

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Resurgent Republican forces apparently scored a clean sweep in New Hampshire tonight, unseating New Deal Senator Fred H. Brown in favor of United States Representative Charles W. Tobey and reëlecting Republican Governor Francis P. Murphy.

With 260 of the 295 precincts tabulated, Tobey had piled up 76,205 votes against Brown's 62,936. Governor Murphy had 79,321 votes to Sullivan's 60,908. Precincts still to be countered normally were Republican.

G. O. P. forces likewise appeared to have retained one congressional seat and ousted a Democratic incumbent from the other. In the first district, Arthur B. Jenks, Republican, ran well ahead of United States Representative Alphonse Roy, who sat through the final six days of the last congress after a congressional investigation decided Jenks held the seat illegally. Foster Stearns, son of Frank Stearns, advisor of the late President Coolidge, had an even more more commanding lead over his Democratic opponent, Alvin A. Lucier, former mayor of Nashua.

Republican candidates likewise were leading in Vermont. Returns from 222 of that state's 246 towns and cities gave Gov. George D. Aiken 63,198 votes for reëlection. His opponent, Fred C. Martin, Democrat, polled 31,133. The same number of towns gave Republican Senator Ernest W. Gibson, candidate for reëlection, 62,247 votes and his opponent, John McGrath, Democrat, 32,034.

G. O. P. NOMINEES OUT IN FRONT IN KANSAS VOTE

Former Gov. Reed Leads Senator McGill.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Republican nominees for United States senator and governor led their incumbent Democratic opponents tonight in returns from today's election in Kansas.

Unofficial returns from 1,168 precincts out of 2,707 in the state showed Clyde M. Reed, Republican Liberal and former governor, leading Senator George McGill, Democrat. The vote was: Reed, 161,007; McGill, 123,946.

Payne H. Ratner, 42 years old, state senator, was leading Gov. Walter A. Huxman, Democrat, for governor. The vote: Ratner, 152,402; Huxman, 128,817.

Won by 22,000 in '36.

Gov. Huxman was elected by a 22,000 vote margin over the late Will G. West, Republican, in the 1936 landslide that put Kansas in the Roosevelt column against its native son, Alf M. Landon.

Kansas never has reëlected a Democratic governor.

G. O. P. Leads for Congress.

Six of the state's seven Republican nominees for congress were leading in their respective districts. In the 5th district John M. Houston, Democratic incumbent, was in a close race with Stanley Taylor, Republican.

In the 3d, Democratic incumbent Edward W. Patterson was trailing Thomas D. Winter, Republican.

BLANK BALLOTS DOOM ATTEMPT AT BANK REFORM

64 Pct. of Voters Pass Up Question at Polls.

Early scattered returns last evening indicated that the proposed banking amendment to the Illinois constitution was not receiving enough votes to pass.

Of those who marked the ballot on the bank proposition, 71 per cent favored the amendment. However, the election clerks were finding 64 per cent of the ballots without a mark of any kind on the proposition. In effect, these blanks were negatives, because for a constitutional amendment to pass it must receive a majority of the ballots cast, not simply a majority of the votes on the proposition.

Only 11 per cent of all ballots were marked against the proposed change. Yet the negatives, it appeared, would prevail. The affirmatives had only a little better than half of the required majority of all ballots.

In the first reports for 1,252 precincts 106,722 votes were for and 44,666 were against the amendment. Approximately 423,100 ballots were cast in these precincts. So to carry, the proposal would have needed 211,551 favorable votes.

Fail to Understand Issue.

"Although the proposal was advertised in newspapers, and by radio, billboards, and direct mail," said Floyd E. Thompson, "many voters entered the booths without understanding the issue. Rather than vote on the proposition ignorantly, they didn't vote on it at all. In not voting on it at all, it was as if they had voted against it." Thompson, former justice of the Illinois Supreme court, was chairman of a committee which campaigned for adoption of the proposition.

The proposed change in the banking laws would remove the double liability for stockholders of state banks. The double liability no longer applies against stockholders of national banks. The change would also authorize the legislature to make future amendments to banking regulations without a constitutional amendment, but by means of a two-thirds majority vote of both houses.

Printed on Main Ballot.

Yesterday's election was the first time that a constitutional proposition was printed on the main ballot carrying the names of the party candidates. This position on the ballot was authorized by a 1929 act of legislature: Theretofore, propositions were on separate ballots. Proponents of other propositions at previous elections had attributed the failure of their issues to the separation of the ballots.

The constitution of Illinois was last amended in 1908, when the electorate approved a waterway proposition. Since then a majority of the general elections have included a constitutional proposition. Gateway amendments were defeated in 1924 and 1932. Revenue amendments failed to pass in 1916, 1926, and 1930. Constitutional convention proposals were defeated in 1918, 1922, and 1934.

FOUR DEMOCRATS WIN IN VIRGINIA, BUT ONE RACE IS BY CLOSE VOTE

Richmond, Va., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Democratic nominees won in the four contested races for the United States house of representatives in the Virginia general election today, but Congressman Clifton A. Woodrun of Roanoke had a much closer margin than was comfortable.

With 171 out of 187 precincts reported in the 6th district Woodrun had 11,318 votes to 8,852 for Fred W. McWane, Lynchburg Republican, a majority of 2,466 votes.

In the 7th congressional district Congressman A. Willis Robertson of Lexington led C. C. Leap, Waynesboro Republican. With 217 out of 257 precincts in the district reported Robertson had 10,505 votes to 6,168 for Leap.

Congressman John W. Flannagan of Bristol, a "100 per cent New Dealer," had 18,976 votes to 9,291 for L. E. Gulliford of Pulaski, a lead of better than 2 to 1, in returns from 195 out of 247 precincts.

Colgate W. Darden, Norfolk Democrat and former congressman, who unseated Representative Norman R. Hamilton of Portsmouth in a closely contested Democratic primary last August, piled up a majority of 13,592 votes to 1,895 for Carl Spaeth, Norfolk independent, in 103 out of 128 precincts in the 2d district.

TYDINGS RETAINS SENATE SEAT IN MARYLAND VOTE

RepublicanGovernor Is Apparent Loser.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 9 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Senator Millard E. Tydings, who defeated the New Deal's attempt to purge him in the primary, was reëlected to a third term by Maryland Democrats early today. Herbert R. O'Conor, Democratic candidate, apparently displaced Republican governor Harry W. Nice.

Oscar Leser, former Baltimore judge and Republican candidate for the senate, when informed Tydings had a lead of more than 97,000 votes, said: "I concede." Returns from 538 of the state's 1,288 polling places, including Baltimore city complete, gave Tydings, 166,267 and Leser, 68,937.

Nice, former criminal lawyer who defeated the late Albert C. Ritchie for governor in 1934, was trailing O'Conor 148,944 to 105,371 and the Baltimore Sun declared O'Conor the "Democratic governor-elect of Maryland." O'Conor likewise claimed victory, but Nice conceded nothing.

G .O. P. NOMINEES TAKE GOOD LEADS IN OREGON RACES

Portland, Ore., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Republican candidates for governor and United States senator established comfortable leads tonight in returns from Oregon's general election.

Charles A. Sprague, Republican newspaper publisher, had 55,931 votes in the gubernatorial contest to 36,471 for Henry L. Hess, Democrat, who had the indorsement of several New Deal chieftains, in returns from 622 of 1,681 precincts.

Rufus C. Holman, state treasurer and Republican aspirant for the senate, topped Willis E. Mahoney, Klamath Falls Democrat, 53,520 to 40,305 in the count from 616 precincts.

In the 1st district race for congressman, 159 precincts gave Mott [R.], 20,836; Burk [D.], 8,033.

FRAUD, VIOLENCE ARE JUST WORDS IN QUIET VOTING

Not a single report of fraud, violence, or disorder of any kind reached the election commissioners' office last night. During the day there had been but one report of a precinct worker being assaulted. At midnight Attorney John F. Cashen, representing the board, said the most orderly election in the city had been held. Not one arrest had been made.

Capt. Gregory F. Moran, who commanded 100 policemen on hand all day and evening in the event of trouble, said he couldn't remember when if ever such a quiet election had been held. Sergt. James T. Quinlan, who has charge of radio messages for the police department, said there was no occasion to send out a broadcast to any squad concerning the election.

CONSTIPATED! Gas Crowds Heart.

"For thirty years constipation caused me headaches and pains in the back. Awful gas bloating crowded my heart. Adlerika helped right away. Now I eat sausage, bananas, pie, anything I want and never felt better."—Mrs. Mabel Schott. Two things happen when you are constipated. FIRST: Accumulated wastes swell up bowels and press on nerves in the digestive tract. SECOND: Partly digested food starts to decay forming GAS, bringing on sour stomach, indigestion, and heartburn, bloating you up until you sometimes gasp for breath. Adlerika gives double relief with DOUBLE ACTION. Adlerika relieves STOMACH GAS almost at once. It often clears bowels in less than two hours. No griping, no after effects, just quick results. Recommended by many doctors for 35 years.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

BIDWILL REGAINS SEAT IN SENATE HE LOST IN 1934

Big Majority Indicates Protest of Ouster.

BY EDWARD WILSON.

Arthur Bidwill [R.] of River Forest, who was elected state senator from the 7th senatorial district in 1934 and then unseated by the Democratic machine, was the apparent winner for the same office last night. Unofficial returns from 142 out of 477 precincts in the district gave Bidwill 23,226 votes to 15,723 for Charles F. Baumrucker, Democratic incumbent.

The district is within Cook county and adjoins Chicago.

Other apparent defeats of sitting Cook county legislators included Senator William E. King [R.], 3d; Representative Solomon Roderick [R.], 19th, and Representative Calvin T. Weeks [R.], 11th. Downstate, Senator Robert M. Harper [D.], East Moline, Gov. Horner's floor leader, was reported losing in the 33d district. His opponent was Charles Carpentier [R.], East Moline.

Bidwill's gain showed a protest vote against the Democratic action of four years ago when he won in the official election returns but was unseated following a decision on the election of a party controled senatorial committee.

In Cook county senatorial districts generally, the vote was as proportionately Democratic as it was for county offices. Republican chances to gain legislative seats in other than the 7th district were lost when first returns were received.

Upset in 3d District.

An upset in the county legislative vote occurred in the 3d district, where King apparently was defeated by William A. Wallace [D.].

In the 19th senatorial district Representative Roderick [R.] was trailing Arnold Lund [R.] for the one Republican representative position. Representative John O. Hruby and John J. Gorman, both Democrats, were assured of election, according to first returns.

Although Republicans lost chances for gains in senatorial districts in Chicago, early reports continued to show a possibility of gains in the downstate districts.

Elections were held for state senator in twenty-six senatorial districts. They were held in the odd numbered districts and in two even numbered districts, the 28th and 42d, where vacancies occurred.

Equalizing Is Seen.

Following the 1936 election the Republicans held eighteen seats in the senate and the Democrats thirty-three. Twenty-six districts are a constitutional majority. If the final counts show Republicans hold twenty-two or more districts the power of the two parties will be practically equalized. Although the Democrats will still retain the majority, the difference will be so small that Republicans can count on the traditional downstate-Cook county Democratic split to aid in leveling the strength of the two parties.

According to early incomplete returns Republicans stood a possibility of gaining in seven of the twenty-four districts which had election contests for the state house of representatives. In the other twenty-seven districts two candidates from one party and only one from the second were nominated in April, so nomination there was tantamount to election.

Seven added seats for the Republicans in the house would give them seventy-four seats, which would materially decrease the Democratic majority. Seventy-seven seats comprise a constitutional majority.

$145,900,000 BUBBLE BURSTS; ILLINOIS INVESTORS HIT

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Holders of promissory notes from Cary Burns, 53 years old, a Negro, received bad news today. The notes were issued at the rate of $1 cash for $1,000 promised.

Testifying at a preliminary hearing on charges against Burns of conspiracy to defraud, Herve Desmarais, clerk of the exchequer court of Canada, said Burns had no case before the court to collect damages for patent infringements.

Burns is alleged to have issued promissory notes with a total face value of $145,900,000, payment conditioned on successful outcome of Burns' "litigation" here against companies he said infringed patents "inherited by virtue" from the late E. R. Robinson, inventor, of Nashville, Tenn. The note holders included residents of Illinois and other states. The hearing was adjourned to Nov. 15.

WAIT, MOTHER—
Ask Your Doctor First

Never give your children unknown "bargain" remedies to take—unless you ask your doctor. Unknowingly you may be risking their health—just to save a few pennies

EVERY mother should know all about the medicine she gives her child. To do otherwise is dangerous.

A mother may save a few pennies on unknown, unproved preparations. But the life of a child is precious beyond pennies. So for your own peace of mind, don't fail to ask your doctor before you give any remedy you don't know all about.

When giving the common children's remedy, milk of magnesia, if your doctor says, "Get Phillips' Milk of Magnesia"—do exactly that. Never ask for "milk of magnesia" alone—but always ask for "Phillips'." Because for over 60 years Phillips' Milk of Magnesia has been produced under exacting scientific care and manufacturing skill.

He can tell you how marvelously gentle it is for youngsters. Because for three generations Phillips' has been favored by many physicians as a standard, reliable and proved preparation.

Many children like Phillips' in the newer form—tiny peppermint-flavored tablets scarcely larger than an aspirin tablet—that chew like candy. Each tablet contains the equivalent of one teaspoonful of the liquid Phillips', and a big box costs but 25c at your drug store.

A small bottle of Phillips' liquid Milk of Magnesia costs but 25 cents. So—it is a fact that anyone can afford the genuine. Careful mothers ask for it by its full name "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

CAPTURE THREE SUSPECTS IN OHIO BANK ROBBERY

Lancaster, O., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Policeman today captured three men suspected in yesterday's $1,700 Junction City Banking company robbery and recovered a quantity of the money.

A youth of 19 who said he is John F. McGiniss of Minneapolis, was captured in a tourist home. He admitted helping rob the bank and gave up $400 but refused to name his companions.

A short time later two policemen were fired upon by two men they tried to retain as suspects. The police subdued them with their fists.

They identified themselves as Harlan Reed, 26, of Springfield, Ill., and Morris Reeves, 23, formerly of Cincinnati.

FIREMEN FIDDLE WITH 800 FT. OF HOSE; CAR BURNS

When engine company 129 reached 84th place and Western avenue last night the automobile of John Slobig, 6142 South Rockwell street, was in flames. There was a fire hydrant about fifty feet away.

But Chief Harry Scheckel of the 26th battalion discovered the hydrant was broken and the hose could not be attached. The next nearest hydrant in the sparsely settled section was two blocks away.

Chief Scheckel telephoned for a chemical wagon and then stretched 800 feet of hose to 86th street. But by the time he could get water and by the time the chemical wagon arrived the automobile was a total loss.

M'NUTT TO QUIT PHILIPPINE POST IN NEAR FUTURE

Apparently Will Push His Presidential Boom.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Paul V. McNutt, high commissioner of the Philippines and former governor of Indiana, plans to leave his post in Manila in the near future, evidently to push his presidential ambitions.

This was disclosed in correspondence released today by Acting Controler General Richard Elliott, from whom McNutt sought a ruling on the rights to be conferred on a successor.

McNutt's aspirations for the Democratic nomination for President in 1940 are well known. He retirement from the $18,000 a year island post has been rumored for some time, but this is the first definite word from McNutt.

Debut Made Last Winter.

McNutt made his debut as a 1940 presidential candidate at a lavish cocktail party given by Indiana followers here last winter. At that time, in best tongue in cheek manner, he denied he was a candidate. But the typical campaign party belied that.

Since that time it has been reported that McNutt did not wish to return to the United States prior to the elections, in order to avoid any Democratic controversies which might prove embarrassing in his race for the No. 1 office.

President Roosevelt, although frowning on McNutt's ambitions as a possible threat to a third term, has indicated he would readily accept McNutt's resignation.

In the meantime McNutt's friends have been organizing in his behalf. Reliable reports are that contacts have been made with the Democratic organizations in Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Virginia, as well as other states.

Letter Hints Intentions.

The McNutt letter, transmitted through the secretary of war, did not say whether McNutt intended his absence to be temporary or permanent, but it appeared evident it was to be of some duration. It is generally interpreted here, however, as warning of his resignation.

"In connection with my contemplated departure from the Philippines before the end of the year," McNutt wrote, "there is presented the question of the designation by the President of a member of my staf to act as high commissioner, and particularly is there presented the question of the powers, duties, pay and perquisites of the staf member so designated.

"It is my desire to have all the doubtful points in connection with the above matter settled definitly for the good of the service before I leave the Philippines."

The commissioner explained he was preparing to turn over certain quarters, automobiles, and funds for the use of his successor and asked for clearance from the controler general's office.

Elliott advised him in reply that his successor was entitled to these items, but would not draw additional compensation for his services.

If McNutt resigns and returns home he will have to pay his own traveling expenses. Last April congress denied his request for $10,000 to bring his family home if he should resign. Congressmen, irked at the construction of two "palaces" for the commissioner at a cost of $750,000, knocked out the $10,000 appropriation item.

Telephone Operator Casts Vote, Then Hangs Herself

Miss Alice Rushmore, 32 years old, hanged herself yesterday in the basement of her home in Fox Lake, a short while after casting her vote at the polls. Miss Rushmore was an operator in the Fox Lake telephone exchange run by her mother, Mrs. Earl Rushmore, a Republican leader of the town. Miss Rushmore suffered from melancholia and a nervous disorder, her family said.

SENATE CONTEST CLOSE IN INDIANA; VAN NUYS LEADS

Willis Shows Surprising Strength in Race.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 9 [Wednesday].—[Special.]—Raymond E. Willis, Republican, Angola editor, early this morning was whittling down the early lead of United States Senator Frederick Van Nuys, Democratic nominee for reëlection, as returns came in from yesterday's election in Indiana.

With 1,042 out of 3,872 precincts in the state reported, the vote stood: Van Nuys, 261,075; Willis, 251,785. Willis showed surprising strength in counties which the Republicans lost four years ago.

ator, the off year election will name twelve congressmen, and state, county, township, and municipal officials throughout the state. The congressional races were close.

Hot Battle in Indianapolis.

In Indianapolis a heated municipal campaign fired enthusiasm, prompting brisk balloting.

Archie N. Bobbitt, Republican state chairman, declared Indiana voters are "swinging away from the New Deal," and predicted victory for Willis.

Omer Stokes Jackson, Democratic state chairman, came right back with the prediction of reëlection of Senator Van Nuys.

Jackson Sees Victory.

Jackson predicted defeat of Indiana's only Republican congressman, Representative Charles A. Halleck, whose opponent is Homer Stonebreaker, former head of the state excise police and former state athlete and basketball referee.

"Not a chance," answered the Republican chieftains in effect. "Halleck will be reëlected and four or five other Republican congressmen with him."

Frank McHale, Democratic national committeeman, predicted "certain triumph" for Senator Van Nuys and the Democratic state ticket.

1 KILLED, 2 HURT AS STABLE BURNS; 8 HORSES PERISH

One man was fatally burned, two firemen were injured and eight horses were cremated early yesterday when flames swept a teaming yard and stable at 4210 Emerald avenue. Marshal Anthony Seaman of the 4th division estimated the property loss at $3,000. He blamed a carelessly tossed cigaret stub for the fire.

Patrick Rowan, 21 years old, 4317 Emerald avenue, a laborer who was sleeping in one of the stables, died of burns in the Evangelical hospital. Fireman John Burke of engine company No. 29, incurred two broken ribs when a high pressure hose knocked him down. Fireman Matthew Hoffman of hook and ladder company No. 18, was treated for burns. Several of the twelve horses that were saved were led from the stables by a pet goat.

Republican Winning

Arthur Bidwill, Republican candidate for the state senate from the seventh district, who apparently defeated the Democratic incumbent, Charles F. Baumrucker.

DIES DECLARES HE'LL MOVE IF RADICALS WIN

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Chairman Dies [D., Tex.], of the house committee on unAmerican activities, told the National Women's Press club today that he would move out of the country if Fascists or communists obtained control.

Asked where he would go, he said: "You stump me there."

Then he suggested an alternative: "I've got a 32 acre farm out in the Piney Woods that is so poor the communists or Fascists wouldn't want it. I guess I'd go there."

MERCURY DROPS BELOW FREEZING; WARMER TODAY

Temperatures of 25 to 28 degrees, the coldest of the autumn, were forecast for Chicago today. A slight warming up, according to Forecaster C. A. Donnel, will occur in the afternoon as winds shift from the west to the southwest.

Yesterday's low was 30 degrees. There were snow flurries in the morning, but later the sun shone occasionally and there was no more precipitation.

Heavy snow fell in northwest Illinois and parts of Wisconsin and Iowa.

SLED PAINTER, 12, FIGHTS FOR LIFE AFTER OIL BLAST

Lawrence Venigh, 12 years old, who was injured in a freak accident late Monday in the basement of his home at 1717 North Hermitage avenue, was unconscious and in a critical condition yesterday, in North Avenue hospital. The boy, son of Lieut. Frank Venigh of the fire prevention bureau, lighted a candle as he painted his sled. The flare ignited fumes in an empty oil drum and in the resulting explosion a portion of the drum struck him. His skull was fractured.

PRESIDENT HAS NOTHING TO SAY ABOUT ELECTION

Votes in Town Hall of Home Village.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—From the library of his country home on the Hudson river, President Roosevelt tonight kept in constant touch by long distance telephone with Democratic leaders and candidates throughout the nation.

A switchboard operator was kept working at top speed handling the President's personal calls to Chicago, where he talked with Mayor Edward J. Kelly and to Scott W. Lucas, the Democratic candidate for senator; to California, where he discussed the returns with Culbert Olson, the Democratic candidate for governor; to Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and dozens of other localities.

Pleased by New York.

The President was reported as being elated over the close victory of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman over Thomas E. Dewey in the New York gubernatorial election. On the other hand, he was concerned over the indicated defeat of Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan whom he has fervently indorsed on several occasions.

One election result produced a broad grin on Mr. Roosevelt's face. That was the defeat in the 16th congressional district in New York City of John J. O'Connor, chairman of the house rules committee, who was deprived of the Democratic nomination in the primary purge and sought reëlection as a Republican.

The President refused to make any official comment on the election tonight. He may choose to express his views on the subject tomorrow, it was said.

Voter No. 281.

The President was voter No. 281 in the yellow frame Hyde Park town hall today.

Cameras ground and flash bulbs winked as the President stepped into a polling booth, pulled a lever which flicked the curtains behind him, and began to manipulate the tiny levers of the voting machine.

Mr. Roosevelt spent about three minutes making his selections. Asked, after emerging, if he had voted the straight Democratic ticket, he answered: "It's a secret ballot."

The President brought with him three other votes from his country home on the Hudson river. They came from his mother, Sara Delano Roosevelt, 85 years old; his wife, Eleanor Roosevelt, and his personal secretary, Miss Marguerite Lehand. His wife had just flown in from Texas.

The President plans to return to Washington Thursday afternoon.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

THE AGE OF FABLE

By CALEB

MAN'S FIRST ATTEMPT to know his God, and orient himself with the universe roundabout, resulted in the invention of mythology. Embracing the sagas and tales of Babylon, Assyria, Phoenicia, Persia, India, Scandinavia, the songs of the Druids, the Rig-Veda, Zend-Avesta, the Eddas, the Odyssey, and the Aeneid—this vast gathering of beliefs and dreams was stupendous in its scope. Man had truly created his own gods—but where was the man who would group them together, and introduce them to men?

The answer at last came, in a book unlike all other books before or since—which appeared in print while the establishment of Marshall Field and Company was still in its swaddling clothes—some eighty years ago. Written by Thomas Bulfinch and dedicated to Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, it was entitled, "The Age of Fable, or Beauties of Mythology." Later it was enlarged and revised by the Rev. J. L. Scott of Philadelphia.

Peer along the shadowy shelves of some old library today, and you may still find an "Age of Fable" nestled in among the literarily forgotten. But the doubt is strong; for as education supplanted superstition, the gods and goddesses of myth were taken over by Victorian poetry and music. Our own time knows them only as classical children.

Even as Jupiter and Apollo have perished before the monarch of science and modernism, so has perished many another mythology. Among them the myths that once belonged to merchandising, with its gods of deception and shoddy, "sight unseen" maneuvering. Myths so insidious that the cry of the consumer finally became, "Caveat emptor: Let the buyer beware."

As organization, mutuality, insight, have supplanted fable with fact, the myths of trade have been vanishing before the merchandising monotheism of: "Credat emptor: Let the buyer believe."

An old book from which we just now blew the dust has prompted this thought—and the analogy seemed one worth noting. A faster tempo forward, surer guidance, mark the advancements of today—even in this matter of things that are bought and sold. In better stores everywhere, the Age of Fable has passed—for good.

LEHMAN VICTOR OVER DEWEY BY NARROW MARGIN

G. O. P. Candidate Sends His Congratulations.

Republican gubernatorial nominee, however, were in New York county, or Manhattan, where he is district attorney. The Lehman plurality in this one of the five counties making up New York City may go as high as 200,000, and the Dewey camp had not counted on losing more than 100,000.

Knifing on the part of Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, who ran with Dewey in the campaign last fall, was seen in the Manhattan returns. La Guardia, whose ambitions to run for President might be dashed if Dewey won, pussy-footed throughout the campaign. He refused to indorse Dewey and made several appearances with Gov. Lehman, although he did not directly indorse the governor.

La Guardia's personal following among the needle trades in Manhattan apparently plumped for Lehman. The so-called American labor party, made up of a group of left wing unions, contributed greatly toward Lehman's plurality in New York. Norman Thomas, the perennial Socialist candidate, polled a very small vote.

Brooklyn Machine Effective.

In Kings county [Brooklyn], most popular borough of New York City, Lehman rolled up a lead over Dewey approaching 300,000. Frank V. Kelly, boss of the Brooklyn machine, had it moving at top speed. The expected Lehman plurality in the Bronx was whittled down by some 50,000 votes, however, by Irish Catholic defections.

The Lehman lead in the borough of Queens was about 6,000.

Tammany Hall staged a celebration last night when James H. Hay, Democratic nominee with a White House blessing, beat John J. O'Connor, Democratic chairman of the house rules committee whom President Roosevelt succeeded in having "purged" in the primary. O'Connor was the principal figure in the defeat of the President's reorganization dictatorship bill during the last congress.

New York's silk stocking district, the 17th, returned Bruce Barton, advertising man, to congress for a second term. The Republican candidate amassed a substantial majority over Walter H. Leibman, Democrat.

Mrs. O'Day is Winner.

New York's representatives-at-large, running on the dual Democratic and American Labor party tickets, appeared assured of reëlection, with Mrs. Caroline O'Day, close friend of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, leading the race.

The house seat formerly held by Mayor La Guardia, then a Republican and now enrolled with the American Labor party, was reclaimed by former Representative Vito Marcantonio, with combined Republican and American Labor party backing.

Republicans regained control of the state assembly in the election and appeared to have an excellent chance on the basis of incomplete returns of winning control of the senate, now held by the Democrats by a 29 to 22 margin.

Due to the Dewey sweep upstate, it appeared almost certain that the Republican candidates would recapture four seats in the senate and possibly win control of that body. If this happens it will be the first time since 1933 that the legislature has been under the control of a single party.

One feature of the election was the showing of the relatively infant American Labor party, which apparently polled somewhere between 350,000 and 400,000 votes. In all top races A. L. P. adopted Democratic candidates as its own.

Leads in Iowa

George A. Wilson, Republican, was leading Gov. Nels Kraschel, Democrat, who was seeking reëlection as governor of Iowa.

'RUBBER STAMP' NOMINEE BEHIND IN WEST VIRGINIA

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Republican party, without a congressional seat from West Virginia for six years, made a bid tonight for one in the 1st district, but Democratic incumbents in the other five were leading.

A. C. Schiffler, with two-thirds of the precincts in the 1st district reported, had an unofficial lead of better than 5,550 over Representative Robert L. Ramsay, seeking his fourth consecutive term.

First returns had given each of the six incumbents, all New Dealers, slight edges over their opponents.

BURNED IN GASOLINE BLAST.

Roy Renfro, 19 years old, colored, of 4848 Prairie avenue, was critically burned yesterday in the yard of an auto parts company at 3348 Grand avenue when gasoline exploded as he was draining it from the tank of a car.

SENATOR CLARK FAR AHEAD IN MISSOURI POLL

Seeking His Second Term in Congress.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Taking a lead from the first precinct reporting, Missouri's Senator Bennett Champ Clark, running for reëlection in a race that may bespeak his Democratic presidential chances in 1940, tonight rolled steadily ahead of his Republican opponent, former Gov. Henry S. Caulfield.

Returns from 3,182 precincts of the state's 4,426 gave Clark 505,606 votes to 306,397 for Caulfield. These returns included only a few of Kansas City's normally topheavy Democratic precincts and St. Louis, Clark's home city.

May Be Compromise Choice.

Reëlection by a large majority would increase Clark's stature as presidential timber offering a "compromise" between conservative and New Deal members of his party.

Clark and Caulfield fought the senatorial campaign on the issue of the New Deal.

Clark Is Independent.

Clark, while declaring he was "proud to have participated" in much of President Roosevelt's program, added he would "continue to abide by my own sincere convictions."

Caulfield centered his attack largely upon the administration's spending program, the steady increase in taxes and the mounting expenses of government.

OKLAHOMA PICKS DEMOCRAT IN ALL BUT ONE CONTEST

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Oklahoma elected a Democratic senator, governor and at least eight congressmen today, but the outcome of an unexpectedly tight race in the other congressional district was in doubt.

Charles E. Knox, Enid Republican, pulled slightly ahead of Representative Phil Ferguson, Woodward, Democrat, seeking a third term in the 8th district, which embraces the northwestern wheat belt.

Senator Elmer Thomas, New Dealer and cheap money spokesman, won his third term handily over his conservative Republican opponent, Harry O. Glasser, Enid attorney.

Leon C. Phillips, a state legislative veteran who urged coöperation with the federal government, turned back his Republican opponent for governor, Ross Rizley, an avowed liberal.

DIES WHILE EATING LUNCH.

A man tentatively identified as William Ooms of Steger dropped dead while eating his lunch yesterday in the rear of 851 West 69th street, where he was working on a construction job.

NBC DENIES BLAME FOR ABRUPT ENDING OF LYONS' ADDRESS

The National Broadcasting company yesterday issued a statement disclaiming responsibility for the abrupt ending, five minutes early, of the final Republican broadcast of the campaign Monday night. The speaker was Richard J. Lyons, candidate for United States senator.

"While Lyons was speaking the telephone circuit of the Illinois Bell Telephone company failed," Niles Trammell, vice president of the NBC, said in the statement. "The WENR engineering supervisor in our main control room was informed by Justus W. Rohde of the telephone company that there had been a failure in their circuit.

"After learning of this I offered Lyons the first available subsequent time on WENR to return to the air and complete his speech, which he did at 10:30 p. m. in a ten minute broadcast. In the light of these facts it is nothing less than fantastic to charge or imply that station WENR had anything at all to do with the abrupt termination of Lyons' speech."

The telephone company issued a statement saying its investigation did not indicate that the interruption was due to failure of their equipment. However, there is always a possibility of occasional failure in the complicated broadcast or telephone equipment involved in such a hookup, it said.

DEMOCRATS WIN IN PERFUNCTORY VOTING IN SOUTH

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The deep south preserved its traditional Democratic solidarity today in a perfunctory election. There wasn't even a contest in Mississippi and Louisiana, where Democratic nominees were elected unopposed.

Arkansas, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, and South Carolina, where opposition to the Democrats was barely nominal, unspectacularly swept the party nominees into office.

Speaker of the House William B. Bankhead had an easy victory over his Republican opponent, E. M. Reed, in the routine Alabama vote.

Georgia's Senator Walter F. George and South Carolina's Senator Ellison D. Smith, like Millard Tydings politically blackballed by President Roosevelt in the primary as New Deal obstructionists, smothered their opponents with intra-party differences outwardly composed.

In North Carolina United States Senator Robert R. Reynolds, Democratic supporter of the New Deal, took a lead over his Republican opponent in first returns.

In Texas W. Lee O'Daniel, flour salesman who campaigned with a hillbilly band, was elected governor on the Democratic ticket, where nomination always is tantamount to election.

Lehman Carries District by Unanimous Single Vote

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman carried one Manhattan election district by a unanimous vote of the district's single registered voter, Rabbi Nathan Wolf of the Times Square synagogue. Rabbi Wolf cast his vote in the 42d election district of the 10th assembly district with about 100 persons looking on. The vote cost about $500, with a board of elections chairman and three assistants present, in addition to two policemen.

TRANSPLANTED EYE RESTORES HIS SIGHT AT 27

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The thrill that only the blind can understand came to a sightless man, 27 years old, today when for the first time he was able to distinguish objects through corneal tissue donated by John Deering, Salt Lake City murderer.

In a darkened room, voice tense with excitement, he counted the fingers on the eye surgeon's hand. It was the first time the bandage was lifted since the operation last week.

The surgeon, who requested that his name and that of the patient be withheld, said that later on the young man should have enough vision to read.

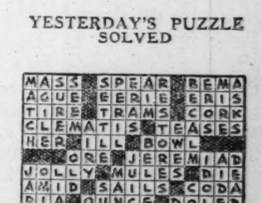
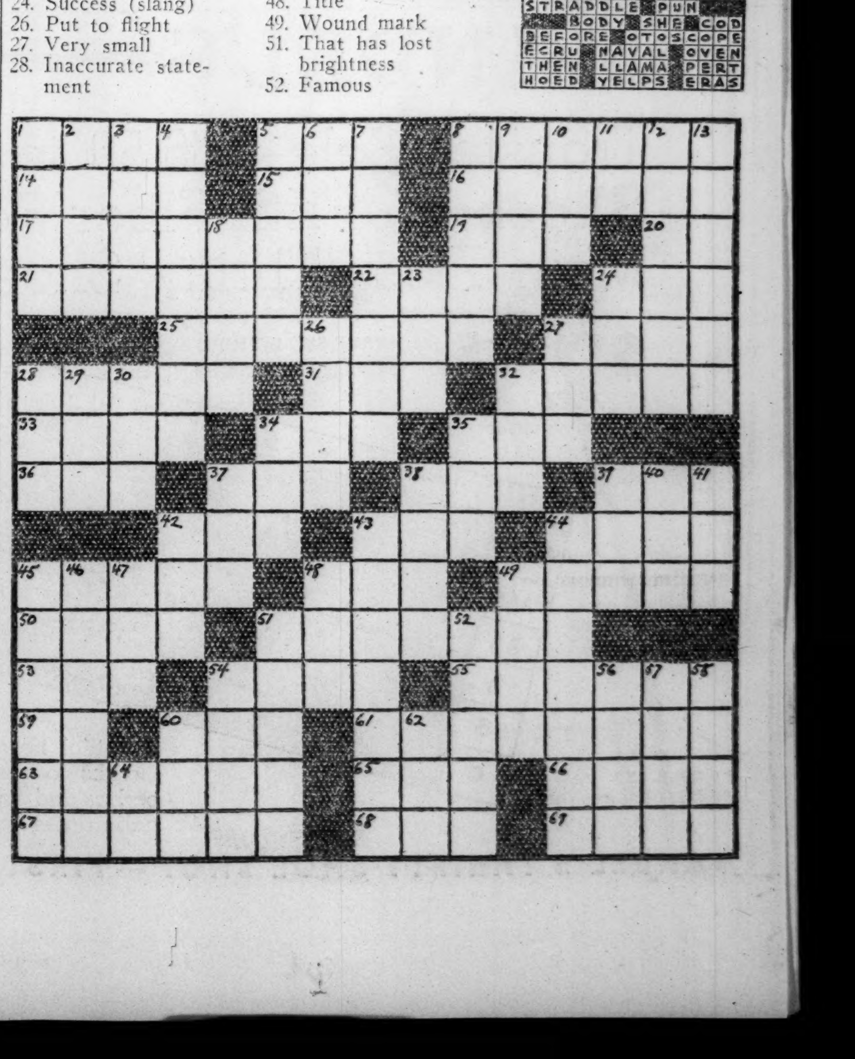
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





PUT CONNECTICUT DEMOCRATS OUT OF MOST OFFICES

Republicans Take Lead for Governor, Senator.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Connecticut Republicans bounced back tonight from the 100,000 vote defeat they suffered in the 1936 Roosevelt landslide with a victory surge which on the basis of unofficial election returns apparently swept out of office most of the Democratic incumbents, among them the veteran Gov. Wilbur L. Cross and Senator Augustine Lonergan.

Socialists Pile Up Votes.

Big votes polled in the normally Democratic urban centers by Jasper McLevy, Socialist gubernatorial nominee, cut deeply into the governor's 1936 pluralities and appeared to assure the election of a Republican, Raymond E. Baldwin, for the first since 1930.

Returns from 152 out of 169 towns in the state gave Baldwin a lead of 2,001 votes.

McLevy, mayor of Bridgeport, piled up an unprecedented total of 161,264—more than four times any previous Socialist vote in the state's history.

Republican Leads for Senate.

With returns from yesterday's election virtually complete, John A. Danaher, Republican, led Senator Lonergan by more than 7,000 votes.

Baldwin, trailing during the early hours of the count, steadily overcame the governor as the votes rolled in from the normally Republican rural areas and then jumped into a lead.

DESCRIBES NEW GLASS MADE TO SHUT OUT GLARE

Streamlined light is science's latest contribution to the better life. How it works in saving man's eyes from the glare of artificial light was described last night by Gov. W. Wheelwright III. of Boston in a lecture before members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in the Engineers' building.

Wheelwright is the partner of Edwin H. Land, who he said was the first man to perfect a practical polarized glass. Land's invention, called polaroid, is a compound of iodine, sulphur, oxygen, and quinine mixed with cellulose to form a transparent sheet.

This sheet literally combs out all the light rays which blind the eye. Visibility, said Wheelwright, is produced by light rays vibrating vertically from the surface of the object to the eye. Glare results when rays hit the object at other angles. Polaroid is made up of microscopic crystals all running crosswise of the sheet so that only vertical rays can pass through. The oblique glaring rays are rejected.

VANDERBILT WINS IN G. O. P. SWEEP OF RHODE ISLAND

Providence, R. I., Nov. 9 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Republicans today claimed a clean sweep in Rhode Island on the basis of nearly complete returns in yesterday's election.

William H. Vanderbilt ousted Robert E. Quinn, Democratic incumbent, from the governor's chair and carried with him to victory an entire slate of state officers.

Rhode Island also contributed at least one seat in the national house of representatives to the Republicans, and probably two.

Returns from 190 of the state's 245 precincts gave Vanderbilt 128,382 votes to 86,511 for Quinn. Walter E. O'Hara, independent candidate for governor, received 8,363 votes in the same precincts.

Vanderbilt is a former state senator and a son of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, who went down with the Lusitania.

O'Hara, deposed managing director of Narragansett Park race track, and Quinn have fought bitterly since the governor called out troopers to prevent Narragansett's fall meeting in 1937.

Girl, 16, Vanishes on Way to School; Ask Police Hunt

The Irving Park police were asked yesterday to search for Jean Schweigert, 16 years old, who disappeared Monday while on her way to the Carl Schurz High school. The girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Schweigert of 5064 Giddings avenue, was wearing a gray coat and skirt, a rainbow colored blouse, a black hat, and black shoes. She has never before been absent from home without leave, her parents stated.

Identify Wandering Boy; Father Blames Overstudy

Apparently ill from overwork in preparing for examinations, a boy, found wandering dazed in front of 6412 North Rockwell avenue Monday evening, was identified yesterday as Gerard Marschner, 15 years old. His father, Joseph Marschner, 6100 North Talman avenue, said his son was a student in St. George's High school.

BARBOUR HOLDS NARROW MARGIN IN NEW JERSEY

G. O. P. Senate Nominee Pressed by Democrat.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 9 [Wednesday.]—(AP)—W. Warren Barbour, Republican candidate for U. S. senator, held a slight lead this morning over William H. J. Ely, Democrat, in a nip and tuck race.

Returns from 2,437 of 3,578 districts gave Barbour 508,853 votes to 508,664 for Ely.

The lead shifted twice within half an hour last night. Ely went ahead twice when Democratic Hudson county gave him big majorities. Barbour's margins elsewhere cut into this lead, however.

The Democratic nominee, a former state WPA administrator, ran far behind in normally Republican centers and trailed by 44,000 votes in his native Bergen county.

Barbour, a former United States senator, was defeated for reëlection in 1936.

2 Children Burn to Death As Fire Razes Farm Home

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Two children were burned to death and a third was injured seriously early today when fire destroyed the farm home of Richard Bishop, near Osceola, in Stark county. Mrs. Bishop incurred a skull fracture when she leaped from the second floor after tossing three of her five children to her husband below. Dorothy, 8 years old, and Margaret Ann, 4, died when trapped in their small bedroom.

He was the oldest brother of her father, the late Edmond Le Roy Greene. He was the last of a family of nine children, all of whom lived to be more than 80 years of age.

QUEZON'S TICKET RUNS AHEAD IN PHILIPPINE VOTE

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 9.—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—Commonwealth President Manuel Quezon's Nationalista party was winning national assembly election contests throughout the provinces, it was indicated early today on the basis of incomplete but conclusive returns of yesterday's balloting. There were only a few minor disorders.

Quintin Paredes, former resident commissioner of the Philippines at Washington, was assured of election to the assembly.

Francisco Delgado, another former commissioner, was running behind.

José Yulo, former secretary of justice, who was supported by the administration, won an easy victory assuring him the speakership of the house.

The faction of Vice President Sergio Osmena apparently was winning a hot Cebu province contest.

An upset to the Quezon triumph occurred in Cavite province, where Manuel Rojas was winning with the support of Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo, opponent of the Quezon administration.

2 Brothers Support Rivals, As They Have for 50 Years

Iona, Ia., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Two bachelor brothers, John Hall, 79 years old, and Amos, 78, farmers near here, went to their township polls today and voted for opposing candidates—a practice they have followed for half a century. John is a Democrat and Amos is a Republican. They never have had a serious disagreement over politics.

RETURN GERMAN COLONIES! HITLER WARNS POWERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MUNICH, Nov. 8.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler today demanded the return of colonies in a speech on the fifteenth anniversary of his Munich beer hall putsch.

"We are demanding nothing from the other powers except the colonies that were taken from us under false pretenses, and we won't stand before the door like beggars," he warned. "If, in 1918, I had stood in the place I now occupy the German collapse in the world war never would have occurred. A collapse would have taken place, but it would have been that of the German political parties. In the next thousand years Germany will not suffer a collapse like that of 1918."

Declaring Germans must make new sacrifices for the sake of rearmament, Hitler said: "We are not preparing to defend ourselves against attacks from the moon or from Mars, but I am determined to strengthen the security of the reich. That requires sacrifices and more sacrifices."

CHINA TO SHOOT GENERAL BLAMED FOR CANTON LOSS

MACAO, Nov. 8.—(AP)—A Kwangtung [Canton] province official said today that Chinese had held Gen. Mok Hing-oh responsible for collapse of Canton defenses. They said he would be executed before a firing squad soon.

The official, who came to this Portuguese colony after the fall of Canton on Oct. 21, said unpreparedness, not treachery, was responsible for abandonment of Canton to the Japanese.

"The Cantonese government had been fully confident that Japan would not attack South China because of danger of involving British property," he said. "We relied too much on the British."

Retrial of James Hines Is Postponed Indefinitly

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The retrial of James J. Hines, veteran Tammany district leader, on charges of conspiracy in the $20,000,000 a year Dutch Schultz policy racket, was postponed indefinitly today. The case had been reset for Nov. 14 following mistrial on Sept. 12 because of an unwaranted question asked by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey. His office indicated it was not desired to lock up a jury over Thanksgiving and possibly Christmas.

8 KENTUCKIANS SLAIN; TROOPS CALLED IN VOTE

Election State's Bloodiest Since 1933.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Eight persons were dead and one was critically wounded tonight in the bloodiest election day in Kentucky since 1933, when eighteen were slain.

Four persons were killed in Harlan county, two in Owsley, and one each in Bell and Todd counties.

Four shootings occurred in Harlan county. Eight men were jailed.

National Guardsmen were ordered to headquarters here for emergency duty.

Vote Count Postponed.

The tabulating of votes was postponed until 9 a. m. tomorrow as guardsmen and representatives of the Democratic and Republican parties guarded the ballot boxes in the courthouse.

State Police Captain Leland H. Barnes at Frankfort said a dozen patrolmen also were on duty in Harlan.

Vernon Sanders of the state police said four men were arrested at Shields, ten miles north of Harlan, after a group of state patrolmen on highway duty were fired on.

Two were taken into custody after shots were fired in the café of Clarence Poer, Democratic nominee for jailer. No one was injured in either shooting.

Two Shot in Tennessee.

Etowah, Tenn., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Two men, one a bystander, were wounded today in what Sherif Paul Cantrell described as an election shooting at Liberty Hill, in the mountains ten miles northwest of here.

The ballot box was taken during the shooting, the sherif said.

2 AIR LINES GET TOGETHER; FIND A BLOOD DONOR

Russell Van Tuyl, first pilot for United Air Lines, yesterday gave a pint of his blood to aid Mrs. Betty White, 26 years old, daughter of Victor Vernon, personnel director of American Air Lines. The transfusion was made in West Suburban hospital where Mrs. Wihte is seriously ill with peritonitis.

Mrs. White's blood is of a rare type. Scores of persons, including a number of American Air Lines employés, volunteered to aid her, but their blood was unsuitable. Col. A. D. Tuttle, medical director of United Air Lines, who keeps a complete record of the types of blood of all pilots and other company employés here, discovered that Capt. Van Tuyl's blood was of the same type as Mrs. White's.

Capt. Van Tuyl went immediately to the hospital when circumstances of the case were made known to him.

STRIKE CALLED OF MESSENGER BOYS IN BRONX

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—After sporadic walkouts last week Bronx messenger boys of the Western Union were called out in an official strike today by the American Communications association, a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate.

It was believed to be the first strike called anywhere in the country in an attempt to enforce the new federal wages and hours act. Mervyn Rathborne, president of the union, reported some fifty boys in six of the borough's eight branch offices had walked out.

The strike call came as a protest against the company's paying messengers at less than 25 cents an hour pending a federal ruling on its request for exemption from the wage provisions.

5 Italians Hop for Tokio; Seek Round Trip Record

They planned to return immediately, attempting to lower the Tokio-Rome record of 90 hours made by the Japanese flyer Masaaki Iinuma and a radio operator in April, 1937. The distance is slightly more than 6,000 miles. The Italians flew a two motored Italian Fiat plane.

Hears Complaints

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Dorothy Busche, a telephone company operator, at work in the Cook county election commissioners' office. She was one of hundreds of operators taking complaints.

More than 10,000 telephone calls were received yesterday at the offices of the board of election commissioners in the city hall. Most of the calls were from polling place officials requesting information on individuals whose right to vote had been challenged.

The election board had a staf of 150 telephone operators on duty, nearly three times as many as in the primary last spring. The increased force resulted in greater speed and more efficiency. The average period between a query for information and the answer was four minutes.

Most of the questions concerned persons whose right to vote was disputed because they had moved, or, in the case of women, because they had changed their names through marriage. If they had not had the necessary corrections made in their permanent registration records, they could not vote. If there were errors in the poll lists through no fault of the voters, the election board authorized the precinct officials to allow these persons to cast ballots.

Count Dead Man's Ballot.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Eliza Conner, 72 years old, marked his ballot and dropped dead of a heart attack in a voting booth here today. A member of the victim's family handed the ballot to the voting board chairman. It was counted in the returns.

SEE O. K. TODAY ON PLAN FOR 1ST PART OF SUBWAY

The Public Works administration subway commission is expected to announce today that it has given final approval to contract plans and specifications for the first section of the State street subway. The city plans for the section were submitted to the PWA engineers in accordance with the terms of a contract governing an 18 million dollar PWA grant for the 40 million dollar project. The PWA must approve all plans.

The clearance by the PWA board will permit the city to proceed with advertising for bids from contractors. The plans and specifications will be put in shape for advertising by next Monday or Tuesday, city subway engineers said. The work is to be under way by Dec. 15.

The first part of the subway will be built between Iillinois street and Bellevue place, a section about three-fourths of a mile long. It will include stations at Grand and Chicago avenues. The cost of constructing this piece of tunnel is expected to be about $2,500,000.

Most fascinating JUNGLE tale since Kipling's JUST SO Stories were first published in the JOURNAL!

This is Saranga THE PYGMY who had never seen a sunset in his life until this moment!

THIS IS GREAT MAAMA, Leader of the Herd that Cannot Be Hunted, just as Commander Gatti photographed her in the African jungle of the pygmies.

THIS IS THE THUMBLESS MONKEY whose call ringing under the green dome of the jungle says everywhere "Midday has come!"

THIS IS BOO-A, Saranga's dog. The wooden bell around his neck is stuffed with leaves so he will not make a noise when he walks in the jungle.

THIS IS THE MALIGNANT ONE. Nightfall is the signal for the black leopard to leave his hiding place and all evil animals and spirits to wander about.

● This is Commander Attilio Gatti and part of the map he drew for the Journal of Saranga's march across the jungle. He took the pictures to guide the Journal artist. For like most great stories, this one has a real background.

Its author, Commander Gatti, is one of the handful of great adventurers left on this cooling planet. 22 rooms in the Royal Museum in Florence are filled with his African collections.

Right now he is in Africa on his tenth expedition, this one among the giant men. Like many brave soldiers of the World War, Commander Gatti has a special tenderness for children.

These Are 10 Questions About the JUNGLE . . .

that young hunters of any age can answer after they have read the first episode of the story of Saranga.

1 Why do Mambuti dogs never bark?

2 How does a pygmy child know, without looking at a clock, when it is noon?

3 What is a lodi?

4 For what practical reason do elephants coat their heads and backs with mud?

5 How tall must a Mambuti boy be before he can become a hunter?

6 What service does the kudyanga bird perform for the animals of the jungle?

7 Why is it difficult for elephants to see objects at a distance?

8 For what signal does the leopard wait before leaving his hiding place?

9 What do Mambutis believe is the reason guinea fowls go to sleep at noon?

10 How does a mother elephant punish her child for disobedience?

ONCE in a blue jungle moon a tale like this occurs. It happens when a great adventurer and story-teller sits down with a group of children . . . gently, from his love for them, creating a legend so refreshing, so wise and ageless that the whole world has to stop to listen over his shoulder.

Saranga, the pygmy child as high as a three-foot spear, moves from his dark forest glades lit only by the sun's straightest shafts, straight into hearts both old and young. Not since Kipling, has the Voice of the Jungle whispered so thrillingly . . . the Magic of the Jungle seemed so enchanting . . . the Law of the Jungle so fearful and wonderful.

The editors of the Ladies' Home Journal had no intention of publishing the adventures of a pygmy child . . . until they met Saranga and his dog Boo-a. Now they believe that this fascinating pair will continue their adventures — in the lives of generations of children and adults as a classic among many which the Journal has sponsored.

A discovery in fiction which will rank with other achievements of the vital JOURNALism which has attracted America's largest audience of modern women! Whether you are eight or eighty, if stark adventure stirs your blood, if the lore of the strange animal world enthralls you — don't miss "SARANGA THE PYGMY!" Commander Attilio Gatti's exciting new folk tale of small men and great animals begins in the December Journal. You'll find it at your newsdealer's today!

FELICITATIONS FOR WHAT?

The American government sent its felicitations and best wishes to the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. The occasion was the celebration of the twenty-first anniversary of the dictatorship. Mr. Roosevelt cabled his congratulations to Mikhail Kalinin, the chairman of the All Union Central Executive committee at Moscow. Kalinin is a factotum serving as one of Mr. Stalin's shirtfronts. The reception at the Russian embassy at Washington was attended by many American officials, headed by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, all extending their goodwill and wishing many happy returns.

Happy returns of just what? Upon what felicitous events and for what achievements do the officials of the United States extend their congratulations to the people of Russia through the government of that country? The occasion should be examined. It must be assumed that the American government finds that the Russian government has merited the goodwill and best wishes of the American people. Upon what record does that opinion rest?

Russia is governed by a Georgian despot whose career has been unparalleled in many hundred years of Asiatic cruelties. The Kremlin and imperial palaces in their day have harbored mad men and cruel and weak men. They have seen despotism in the cruelest forms of human nature. The past never contained a man so murderous, ferocious, and conscienceless as Josef Stalin. To the dark practices of Russia's worst imperial sadists he has added his own refinements of atrocity supplementing the devices by which communist mass terror is inflicted upon helpless people.

The Russia revolution has been without parallel in European experience. The French revolution was a short lived terror, although it has remained stamped on history for its final crowning inhumanities. Its period was short and its innocent victims would be lost in the masses of the Russian dead. Any extenuations which could be offered for the excesses of the revolutionaries under Lenin when he precipitated the bolshevist seizure of power are lost when Stalin comes before the bar of world judgment.

Lenin's initial excuse would be the plea of self-preservation. His apologists could point to civil war, foreign intervention, and months of desperate conflict. The apologies are insufficient because within a few years the dominating sadism of the proletarian dictatorship, its savagery, deceptions, brutal injustices, and wholesale massacres were fixed upon it as a habit of life and a rule of authority and alienated every illusioned idealist who first entertained a hope that a new and better order of human life was being made possible by this bloody Russian experiment.

Stalin's government for over ten years permits no apologies. There can be no extenuation offered for it. Its inhuman excesses have been those of the dominating ruler, who boasts that a democracy by the free will of all its population accepts the social, economic, and political rules of Russian life. Stalin has judicially murdered all the men who founded the soviet government of Russia except one, Trotzky, who escaped from the country. He has butchered the founders by judicial assassination. He was foolish enough in prostituting the Russian courts to open the printed records of the trials proving the falsifications and lies upon which he took the old bolos' lives.

One need not weep for them. They had lived by the pistol and they died by it. These men, although they were the founders of Russia, the high officials, commissars, generals, admirals, and diplomats, and constituted the governing caste in the dictatorship, were few in number compared with the actual millions of unnamed Russians who have been killed, tormented, and driven to despair at the order of the barbarian who is Russia's despot.

There are a number of odious forms of government in the world today under which life is precarious and men slaves. But nothing in modern and few things in ancient history stand out so barbarously cruel and hopeless as the thing to which the American government has just extended its felicitations.

THE ISLAND BASES SHOULD BE OURS.

An alarm is being set afloat of late that recent events in Europe have greatly increased the danger of raids upon our shores, the bombing of the canal and of our cities, etc., etc. Before digging refuges in our back yards or crawling under our beds it may be well to examine the source whence this sudden appeal comes. If we find that it comes from individuals who have been anxious to involve us in European politics and to persuade us to join up at once at any price for the supposed defense of democracy, we have reason to receive these alarms with reservation.

We are invited to believe that the loss of prestige to Great Britain alleged to be the result of the Ethiopian, Austrian, and Czechoslovakian crises imperils our own security. Self-respecting Americans will prefer to believe, until we have better information than the alarmists offer, that America is ready and capable of defending herself from any power or expectable combination of powers. And if the alarmists insist upon their highly colored views of imminent danger we suggest they use such influence as they have with our government to induce it to take measures to bring about the strengthening of our defenses where they need it conspicuously by the acquisition through energetic negotiations of the bases within striking distance of our shores and the canal now in the hands of Great Britain and France.

This may seem undesirable as implying that we shall ever even in this changing epoch have occasion to fear war with either of the present holders of these bases. But even if this were to be assumed, in spite of the fact that we have fought two wars with England and one with France, it does not follow that the bases cannot be lost by them to powers hostile to us. If the loss of British prestige leaves us open to assault, it leaves the bases open to hostile use. The only consistent and sensible policy from every viewpoint is to have the bases in our possession and make provision for their development and defense from any enemy.

The transfer of the islands is theoretically deprecated on the theory that they are a trust not to be transferred, but it is growing increasingly evident that the people of the islands would favor coming into the American system, to which the islands properly belong geographically and economically. They would be safer and more prosperous than they can be in their present relations.

In any case, the islands are a potential threat to our defenses and should belong to us.

A PACIFIC CZECHOSLOVAKIA?

An article in the October issue of the British review "The Nineteenth Century and After" suggests the thought that Australia, unless it mends its ways, may find itself a Pacific Czechoslovakia. The writer, an Australian, entitles his remarks "A Straight Talk to Australia" and it would seem to be needed. A combination of arrogance, quarrelsomeness, shortsightedness, and military and naval impotence is rather certain to bring serious trouble in due time.

The gist of this writer's straight talk is that Australia with a territory larger than the United States and a population of seven million pursues a policy which not only shuts out immigration of colored but of white settlers, and this at a time when the stress of overpopulation is already powerful and growing in intensity. If none but whites were admitted the policy would be plausible, but whites are not admitted "in anything like the numbers requisite to the white Australians' establishing a moral right to maintain so exclusive a policy"—to say nothing, we would add, of permanently enforcing it. "So jealous are the Australians of the living standards they have succeeded in establishing that a majority of them regard every new arrival as a potential wage-cutter, and in consequence immigrants frequently are subjected to both social and economic ostracism." More British born people have left Australia than have gone there during the past seven years, the writer asserts.

This attitude is a strange contrast to that of the settlers of the American continents, especially the United States, which opened its gates wide to European immigrants and welcomed them to the task of development. Later came the oriental exclusion laws and later still the restrictions by quota on all immigration, but this was after the nation had acquired a population of over a hundred millions. The Australian labor movement has insisted upon exclusion for many years and "any government," this writer asserts, "which essayed to encourage the immigration of Britons or continentals on the scale which sheer common sense demands would lose office at the next elections."

The problems, social and economic, produced by immigration are not to be underestimated by this generation of Americans and there will be entire sympathy with the Australians' desire to keep their vast continent within their control and for the white race. But it seems they are going a very poor way about it. They have a hard task, for Australia with its vast arid spaces and tropical jungles is not tempting to the white man as America was. But all the more reason why every effort should be made to induce immigration rather than to cultivate exclusion. The Australians ought to see in the light of recent events both in Europe and Asia that their past immunity from pressure is not likely to last much longer. It is not improbable that they have waited too long to face the weaknesses of their situation and to deal with them with all the drastic measures they demand. The fate of Czechoslovakia may be theirs.

MR. POWELL'S $600,000.

Hollywood reports that William Powell and M-G-M have come to a salary understanding. Mr. Powell, it is said, is to be given a seven year contract at $600,000 a year. His friends will say that is nice going, Bill. It would seem to be, although Mr. Powell must make some sacrifices. They will not all be monetary.

M-G-M expects to get its money back and a profit from millions of pockets through the exhibitors who will take it in quarters and half dollars. The customers will expect to get their money's worth and if they are satisfied they will. If Mr. Powell and his producers give the customers a good show there will be no complaint from them, but the actor will find that will not wholly excuse him. He isn't a monopoly; he is not specially privileged; he isn't even a necessity, but he will discover that a lot of trouble goes with that six hundred thousand.

Probably he should have been adamant and have refused to accept a penny over $10,000. He might have declined to be anti-social. However, there will be a secret solace for him. He won't keep the money. Mr. Morgenthau's collectors will be around. He'll be working for the government. He will be pouring concrete in dry river beds. Of the $600,000 a year Mr. Morgenthau, representing the internal revenue department, will take $380,000. The state of California income tax collectors will take $80,500. The local taxes will take their bit and Mr. Powell may have the remainder and the reproaches.

He will understand, after he has been through the press, who the Thin Man really is.

BUSINESS.

"Yes," said the stranger in the inn parlor, "this hiking is a fine idea. Nothing pleases me better than to see crowds of people on the roads these days."

"Do you hike yourself, sir?" asked the landlord.

"Oh, no," came the reply. "I'm a manufacturer of corn plasters!"—Halifax Herald.

THE LIGHT ONES.

A minister met an old, bent farm laborer.

"Sandy," he said, "why are you walking with your back so bent? Keep it as straight as mine."

ELECTION DAY POSTSCRIPT.

Since the ballot is the highest and most sacred privilege of American citizenship, one may properly raise these questions: Why are voting booths always too small and too dark? Why do they afford insufficient elbow room for a 200 pound man in an overcoat or a fat matron in her winter furs? Why, when one wants to make a heavy black mark in the circle at the top of the ballot, indicating a vehement protest against the rival party, does he have to carry his own lead pencil? Why, if the ritual is to be performed carefully and with close consideration of the many candidates, must it be done in a standing position?

The process seems to be arranged to cause haste, carelessness, and a blind following of herd instincts.

Nomination for the most thrilling single exploit of the football season in this region: Bernard Jefferson's touchdown from kickoff [92 yards] for Northwestern against Wisconsin last Saturday. Such runs are rare, but this was unique because it illustrated the geometrical principle that a straight line is the shortest distance between two points. The sports writers seem to have viewed it with nonchalance; but it ranks, in spectacular quality, with Gabby Hartnett's ninth inning home run of Sept. 28.

COUP DE PLUME.

The Line Book soon will go to press . . .
Alackaday, ah me!
But no contribs of mine, I guess,
Will on its pages be.

From soup to nuts, the gamut I,
In doggerel and verses,
Have run till I am moved to try
Some literary curses.

O tempora and mores! Could
I once contrive to make
The Line's distinguished ranks, I should
This mad aspiring slake.

As future warning to Ye Ed
I cry in accents loud—
The fight is not yet done; my head
Is bloody but unbowed!

End of Fungo Research.

To bring the chatter about the origin of "fungo" to a head, Cap. Trebmal, formerly active in amateur and semi-professional baseball in Ohio, sends a diagram of the lettering on his own fungo bat, now twenty-five years old. It reads: "Fungo No. 24, made in U. S. A., Hillerich and Bradsby Co., Louisville, Ky." This firm is still in business. Curious persons may put their questions to the manufacturers.

Among Our Souvenirs.

Henry E. Dixey in "Adonis" ranks high among the shows that old timers talk about. Joseph L. Strauss sends to this column a souvenir program of the 100th performance in Hooley's theater on Aug. 1, 1887, which he attended. This was the 1,131st time on the American stage. The playbill contains excellent photogravures of Dixey and Edward E. Rice, who wrote the songs for "Adonis," on the front and back pages. The show was a "burlesque," i. e., a fantasy on a classical theme with incidental music, and therefore an ancestor of modern musical comedies and revues.

* * *

"While discussing hoary theatrical memories," says F. A. Russell, "tell us what has become of the wonderful collection of photographs and playbills that was assembled by the now defunct Strollers club of Chicago. A Mr. Sherman [first name probably John] was the organizer and president."

The Linemaster is unable to answer at the moment. Prof. Napier Wilt of the University of Chicago's bureau of stage archives ought to follow this trail.

FROST TONIGHT.

The little man looks so feckless and queer,
You'd think he would finish but he's always here;
He wears no sweater or cap at all,
But he rakes the dead leaves as fast as they fall;
He rakes and he rakes all the livelong day,
Sure, he rakes at night, so some people say.
You can see his leaf barrow if you sit up in bed,
And the little man sleeps there, so it is said.
He pulls up the covers and tucks them in tight,
For the air is crackling with frost tonight.

S'Amuser.

A Small Matter of Billions.

In the Line of 11-5-'38: "The Linemaster has written billions of words about the stage. . . ." The mathematical sharpshooters undoubtedly will tell you that at the rate of a thousand words a day it would take over 250 years to write a billion words. I know your copy read millions, not billions.

That left it up to us proofreaders to catch the error. However, since the words "billions" and "millions" have occurred as frequently in the news accounts of the last several years as the word "the," we have become careless in checking sums which run into large figures. In stories where "Yeggs crack safe, get $3.17" or "Six pay roll bandits steal $14.23" I always double check the figures.

But millions or billions, that's just small tangerines. Cos [of the proofroom gang].

AH, EAGER TREE.

Ah, eager tree that forward leans
To kiss this river dark and deep,
The sapper at your roots who means
To take you in his restless sweep,

Like you full many a one I knew,
Crowned with the morning of his years,
Who kissed the hand that brought him rue,
And bitter woe, too deep for tears.

William F. Garman.

The true climax to "Dame Nature," the Theater Guild's new play, has been completely missed. This comedy of adolescent parenthood should end with the schoolboy father's appearance in his first pair of long pants.

"CONDITION" YOUR COLON.

ONE of our commonest complaints—a "sluggish bowel"—is handled all too frequently in a most unthinking manner. Unless we view the situation as actually worthy of study, the alternative—taking a laxative—follows the line of least resistance. In every respect this is comparable to stuffing an old rag into a hole in a window pane. It is a makeshift. True enough, there are circumstances in which drugs of this character are not only highly desirable but demanded urgently. This does not apply, however, to the millions of purgative users who resort to such devices daily.

About thirty years ago a distinguished physician ascribed most of our intestinal troubles to the greediness of the bowel. In other words, the hunger of the mucous lining may be so great—the absorption so complete—that far too little residue remains. There is not enough bulk to stimulate the muscle to push along the intestinal contents. While an empty stomach will contract and notify its owner that food is desirable, an empty bowel resolves itself into a hibernating state—sleepy and inactive.

This observation led to the thought that bulky, nondigestible material added to food would bring about the desired effect. It was considered that if something could be found which would retain a large quantity of water, the results would be even more favorable. Thus seaweed [agar-agar] was suggested and found to be beneficial in those cases wherein a dormant digestive tract needed stimulation.

Liquid paraffin was also recommended inasmuch as it represented an oily substance which could not be absorbed. Numerous modifications of each of these elements, to some of which a vegetable or chemical cathartic has been added, are now on the market.

At one time there was a great vogue for psyllium seed, but many individuals could not use this at all because the seeds were passed practically unchanged and occasionally a substantial amount of irritation of the mucous membrane was experienced.

The relief of constipation depends upon reëducating the digestive tube—teaching such habits of behavior as can be relied upon. While diet will help, greater success has followed the taking of a glass or two of water immediately on arising in the morning. This fluid may be augmented with coffee or tea at breakfast, which may include some fruit. Even obstinate, stubborn structures can be taught to carry out their functions if a regular schedule is established. An hour or so after breakfast is the best possible period for many, as food taken on an empty stomach stimulates the colon to contract.

At the beginning of treatment the simplest and least harmful of all bowel stimulants is senna. Its dose can be regulated accurately and its influence is quite the opposite of the explosive blasting of some widely used laxatives. Richard Burton, in his "Anatomy of Melancholy," says of senna, "It is a wonderful help against melancholy, it scours the blood, lightens the spirits, shakes off sorrow, and is a most profitable medicine." If some assistance is required, purchase the pods at a drug store and soak them in cold water for several hours. This process will eliminate the colic producing ingredients.

Before beginning "reëducation" the physician should make sure that no obstruction is present. Then some mild stimulant may be needed, such as compound licorice powder. But even this valuable aid should not be depended upon. It is the starter in the establishment of a regular routine which our friends, the physiologists, call a "conditioned reflex." As the habit becomes stronger, even this modest help may be dispensed with entirely.

I often wonder at the bravery of certain individuals, or should we term it folly? No one of us would be willing to rub into the skin many of the medicines which we swallow calmly and which may assault so vigorously the delicate, velvety lining of the alimentary canal. One good view of the congestion induced by some of our popular purges—which are supposed to act while one slumbers—would be convincing. We cannot live the simple life because these times will not let us, but we can look upon drugs and medicines as lifesaving rather than whips for daily employment.

CANCER OF LARYNX.

R. C. L. writes: Your article "Hoarseness May Signify Cancer" was of great interest to me. I became hoarse after a severe laryngitis. A throat specialist found a nodule on one of the vocal cords, which he removed. It was nonmalignant. My hoarseness continued and finally, seven years after it first appeared, an advanced cancer of the larynx was discovered and this structure was removed. Soon thereafter I learned to speak with the buccal voice without the artificial device. My only objection to this is that after getting thoroughly into the habit of using it, I tend to swallow too much air, which causes an occasional colic. While I am able to make myself understood [using the phone, etc.] without the artificial larynx, I still much prefer it for dictation and business conferences. This operation has in no way affected my activities, which I carry on to the same extent as before the operation.

REPLY.

Your history is not unusual. An early irritation smoldered along without malignant degeneration for several years, whereupon rapid growth necessitated removal of the larynx.

I am delighted to know that you have learned to phonate without the use of the artificial larynx. However, distension of the stomach and of the esophagus often occurs in using the buccal voice. Congratulations on your selection of skilled physicians and your philosophy of life.

SEND FOR LIST.

F. R. writes: I am taking a course in hygiene in high school and the project we are working on now requires us to get together a scrapbook of articles pertaining to the subject. Our teacher suggested that you might have some helpful material. Have you anything of this kind to send me?

REPLY.

We have leaflets on several hundred subjects. Send a stamped, addressed envelope for a list from which you can select what you think would be of interest to you.

ALIENS TAKING JOBS.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—As a union working man I want to protest against the wholesale unloading of foreign refugees into this country. I know personally 12 instances where these refugees have taken jobs from American citizens.

Any employer who is so devoid of interest in the welfare of his country, as to discharge American citizens and employ aliens in their stead is not entitled to the advantages our country offers.

These practices are bound to result in racial strife and bitterness.

A UNION MAN.

WANTS THE ORCHESTRA BACK.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—We pay as much to see a good movie now as we did when they had an orchestra of from twenty to forty pieces. Nothing gives us such a sweet thrill as the tuning up for the overture and the tiny light at the end of the director's baton. Even if we had to pay a few cents more, the orchestra should come back. The illustrated songs, too, take us into a dream world and we forget our troubles at least temporarily. We saw Charlie Chaplin's duplicate on the north side recently and he made us sigh for the good old days. Radio singing and music and canned music are both marvelous discoveries which we could not now do without, but we like to see the performers in person when we attend a show. The smaller theaters could encourage talent by employing a good singer for the illustrated songs.

By coöperating and putting as many musicians and singers back to work as possible all movie theaters would perhaps equal the automobile trade in "helping men and women to come back."

But what about the bookkeepers and assistant bookkeepers who were laid off when the twice a month pay days went into effect. Has any one any remedy for that? This also affects the stores and their employés. Weekly pay days would bring back uniform buying.

B. AND B.

WOULD AID DIES INQUIRY.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—It is apparent that the Dies congressional investigating committee is deliberately being given the "runaround" by the administration, and it will be a calamity if the work of this earnest group be hampered through lack of funds. Therefore it has occurred to me that inasmuch as this patriotic work is jeopardized through insufficient funds it would be helpful for patriotic citizens to contribute a small amount in order that Mr. Dies and his committee may carry on. Could THE TRIBUNE act as a depository for funds and give this cause some publicity? I personally am anxious to donate some time and money to this patriotic work.

WILLIAM RYER WRIGHT.

QUOTING THOREAU.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—"Most men would feel insulted if it were proposed to employ them in throwing stones over a wall, and then in throwing them back, merely that they might earn their wages. But many are no more worthily employed now."

Thus wrote Henry David Thoreau in "Life Without Principle," first published, posthumously, in The Atlantic Monthly, October, 1863.

I wonder how many are no better employed now [75 years later] and what per cent of them feel insulted?

HE'S WAITED IN VAIN.

Aurora, Ill., Nov. 3.—Is it too much to expect of a man who has been honored by being twice elected to the highest office in the gift of our nation—the office of President—to mention the fact that he is President of the greatest nation ever formed? I have waited six years to hear him say those few words, which mean much to all real Americans, but not a whisper. Maybe we are unworthy of his paternalism. Instead of a word of praise for our nation, he has used his great office to create enmity, class hatred, and suspicion.

JUST A POCKET FULL OF DREAMS.

Eureka, Ill., Nov. 7.—Whoever wrote the new song hit that has been coming in over the radio and was the theme song hit of one of the late moving pictures was thinking of Franklin Delirious Roosevelt. The song is "I've Got a Pocket Full of Dreams." That's all he has got.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—I know a fellow who wears rubbers, carries an ancient umbrella, has a metal toothpick, agrees with his wife's choice of radio programs, puts the cat out, and leaves the poker session at 11 sharp. "He's Old Man Acquiescence himself."

But even this domesticated nonentity gets no kick out of watching twenty-two intellectual chess addicts perform terpsichorean maneuvers on a gridiron. I can understand why Northwestern should be cheerful and proud.

HIS VOTE IS FOR DOGS.

Austin, Ill., Nov. 2.—R. W. O. is mistaken about cats. They seldom catch rats; mice, yes. I live in Austin and have a neighbor whose little dog catches an average of three rats a week. Cats are a menace, killing birds by the thousands every year.

I'll cast my vote for the dog every time. Why is it no license is required for cats?

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

BUILDING REPAIRS.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—[Friend of the People.]—A friend of mine has just moved into an old dilapidated building which should be condemned. The floors are so saggy walking over them makes one dizzy. Please be so kind and investigate this place. Will be looking in the paper for your reply.

M. E.

Our inspector reports that this building is in a dilapidated condition. The owner has been notified to make repairs necessary to put said building in a good and safe condition.

If the work is not done at the expiration of time allotted in our notice we will proceed according to law.

1. Would it be better to make a will or let the matter be settled by the laws governing these cases?

2. If a will is made could the son act as executor if so named in the will?

G. M.

1. A will could save the expense of furnishing surety on an administrator's bond. This might exceed the fee of an attorney employed to draw up the will.

2. Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PROBATION OFFICERS.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—[Friend of the People.]—Please tell me what the necessary qualifications are for probation officers for juvenile delinquents in Chicago. Also what steps should one take in applying for such a position?

SUPREME COURT TO REVIEW CASE AGAINST DINNEEN

Buckman Scandal Appeal Taken Under Advisement

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin Supreme court today took under advisement the appeal of William M. Dinneen, former secretary of the state public service commission, who is seeking to halt his prosecution on charges of fraudulently protecting the bankrupt B. F. Buckman securities firm, which collapsed in November, 1937.

Dinneen was represented before the high court by Ray T. McCann, Milwaukee attorney, on his appeal for a writ of habeas corpus, which had been denied by Circuit Judge A. C. Hoppmann of Dane county.

McCann argued that no evidence was introduced at a preliminary hearing in the lower court directly connecting Dinneen with the disappearance of letters of complaint from investors in Buckman securities. These letters, the state contends, were "diverted" to Buckman officials instead of being forwarded to the Wisconsin Securities division.

New Law Costs His Job.

Dinneen was legislated out of his $5,000 a year state job by the 1937 reorganization act, which abolished the office of secretary of the state public service commission and created in its place the position of director. The same act transferred the securities division from the public service to the tax commission.

The state has charged that Dinneen, who directed the public service commission's main office, kept complaining investors' letters from reaching securities officials, turning them over instead to two Buckman officials—B. E. Buckman, president, and L. C. George, vice president—both of whom now are serving state prison terms.

McCann also questioned whether Dinneen, even if responsible for the disappearance of certain letters, would be guilty of a criminal act. No testimony was presented, McCann argued, to show that Dinneen received or hoped to receive any gain by allegedly supplying Buckman officials with the letters of complaint, or copies of them, that were mailed to the commission.

Appearing as special counsel for the state, William H. Spohn argued that B. E. Buckman "ordered" complaints about his company's activities sent to his office, and that Dinneen, as custodian of public service commission records, was directly responsible for the disappearance of official commission correspondence.

In May of this year three high Buckman officials were sent to prison for violation of the Wisconsin securities law. Dinneen also is fighting a state tax commission assessment of $18,592, for back income taxes on alleged unreported income for the years 1925-'37, inclusive.

College Conference Takes Up Problem of Lower Schools

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Competition for jobs in the elementary schools keeps teachers on their toes, according to Dr. H. M. Gage, president of Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Ia. Dr. Gage spoke at the regional conference of the Association of American Colleges, meeting at Milwaukee Downer college today. Because of this competition, he said, much of the best teaching in the country is in elementary schools.

"There the work is watched and constantly evaluated by outside agencies and by teachers of higher grades in the same schools," he said. "Such criticism often is absent in the secondary schools and colleges.

"College teachers sometimes live in seclusion, depend on their own judgments and become set in their opinions, rejecting or ignoring views with which they do not agree."

Urges Personal Programs.

Dr. John L. Seaton, president of Albion college, Albion, Mich., declared education must be personalized and adapted to the individual, creating a close relation between student and teacher.

The Rev. Samuel K. Wilson, S. J., president of Loyola university, asserted that education, to be effective, must recognize the existence of spiritual realities.

"Recognition of the spirit is fundamental—not only to the individual, but to education as a whole," he said. "Out of it flows the recognition of natural rights. Denial of the principle causes the trend toward dictatorship in which man is a machine existing solely for the state."

More job training is needed for educators, rather than over emphasis on general education, in the opinion of Dr. Guy E. Snavely, president of Birmingham Southern college, Birmingham, Ala. He is executive director of the Association of American Colleges.

Must Maintain Balance.

"It is necessary," he said, "that the balance between private colleges and state universities be maintained. Only thus can American education avoid being regimented as in the dictator nations."

"One of the chief aims of education, which seems to be by way of becoming forgotten, is that the individual must be taught to direct his emotions intelligently, as well as to use his intellect," said Dr. C. E. Wildman, president of DePauw university at Greencastle, Ind. He said there is too much chaotic thinking and lost motion everywhere.

SPANISH REBELS OPEN DAM GATES TO HALT ATTACK

Loyalists Win 3 Towns Across Segre River.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish Frontier], Nov. 8.—(AP)—Spanish rebels were reported tonight to have opened floodgates of Pyrenees mountain dams in an effort to wash out the loyalists' Segre river offensive.

Dispatches from Barcelona, telling of the move, said it was unsuccessful. These advices said the level of the Segre south of Lerida was raised only a few inches.

The loyalist offensive crossed the Segre river below Lerida and captured the villages of Alcarraz, Aytona, and Seros on the western side. Aytona is the site of a power dam. The drive was aimed toward Fraga and it was reported the highway connecting the rebel bases of Saragossa and Lerida was cut.

Lerida Threatened.

Rebel spokesmen indicated elaborate fortifications had been built south of Lerida to "box" any government push in that zone into a triangle formed by the Segre river, the Aragon canal and the Fraga-Lerida highway. Government dispatches said, however, that militiamen already had broken through this "box" and were threatening Lerida.

Thirty miles to the south of this zone, the rebels opened a "mop up" drive to destroy loyalist forces which were isolated west of the Ebro river after the rebels captured Mora de Ebro yesterday. More than 300 planes scouted for loyalist refugees and bombed and machine gunned them.

Loyalists asserted the rebels' drive was made possible by the appearance of new Italian war materials and planes. More than 100 Italian tanks of a new small, speedy type were said to have been used. The rebel artillery was heavily reënforced.

Doubt Attack on Ship.

OSTEND, Belgium, Nov. 8.—(AP)—A Belgian tug captain, after investigating on the spot, tonight contradicted the report of a British Royal Air Force plane which indicated a Spanish rebel warship sank a Spanish government freighter off the coast of Belgium.

The captain, who was dispatched to the rescue, wirelessed that he had failed to locate the sinking freighter which the British pilot had reported sighting five miles off Wanderlaar lightship near the west mouth of the Scheldt river.

He said he was convinced the aviator was misled by seeing the wreck of the Swedish steamer Nippon which sank two months ago near the lightship, and the freighter which is attempting to salvage the wrecked vessel's cargo.

The British flyer had reported a vessel resembling the Spanish rebel auxiliary cruiser Nadir standing by, apparently after an attack. The Nadir last Wednesday sank the Spanish ship Cantabria off the English coast. Another rebel cruiser later in the week captured the government freighter Rio Mira and took her into the German port of Emden.

The tugboat captain said he patrolled 13 to 15 miles north and northeast of Ostend without finding any trace of either ship.

Slays Mother

[Acme Photo.]
EVA KOPALCHAK.

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A 17 year old girl, clad in mannish attire, was charged today with slaying the mother whose pleas had won her release from an insane asylum. The girl, Eva Kopalchak, went to the Bellevue hospital psychopathic ward on Sunday, and told doctors there that she had slain her mother. For 24 hours none believed her, thinking she was suffering from delusion. Then neighbors found the mother, Mrs. Christina Piatak, her body pierced by six rifle bullets and her skull beaten in by an iron shoe last.

JAPAN LAUNCHES AERIAL RAIDS ON 'FAR WEST' CHINA

New Fighting Breaks Out Around Canton.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG, Nov. 8.—Just after Tokio announced today a 700 mile extension of the zone of Japanese war operations to the western provinces of China, aerial bombings were resumed on a wide scale and new intensive fighting broke out near Canton, the metropolis of South China.

Japanese planes made their farthest inland raid, bombing Chengtu, the capital of Szechwan province. Twenty planes dropped more than 100 bombs on the Chengtu airfield. Chengtu is only 600 miles from the frontier of Tibet and is 170 miles northwest of Chungking, the new provisional capital of China.

Attack in Yangtze Sector.

In the central Yangtze fighting zone, Japanese bombers made a series of attacks on Yochow and Changsha, both in Hunan province southwest of Hankow. Japanese land and river forces have progressed more than sixty miles up the Yangtze from Hankow.

Canton, which the Japanese captured on Oct. 21, today heard the echoes of artillery, rifle and machine gun fire from north of the city. This indicated that Chinese troops which fled Canton had been reorganized and had launched heavy scale fighting.

The new zone of operations marked out by the Japanese includes practically all of the "far west" of China. The western limit designated by the Japanese follows a line connecting Suchow, Kansu province, with Batang and Tali, Yunnan province. This line roughly follows the 100th meridian.

The new zone apparently is aimed to halt the flow of supplies to China from French Indo-China and British Burma on the south and soviet Russia on the northwest. The western border of this zone "liable to attacks by the Japanese air forces," touches Sinkiang, Tibet, and Mongolia.

The zone includes Yunnan, Kwangsi, Kweichow, Szechwan, Shensi and Kansu provinces. Japan warned foreign powers to keep their airplanes and citizens out of the zone lest "unfortunate incidents" occur.

The zone includes Chungking, the present location of the American and other embassies.

Foreigners were asked to make their property "unmistakably visible from the air." Significantly, the Japanese said they could not assume any responsibility for the protection of property transferred by Chinese to foreigners to evade "exercise of legitimate rights by the Japanese forces," or for foreign properties used by Chinese forces "or which exist in their proximity."

Seeks Greater Sacrifice.

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Chinese Premier Dr. H. H. Kung told a mass meeting that his people "have unity but have not attained sufficient sacrifice." The premier addressed a meeting celebrating the 21st anniversary of the soviet Russian revolution yesterday.

Meanwhile, a message to the United States embassy here said the Covenant Missionary society building at Kingmen, Hupeh province, was bombed by Japanese planes last Thursday. Neither of the only two Americans there was injured.

JOINT PROTEST OF U. S., BRITAIN, AND FRANCE TO JAPAN EXPECTED

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Nov. 8. — The practical certainty that parallel diplomatic protests by the United States, France, and Great Britain against Japan's intention to shut off the Yangtze river to neutral shipping was seen here tonight.

It is known the United States has prepared a sharp note on this subject, but has held up the communication until Britain and France have had a chance to consider whether they wanted to take the same action. It is believed here they will.

The British attitude is said to be that Japanese merchant ships are allowed to use the Yangtze, but that ships of other nations which have equal rights under treaties and customs regulations have been cut off on the grounds the river is a war zone. The British question the validity of this contention. It is believed the British are inclined to agree with the United States contention, that it is a matter that affects all the three protesting nations in the same fashion and degree. British anxiety over the question is heightened by the recent Japanese military activities in South China. If the Yangtze can be treated in this fashion, the British have no reason to doubt that the same treatment will be applied to the waterways near their colony of Hongkong.

PREPARE QUINTS FOR REMOVAL OF TONSILS TODAY

Take Blood Tests; Pick Surgeon for Job.

CALLANDER, Ont., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Dr. John McCreary, chief resident physician of the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children, today took blood specimens from the Dionne quintuplets for analysis before removal of their tonsils and adenoids tomorrow.

Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, personal physician to the 4½ year old sisters, said "these are purely precautionary measures." He explained that data on the quintuplets' blood types thus would be readily available if transfusions ever were necessary.

Pick Surgeon for Operations.

Dr. Dafoe announced that Dr. D. E. Wishart, nose and throat specialist for the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children, would perform the operations.

Dr. Dafoe and Dr. Alan Brown, a child specialist, who see the children often, will remain in the background, Dr. Dafoe said. He explained that the sisters would associate pain with the one who performs the operations and he did not want them "to fear or dislike us."

He added that the children were in "sound physical condition" for the operations, which will be performed in their nursery home.

Dr. Brown was quoted by the Toronto Daily Star as reporting to the quintuplets' guardians that the tonsils and adenoids were in a "chronic state of inflammation which already accounts for the enlargement of their cervical glands."

Fears Future Complications.

The Daily Star quoted Dr. Brown further:

"This latter [enlargement of the cervical glands] is palpable evidence that the infection from their tonsils is spreading and at any time may get into the whole system, producing disastrous results such as an involvement of the heart or joints, or even a severe generalized infection with death.

"It would be difficult for any one to assume further responsibility for these babies unless their tonsils and adenoids were removed at once. This procedure should be done on all five at once and should be attended without risk under the able guidance of Dr. Dafoe."

A WANDERING BOY COOLS TO LIFE IN THE CHILLY WEST

Warren Hessell, 15 years old, 6400 North Damen avenue, went away on a hitch hike trip Oct. 4. Yesterday he returned.

"I had a good time and was never hungry," he told his mother. "I got to Wyoming and worked a few days as a sheep herder. The only reason I came home was that it was getting cold."

Two companions, Ben McCartney of 6441 North Claremont avenue and Robert Kaley of 6421 North Damen avenue, started out with Warren, but gave up the wandering life sooner. All are pupils at Senn High school.

ONE DEAD, 3 ILL IN SAME FAMILY; CAUSE STUDIED

An intestinal ailment which caused the death of one child and the serious illness of three others in the same family may have been paratyphoid fever, officials of the County hospital reported yesterday. The child victim, Caroline Maser, 10 years old, died in the hospital last Friday. The other children were recovering yesterday in their home, 527 North Wood street.

The board of health was studying the case in the belief tainted food caused the illness. Recent outbreaks of food poisoning in Elmwood park and the northwest part of Chicago, were traced to a paratyphoid germ. Paratyphoid fever is caused by a type of bacteria which attacks the intestines.

U.S. SENDS ENVOY WITH PEACE PLEA TO PERSIAN KING

Roosevelt Seeks to End Diplomatic Rift.

BY H. BASIL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Iran [Persia], Nov. 8.—A hopeful outlook on the future relations of the United States and Iran was expressed here by Wallace Murray, who brought a message from President Roosevelt.

Murray is chief of the division of near eastern affairs in the United States department of state. From 1922 to 1925 he was chargé d'affaires in the United States legation in Teheran.

Hands Letter to King.

Murray's visit caused much interest in this country, because the Iranian legation and consular offices in the United States have been closed since 1936. This was the result of a trafic incident on Nov. 27, 1935, in which Ghaffar Khan Djalal, Iranian minister was embroiled with police in Elkton, Md. They charged him with speeding and arrested him after a scuffle.

In an interview with Teheran newspaper men, Murray explained that he had been commissioned to bring a message from President Roosevelt to King Riza Khan of Iran.

The king, he said, had given him a special audience, and had instructed him to express to President Roosevelt and to the American public his sentiments of great friendship.

Lavishes Praise on Iranians.

"I now have more confidence in cordially friendly relationship between Iran and the United States, and in a rapprochement," Murray asserted. "I believe that not only can we help one another, but that we can collaborate in the work of peace and the well being of humanity."

The American people appreciated, he asserted, the confidence with which they were favored by the Iranian king and by the people of Iran. Americans, he added, fully recognize the long services to humanity rendered by Iran in the past, and are aware that today, owing to the renaissance inspired by King Riza Khan Pahlevi, Iran will coöperate in the universal work of civilization.

GERMANS IN RUMANIA DEMAND RIGHTS TO SET UP OWN SCHOOLS

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 8.—The newly formed organization of all sections of the German minority in Rumania met Sunday in Temesvar with an attendance of 10,000. Fritz Fabritius, leader of the German minority, said that the object was not to create a state within the Rumanian state, but to obtain the right to have German schools and German judges. He added that there was no need for fortifications in Rumania if the government would treat the German minority with consideration.

EXTORTION NOTES THREATEN LABOR LEADER AND WIFE

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Two extortion notes, threatening death to a labor leader and his wife, were being investigated today by Buffalo police. The case followed closely the arrest of two men in a plot to extort $20,000 from a manufacturer.

The latest recipient of death threats is Philip Collier, business agent for the Buffalo local of the Waiters' Alliance, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

Detective Sergeant John J. Crotty said two notes were placed in a mailbox at Collier's home within the last two weeks. They demanded $5,000 on pain of "cutting your throat from ear to ear and killing your wife." Police said a child's typewriter was used to write the notes.

Crotty said it had not been determined whether there was any connection between the Collier case and the plot against Alexis C. [Buddy] Barbeau, 26 years old, vice president of the S. Howes Manufacturing company at Silver Creek, N. Y. Two men were arrested in the Barbeau case Saturday.

STATE DEPT. HAILS KING'S DECISION TO COME TO U. S.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The state department is greatly pleased at the decision of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain to visit Washington next spring, but inasmuch as they will come as personal guests of President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Cordell Hull today withheld any formal comment.

State department ceremonial officers will make formal arrangements for the visit of the sovereigns. It is assumed an escort of soldiers, sailors and marines will be provided, that high army officers will be appointed aids to King George, and that Mr. Hull and other ranking government officials will meet the royal guests at Union station.

The king and queen will be White House guests for the duration of their visit. Probably there will be a state dinner in the White House.

GERMANS ATTACK JEWS TO AVENGE PARIS SHOOTING

Vicious War of Reprisal Led by Hitler.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—The fear that has been gnawing at the hearts of all Jews ever since one of their faith killed Wilhelm Gustloff, Nazi leader in Switzerland, has turned into tragic reality for the Jews who still live in pan-Germany. They have known for years that if any attempt against the life of a German was made by a Jew they would suffer violent reprisals from the anti-Semitic groups.

[Gustloff was killed Feb. 4, 1936, in Davos, Switzerland, by David Frankfurter, 26 years old, a Jewish medical student. Frankfurter was sentenced to eighteen years in prison on Dec. 14, 1936.]

Nazi reprisals for yesterday's shooting of Ernst von Rath, secretary in the Germany embassy at Paris, by Herschel Grynszpan, 17 years old, a Polish Jew, began today.

Drench Jews with Hose.

Kassel was the first town to vent its rage. Jews were driven out of their homes and herded together in a public square, where a fire hose was turned on them. The drenched Jews then were chased into the icy basements of a brewery.

An official communique merely said that "as an answer to the Jewish provocation in Paris, in the shape of a cowardly attempted murder, big spontaneous demonstrations of the public against the Jewish population took place in Hessen." Kassel and Bebra were among the Hessen cities where reprisals against Jews were carried out.

In Berlin many stores owned by Jews were closed this afternoon in fear of attack. Some Jewish restaurants and coffee houses were closed by the police "to restrict the possibility of clashes."

Berlin's chief of police announced that "all Jews have been disarmed." For weeks the police have been searching homes of Jews and confiscating whatever weapons they had. The police had requested the Jewish owners of weapons to "turn them over voluntarily."

Seize Knives of Jews.

"The result shows clearly," it was said, "what a great amount of arms were and are still in the hands of Jews in Berlin. The action netted 2,569 knives or knuckles, 1,702 firearms, and 20,000 rounds of ammunition."

The Jewish Cultural organization which, under official supervision, organized concerts and theater performances and similar social functions for the Jewish population, was dissolved. All Jewish publications were suspended.

In Nazi party circles it was declared that Reichsfuehrer Hitler has taken the reprisals against the Jews into his own hands. Nazi leaders said that Hitler listened to the report of the attempt on the life of Von Rath in Paris "with ominous silence and calm."

Urge Police Grip on Jews.

The anti-Semitic leaders asked Hitler to forbid Jews to change residences without police permission. They demanded that Jews be compelled to register with the police daily, the same as enemy aliens had to register with the police in wartime. A decree forbidding Aryans to associate with Jews also was urged by anti-Semitic leaders who want Aryans to be branded as traitors if they continue their private or business friendships with Jews.

It was expected that many Jews will be arrested in Germany in the next twenty-four hours as a result of an official order to investigate "the possibility of connections between the Paris assassin and Jews in Germany."

Since relatives of Grynszpan, who attacked the secretary, lived in Germany before they were deported, the investigation will involve many German and Polish Jews.

Dicker Over Fate of Jews.

Negotiations between Germany and Poland regarding the fate of the Polish Jews lingering on the Polish-German border remains uncertain. Josef Lipski, Polish ambassador, today conferred with Ernst von Weizsaecker, secretary of state in the foreign office, but the foreign office asserted that the matter will not be settled for a few more days. It is possible that Hitler will insist on his right to expel all "undesirable Polish Jews from Germany."

NAZIS ACCUSE U. S. OF STIRRING HATE IN LATIN AMERICA

Charge Campaign Is Aimed at Germany.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Deutsche Diplomatisch-Politische Korrespondenz, organ of the German foreign office, today accused the United States of attempting to incite South American nations against Germany in a campaign carried on by "the highest official quarters."

The correspondence service said the campaign was designed to convince South Americans of "the evil intentions of the fascist states."

The attack appeared as a reply to a radio address Sunday by Sumner Welles, United States undersecretary of state. Welles said the United States was prepared to join other states of the new world in preserving the western hemisphere from "any threat of attack."

Hits Dabbling Abroad.

"This sort of propaganda, coming from official quarters, means an undisguised dabbling in the politics of the countries in question," Korrespondenz said, "along with a simultaneous attempt to bring other peoples into an atmosphere of discord with authoritarian powers.

"Happily, this attempt so far in no way has been shared by a majority of people and governments.

"It is known that the United States will neglect nothing, especially in connection with the colonial question, to stir up a fear of Germany complex in South America."

Called Campaign of "Fables."

Korrespondenz went on to say that the campaign had not succeeded, "for the public in these countries does not yet really believe these fables."

"If Americans, by calling upon their Monroe doctrin, attempt to protect South American states, then it is their [South Americans'] business to consider ways and means of protecting their independence and the possibilities of living in peace with other continents," Korrespondenz continued.

"As far as Europe is concerned it is to be hoped that this new world attempt to disturb peace will strengthen the impression of clear thinking European peoples that every effort will be made by the United States to play nations one against the other in order to strengthen its political and economic influence in the world, even at the cost of blood sacrifices by others."

JEW WHO SHOT NAZI ENVOY ASKS ROOSEVELT'S AID

PARIS, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Herschel Grynszpan, the young Polish Jew who shot and gravely wounded the German embassy's third secretary yesterday, today told detectives that he had written President Roosevelt to assist his parents into the United States.

"I had hoped the President would take pity on us," the youth said, "but before he could have received the letter my parents were ordered out of Germany and driven into Poland."

The victim of his attack, Ernst von Rath, underwent a blood transfusion today and was in critical condition from wounds in the abdomen and shoulder. Two doctors sent by Adolf Hitler from Berlin—his personal physician, Dr. Brandt, and Dr. Georg Magnus—arrived during the day.

Detectives said Grynszpan told them: "I didn't want to kill. I felt I had to do something to show our despair. I lost my head—I've done a horrible thing."

ONE FALSE MOVE ALARMS A ROOKIE ON POLICE FORCE

Bells Jangle When He Uses Call Box

A false fire alarm was turned in at 5:36 a. m. yesterday from a box at 61st and State streets. There can be no doubt about that. But what happened after the box was pulled—as it is phrased—and before the first fire appartus arrived is largely conjecture.

It is quite possible that an unnerved and embarrassed rookie policeman might have been seen making himself very scarce indeed. That, however, is getting ahead of the story.

It was just 5:36 a. m. that Thomas F. Gray, a truck driver, was making a delivery in a building at 61st and State. Gray, who lives at 7924 Harvard avenue, said that as he was descending the stairs he heard the harsh jangle of the bell in the fire alarm box.

He Sees a Policeman.

"I hurried outside," he said, "thinking that my helper might have seen a fire in the neighborhood and was calling the department. Instead, I saw a policeman standing in front of the box, giving the handle turn after turn.

"I rushed up and asked him where the fire was. He said, 'There ain't any fire. I've been trying to call my station but, dang it, they won't answer.'

"When he said this," Gray went on, "I took a good look at him and saw he was just a young fellow. I said 'you are about 100 per cent wrong. That green box over there is the one you want. You've just turned in a fire alarm.'

"He looked like he'd seen a ghost. 'O my gosh!' he said, 'what will I do now?' I told him he'd better stay and explain to the firemen when they arrived. Then I asked him how it had happened.

"He explained that he was a rookie and was still going to the police school. He had been ordered out for special duty on election day and was trying to let his superiors know he was on the job. But, unfortunately, he hadn't been taught how to use a call box."

An Eerie Wail Is Heard.

Mr. Gray had work to do, so he left the unhappy rookie standing on the corner twisting his hands. By this time the eerie wail of sirens could be heard as fire trucks rumbled toward the scene.

But when truck No. 30 arrived there was no rookie, according to Lieut. McDonnell, who was in charge. Chief Howard Andrews of the 12th battalion stated that when his car rolled up, Lieut. McDonnell and the captain of engine company No. 61 said nothing about a rookie policeman.

The only thing on record is that there was a false alarm at 61st and State streets at 5:36 a. m.

KING'S U. S. VISIT VERY IMPORTANT, BRITAIN IS TOLD

Ruler to Carry Message of Good Will.

LONDON, Nov. 8. — (AP) — King George VI. ceremoniously opened a new session of parliament today with the precedent shattering announcement that, accompanied by Queen Elizabeth, he would be the first reigning British sovereign to visit the American soil his ancestors lost 162 years ago.

The king said he was "happy to accept" President Roosevelt's invitation to visit the United States during the royal Canadian tour next spring.

A glittering assembly of peers and peeresses clad in scarlet and ermine, bishops, members of the house of commons, and diplomats heard the king's words which opened the second parliamentary session of his reign.

Approves Foreign Policy.

Wearing the scarlet and gold uniform of a field marshal, the monarch read a speech outlining Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's legislative program for 1938-'39 and viewing with approval his foreign policy of the past momentous year.

The king welcomed his American visit as a "practical expression of the good feeling that prevails between our countries." At the same time he disclosed President Albert Lebrun of France had been invited to London next spring to repay the British royal visit to Paris last July.

Chamberlain, speaking in debate that followed the king's speech, declared the royal visit to the United States was of "outstanding importance," and said the sovereigns would take "a warm message of good will from the people of these islands to the great republic of the new world."

May Travel on the Hood.

How the royal trip to Canada and the United States will be made was not disclosed, but there was speculation that the king and queen might travel on the Hood, called the world's largest battle cruiser.

King George in his speech viewed the British-Italian Easter friendship agreement, which is about to be brought into force, as a step in the furthering of the cause of European peace. He said his government would "do all in their power to promote the development of good understanding in the spirit of the joint Anglo-German declaration made at Munich on the thirteenth of September last."

[The understanding, reached by Chamberlain and Adolf Hitler, declared "the desires of our two peoples never to go to war with one another again."]

Ready to Help Stop Wars.

Asserting that his ministers "deeply regret the continuance of hostilities in Spain," the king said they would lend assistance in any way toward the restoration of peace in that country.

He said also Britain was ready at any time, if desired by the parties to the dispute in the far east, to aid in reaching a settlement in the Chinese-Japanese war.

Chamberlain, in speaking of the government's general program, promised energetic measures to speed up the nation's rearmaments without elaborating on specific plans.

He cited favorable trade symptoms "such as the revival of business in the United States" as a sign the 1938 trade recession might soon be over.

"I take no gloomy view of the future," he said while his Conservative supporters cheered.

Awaits Reply to Complaints.

Chamberlain did not reply to complaints by Maj. Clement R. Atlee, opposition leader, that the king's speech made no mention of the league of nations while discussing foreign affairs of the empire.

Atlee described the legislative program outlined as that of a "weary, tired, and feeble government," and expressed surprise no mention was made of the projected British-American trade agreement.

"The house should be told," he said, "if such negotiations have been dropped."

Chamberlain was guardedly vague on the matter of trade talks which he said were proceeding with the United States, adding that "there is no necessity to suppose we have dropped them."

SIGNALMAN DIES AT POST.

Belviedere, Ill., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Fred A. Clogston, 63 years old, veteran telegrapher for the North Western railroad, was found dead last night in his signal tower at Fulton, apparently of heart disease. Trainmen, investigating when the signals did not operate, found the body.

GLAD HE KILLED FORMER BANKER, HOTEL MAN SAYS

Iron River, Wis., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—G. Alvin Berquist, elderly former hotel operator of Ashland, Wis., told police today, as he awaited arraignment on a charge of first degree murder, that he was glad he had killed John D. Pettingill, former Iron River banker.

Pettingill, 40 years old, was shot down in his home here last night as his mother, Mrs. Nellie Pettingill, 70 years old, looked on helplessly. Berquist, 61 years old, said Pettingill had refused to turn over money due him for bonds left at the Iron River bank, now defunct, which the Pettingill family operated about twenty years.

Mrs. Pettingill said Berquist came to the house early in the evening and quarreled with her son about money. He threatened the elderly woman and her son with a gun, the police were told, disregarding pleas that he put his weapon away and talk the matter over calmly.

When Pettingill insisted Berquist had no money coming the gunman opened fire. He continued firing after his first shot had felled Pettingill, sending bullet after bullet into the wounded man's body as his victim tried to crawl toward a door, Mrs. Pettingill related. He fired eleven shots into Pettingill, stopping to refill his revolver twice.

After the shooting Berquist fled in Pettingill's automobile. Police summoned by Mrs. Pettingill arrested him as he drove slowly toward Superior, Wis.

LOVE SPURNED, WOMAN KILLS ITALIAN PRINCE

Victim a Close Friend of Royal Family.

MILAN, Italy, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Prince Luigi Alberico Trivulzio, wealthy Milanese nobleman, was shot and killed tonight by a woman who said he was her lover and had abandoned her after 15 years.

Friends of the prince said the woman, who gave her name as Maria Antonietta Lazzarini, 40 years old, of Padua, must have had a mental aberration since the prince was known as a sober family man. He was 69 years old.

Close to Royal Family.

The prince, whose widow is a lady in waiting to Queen Elena of Italy, and whose daughter, the countess of Brivio, is married to a gentleman in waiting to Crown Princess Marie Jose, had just stepped from a fashionable café on the city's principal avenue, Corso Vittorio Emanuele, when he was hailed by the woman.

They stepped into a dim side street and, after a few words of argument, the shooting ensued only a few steps from Milan's famed 14th century cathedral, the Duomo.

The woman fired five shots. All entered his body, puncturing his lungs, heart, and back. The woman hurried away, but was apprehended by a passerby despite her protestations of "I know nothing."

Widow Faints at Deathbed.

Police said she later confessed killing the prince and that she had come to Milan to demand money and protest her abandonment.

The prince fell unconscious against a wall, where he remained slumped until taken away in a taxicab to an emergency hospital, where he died. His body was removed to his home, where a death chamber was prepared.

His widow hurried to his side at the hospital and fainted. It was understood she was at home tonight in a state of near collapse. She is well known not only as a lady in waiting to the queen, but also because she formerly was secretary of a feminine Fascist group in Milan. The victim's late father was a senator.

GIRL BRIDE, 11, HOME; HUSBAND IS SENT TO JAIL

Douglas, Ga., Nov. 8.—(AP)—A bride, 11 years old, was returned to the home of her parents in Coffee county tonight, while her husband of one day was jailed on a charge of kidnaping. They are Elzie Dale, 22 years old, and Louise Dale, first cousins.

An indictment against the husband will be sought at the next term of the grand jury, Gibson said, but the girl was released in custody of her parents.

The man persuaded the girl to leave school yesterday without the knowledge of her parents or teachers, Gibson reported, and they were married by "a blind preacher at Broxton, Ga." Ordinary S. A. Summerlin issued the marriage license at Pearson, in Atkinson county, Gibson continued, upon the statement of Elzie Dale that the girl was 18.

Best Sellers.

Best sellers are not as phenomenal as they used to be. Nowadays if a book sells 50,000 copies within a year after publication it's a best seller. . . . In an earlier era they sold by the millions. . . . Ben Hur, for instance, and Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm, and the Personal Memoirs of U. S. Grant. . . . In His Steps sold 10,000,000 copies. . . . The figures are those of Clifton Fadiman, speaking at the Woman's Athletic club yesterday, in that crisp, slightly detached, humorous and urbane manner radio listeners have become accustomed to in "Information Please."

There are today "subterranean" best sellers that outsell all novels, he pointed out. Fanny Farmer's Cook Book, which sells 150,000 copies each year. . . . And the Bible, "in spite of the best efforts of the Gideons to give it away." . . . Best sellers become so: [1] If respectable people—the pillars of society—attack it. Then all the nonpillars rush to buy it. Jurgen, for example. After Mr. Sumner attacked Mr. Cabell's book on moral grounds, "thousands of New Yorkers who could hardly read rushed instantly to buy it." . . . [2] Selection by a book club. . . . [3] Through clever advertising. . . . An example, Will Durant's Story of Philosophy, which sold 300,000 copies at $5, although before it was put out in book form you could buy it in twelve five cent pamphlets for sixty cents. . . . A line from Dostoevski, plastered in newspaper advertising, was largely responsible: Give me not millions, but the answers to my questions.

Literary Cups of Coffee.

The books that people buy because they will be helpful in leading a better life—the wake-up-and-live, how-to-acquire-friends-and-influence-people type—are, without exception, nonsense, Mr. Fadiman said. They're "literary cups of coffee" that give a lift for a short time. . . . "Americans have a gigantic inferiority complex. You would never catch an Englishman buying a book of that type."

After the financial crash of 1929 Mr. Fadiman decided a book of the gags on the crash would sell and called up Eddie Cantor to ask him to collect them for immediate publication. Cantor refused. "Twenty per cent of the royalties," baited Fadiman. . . . It was out the third day after the crash and sold 28,000 copies in 72 hours. . . . "Ten days later you couldn't sell a copy for love or money; even the drug stores couldn't sell it."

Publishers' Pick.

A dog-eared manuscript that had been rejected by eight publishing houses came to Fadiman's desk when he was a reader for a publishing house. . . . He thought it interesting, quaint; that it might sell some 8,000 copies. It sold 250,000 copies quickly. The book was Trader Horn. . . . Shortly after, when Fadiman was editor of a publishing house, he rejected a manuscript from the Grand Duchess Marie. . . . He didn't see why Jeffersonian Democrats like himself should want to read about grand dukes and czars, and how the grand duchess escaped from soviet Russia, "although I don't see how soviet Russia escaped from the grand duchess, myself." . . . He rejected it and another house published The Education of a Princess to the tune of 150,000 copies.

Title Suggestion.

It was between the acts of the beautifully handled play about 15 year old parents at the Erlanger, and one dowager was speaking to another:

"I should think they would call it 'Damn Nature' instead of 'Dame Nature'," she said.

Diner's Dilemma.

A man invited to dinner arrived and was shown where to leave his hat and coat. The outer habiliments of two other guests were already there, a top hat and Inverness, and a shapeless tweed coat and battered slouch hat. Nice cartoon idea.

Violin Player in Symphony Is Solo Success

Robert Quick is the sensitive looking young violinist who sits at John Weicher's left on the stage of Orchestra hall and serves as assistant concert master of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Yesterday he abandoned his accustomed place to make his first appearance as soloist with the orchestra. The occasion was the second of the Tuesday afternoon concerts. Frederick Stock conducted.

Mr. Quick gave a restrained and highly intelligent performance of the solo part of Saint-Saëns' third violin concerto. An attractive though somewhat austere tone, a technical foundation which makes of most mechanical difficulties the merest child's play, and a personality which combines dignity and modesty—all of these contributed their mite to the success of the performance and to the warm and long continued applause which followed it.

The young violinist gives his phrases definite direction and an often startling plastic beauty. He never demeans himself to an effect for its own sake, but scrupulously relates the business of the moment to his conception of the piece as a whole.

Butterfly chops aren't one of those mythically royal dishes, like hummingbirds' tongues. They're good, common meat, cut from the loins of a porker. And because they aren't hard to prepare, they have a place in this short-cut dinner.

If you're used to applesauce, fried apples or baked ones as an accompaniment to pork, veer from the usual for once and try cranberries. You'll find them equally good.

BUTTERFLY PORK CHOPS

These are boned chops cut from the loin. They are cooked as are other pork chops, by braising. Brown them on both sides in their own fat, season with salt and pepper [and just a breath of garlic, if you like], then cover and turn the heat low. Cook on top of the stove or in the oven until the chops are very tender, about 45 minutes.

CELERIAC SALAD

Slice celeriac or celry root very thinly, and combine with French dressing. Serve on lettuce with a sprinkling of chives, if desired.

Fig Whip
[Serves Four]
1 cup sieved canned figs [drained]
2 egg whites
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Beat egg whites and salt together until egg whites are stiff but not dry. Add sugar a little at a time. Continue to beat. Fold in sieved figs to which lemon juice has been added. Pile in sherbert glasses. Keep in refrigerator until ready to serve.

If you haven't canned figs at hand, and don't care to buy them, substitute another fruit. Mashed bananas, sieved cooked prunes or apricots, mashed canned cherries, in fact, almost any other fruit may be used instead.

Ballet Program 3-Way Success for Littlefield

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Good choreographers [composers of ballet and dance routines] are rare. Good pantomimists are rare. Good dancers are rare. If all three are found wrapped up together in one and the same person the phenomenon is worth shouting about. That is why last evening's Civic Opera house performance by the Littlefield ballet turned into a personal triumph for Catherine Littlefield.

It was she who did the choreography for "Terminal," she who mimed with delicate wit the part of the Hollywood star, she who gave such a startling demonstration of pure, nonrepresentative dancing in "Fantasia."

"Terminal" is a pat commentary on American life. It presents a dozen familiar characters and gently satirizes the more likable pieces of daffiness that go to make up the national scene. A big railroad station unifies the whole, providing a plausible enough setting for incoming and outgoing divorcées, crooners, radio announcers, honeymooners, and Hollywood folk.

Hilarious little touches [the convulsively lifted hand of the mouth organ player, the pertly held heads of the divorcées, the crooner's passionate microphone address, the courtly gestures of the announcer] testified to the powers of imagination and of observation which went to the composition of the piece.

The Hollywood star herself became in Miss Littlefield's hands the incarnation of delicious opportunism. She posed as housewife, gardener, bathing beauty.

"Fantasia" was a world première, and turned out to be an effective bit of well connected choreography [by Jack Potteiger] which gave Miss Littlefield [and other members of the group] opportunities for dazzling solo dancing.

A great asset of the Littlefield ballet is its willingness to keep simple entertainment values highlighted even when it ventures into philosophy or social criticism. Quite aside from its implications, "Terminal" is splendid, eye filling, and a thoroughly good show. Little as this review seems to suggest such a thing, the whole company was present last evening and going like sixty.

Smart Design Is Featured in Sleeper Suits

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Toast warm sleeping togs have arrived for the fresh air fiends who stay on sleeping porches no matter what the temperature reports may be! Trig tailored sleeping suits have been designed by an inspired and sympathetic soul, keenly insistent upon the idea that comfort doesn't mean something shapeless.

These new sleeper suits have all the nonchalant swank of masculine lounge outfits; they're made with plenty of freedom yet they fit smoothly and have the air of smartly tailored clothes for daytime.

The fabric is a soft, cuddly, brushed cotton. Around the neck and cuffs are bands of snug elastic knit. The sleeper itself is cut in one piece, neatly belted, has long comfortable sleeves, and snug high round neckline and trousers cut like ski pants. This sleeper is then matched to skull fitting hood, mitts, and socks. If this isn't superarctic protection then nothing ever will be. No off-gray tints or dreary looking weird colors, just the best shades possible, a sky blue and tea rose pink.

The entire ensemble is yours for almost a song, just a short verse of a song, way under the $5 limit. Therefore, no one needs to feel guilty about owning enough of the smoothies to see you through a bad winter.

Fashion photograph . . . a brand new spectator sports outfit for the week-ender's wardrobe. The wool dress is of bright color, and the clever fur lumber jacket top is made of baronduki fur tied in snugly at the waist with a drawstring of lether. Sleeves in the lumber jacket top are of contrasting colored wool, loosely cut, then gathered into masculine smart cuffs.

Children Irk Mother Who Is Overfatigued

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

The children are terrible, you say to yourself as wearily you get ready for bed. They haven't always been like this, you go on thinking drearily, and other people's children don't seem to be so impossible. What's the matter with them, anyway? "Or," depressing thought, "perhaps the whole trouble is with me. As a mother, I'm just a failure, that's all," you conclude, and crawl into bed feeling utterly futile.

Did it ever occur to you that the reason for all the children's chaotic behavior and your own despair may be a very simple one? Namely, that you're completely tired out, chronically over fatigued? Being over tired can make you nervous, bring you 'way below par, affect your digestion and sleep. When this is the state of affairs you are almost certain to be unable to manage the children.

Your values get all mixed when you're not yourself.

Nervousness and fatigue, sometimes resulting from illness, worry or overexertion, change the color of everything. A woman I know who is recovering from a tragedy in her family said to me: "I get along quite well if I keep rested. But if I do too much I'm lost. My poise, by hard won resignation, my surface cheerfulness collapse." That's an example of what I mean.

When you're over tired normal noises seem like unnecessary racket, so you try to quell them, and the children can't understand that. All sorts of little harmless acts make you jump on the children.

Ordinarily rather lenient about obedience, you now expect the children to hop to your orders.

And tact, that indispensable tool, lies disused and rusty.

Then what happens as a result of all this? The children are bewildered. They don't understand you. Things get confused. There's friction and quarreling and scolding, not because they're "bad" or you're stupid, but because you're "all in."

LAST WEDNESDAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 19: Only North-South vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 diamonds	Double	Pass
?

You are South and hold:
♠Q 10 8 4 2 ♥A K J 5 3 ♦— ♣A Q 3
What call do you make now?

Answer: Three hearts. When void of doubled suit, and especially with vulnerability conditions as they are, you should not dream of letting the double stand. Your 5-5-3 distribution makes game appear extremely probable, and there may be a slam in hearts. A mere two heart bid would not announce your true strength and might lead partner to feel you were merely "running" from the double. [Thirty-two points demerit for passing; 22 points demerit for 2 hearts; 36 points demerit for 2 no trump; 44 points demerit for any other call.]

Question 20: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 heart
2 clubs	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
Pass	2 spades	Pass	?

You are South, and hold:
♠K Q 9 ♥A Q 8 4 3 ♦K 5 2 ♣J 7
What call do you make now?

Answer: Pass. You have a good hand, but must allow for comparative weakness in North's hand. He passed originally and passed again over West's two club bid. His delayed spade bid thus guaranteed nothing but a fair spade suit, possibly J 10 9 x x x, and VERY little outside. [Twenty-two points demerit for three spades; 36 points demerit for any other bid.]

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 27: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 diamond	1 spade	Pass	2 no trump
Pass	3 spades	Pass	3 no trump
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

It required considerable courage for North to stand the three no trump bid, especially when doubled, but he felt that to bid four spades would simply be making a bad matter worse.

West had a very difficult choice of opening leads, and finally selected his fourth best club. Dummy's ten won and the spade king was laid down. West held off and a low spade was led to the jack. West won and, after a long huddle, made the bold play of laying down the king of hearts. Declarer naturally feared that winning with the heart ace would permit East later to gain the lead with a heart honor, hence held up. The heart jack was continued and was also permitted to hold. The third heart was taken with the ace and the spade suit then was run off. Declarer discarded two diamonds and a club on the three long spades, leaving himself with the A-Q of diamonds and the club king. West had more trouble in discarding. He finally had to blank his club ace in order to hold the K 10 of diamonds. If he had blanked the diamond king declarer easily could have read the situation and cashed two diamond tricks. Now the club jack was led and West took his ace, but had to return a diamond from the K 10 to declarer's major tenace, and the nine trick contract became a laydown.

BY CECIL SMITH.

The figure of Death has walked the stage many a time before, but never in a stranger guise than that of Mr. Brink in "On Borrowed Time." Neither a grim reaper with scythe and flowing white robes nor a Mephistophelian devil with horns, tail, and pitchfork, Mr. Brink wears no clothes more distinguishing than a business suit and a conservative topcoat. Without a trace of a leer or a death rattle in his speech, he talks in calm, cultured English, although little 7 year old Pud thinks he "talks funny," because he displays an unusual penchant for polysyllables stemming from Latin and Greek roots.

As he pursues the duties assigned him by his Superior, Mr. Brink finds it necessary to try to take first Granny and then Gramps away with him. Granny is very tired after eighty years of living, and she cannot offer enough resistance when Mr. Brink walks quietly into her bedroom through a second story window and asks her to come along.

But old Gramps, though he is even more than eighty, will have none of Mr. Brink. For little Pud's parents have recently been killed in an accident, and if Gramps should accompany Mr. Brink the boy would fall into the hands of crusty, hypocritically pious Aunt Demetria, who at bottom is more interested in Pud's legacy of $55,000 than in Pud himself.

So by a ruse Gramps induces Mr. Brink to climb up into an old apple tree in the back yard, and by a special magic he is able to keep him there. For two days thereafter there is no death in the world, and Pud is safe. Finally, however, the game becomes too much of a strain. Mr. Brink is allowed to descend from the tree, and, with a final note of compassion he takes away not only Gramps but also Pud.

Here, then, is the "comedy" that took possession of the Grand Opera house last night, after spending the better part of a year in New York. In two senses it really is a comedy: Its dénouement is the only ending that could possibly seem happy or satisfactory, and its lines are peppered and salted and spiced with racy homespun wit and back talk that passes to and fro among its small town characters with consummate naturalness and vitality.

More accurately "On Borrowed Time" may be described as a compound of poetic fantasy and earthy domestic humor, presented by a blindingly brilliant cast with complete sobriety and unawareness of the improbable nature of the events taking place around them. Even though much of the play is fantastic, it is all true, in the sense that life and death and childish innocence and the love of old age for tender childhood are completely and absorbingly true.

"On Borrowed Time" is the most affecting play we have seen this fall. It is tender and funny and poetic and ribald, yet it is never spurious, and it never for an instant loses its grip on either the heart or the imagination. It is the sort of play that makes the theater an extension of life—a necessity and not a luxury.

As Gramps, Dudley Digges accomplishes one of these rarely perfect characterizations that become part of the legend of the stage. Though his portrait of the old man on the brink of eternity [it must be from this phrase that Mr. Brink gets his name] is astounding in its virtuoso technique, there is never a moment when mere technique is allowed to sound a false note.

Young Tommy Lewis as Pud is no less remarkable. [In later performances he will alternate with John Sheffield]. I had not known that a child actor could be so completely unaffected, so spontaneous, so effective in delivering his lines.

Frank Conroy as the suave, oily Mr. Brink, Frances Bavier as forthright Granny and Jean Adair as the repellent Aunt Demetria, contribute character sketches of the utmost finish, and Peggy O'Donnell and Jackie Ayres, another little boy caught stealing apples, are decidedly winning. The stage settings are crowning examples of the highest decorative art the American theater has yet produced.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Some experts who should know, since they're in the business of trying to make permanent waving absolutely failure-proof, are enthused about a reconditioning preparation that has recently made its appearance here.

This is a white liquid cream, used in a treatment that precedes the permanent or the ordinary shampoo if the hair is lifeless. We can't tell you everything that's in it, but we do know that there is plenty of rich oil that seems to revive dry, over bleached, or just plain tired looking hair. And we've seen it do marvelous things for hair that has been permanented a few months and is beginning to droop. It gives the hair life so that the wave takes on a new firmness and the hair itself an improved elasticity.

It can be used just to recondition —not necessarily in conjunction with a permanent—before the usual shampoo. The white cream is massaged into every inch of the scalp. Then the hair ends are generously doused with it. After this it is steamed in with hot towels and two soapings are used in the shampoo that follows. The hair squeaks [did you know that's one way to tell whether your hair is perfectly clean?] in the rinsing water and if there's a smidge of natural curl in your hair it's all brought out.

Bleached, overdyed, and poorly permanented hair is always difficult to wave successfully. Treatments with this reconditioning preparation lessen the chances of unsuccessful waving very impressively. The dry hair regains some of its natural luster and a great deal of the "spring" that it needs to be healthy looking and adaptable.

If you've been hesitating about a fall permanent because of the lifelessness of your hair you should by all means look into the merits of this unusual reconditioner.

Good Morning!

I don't "hold" for double features. In fact, they give me a crick in the neck. BUT—if I have to sit through two films at a showing, there are plenty that could be worse punishment than the pair at the Garrick.

"Garden of the Moon" is a decidedly "different" comedy with music. The title refers to a famous Hollywood night spot.

For years the "Garden" has been managed by a vurr' smart heel. And when I say heel I mean heel. Publicity agent is a clever girl who knows how to get things in the papers. . . .

Manager Quinn's set on one thing. He'll have only the best bands in his place. As the picture opens he's expecting Rudy Vallee and his lads to fulfill an engagement. . . . An auto accident incapacitates several of the members and flattens out Quinn's great expectations. . . . He is in a dither. . . .

Publicity Agent Toni persuades him to try out an unknown band she's heard in some crumbly little New York joint . . . so Vincente and his boys [Joe Venuti and his Swing Cats] arrive. . . . Happy over having work at last, they fly to Hollywood, only to learn that what they thought was to be a long engagement is a two week "fill in" till Rudy's lads shall have recovered. . . .

A feud immediately develops between Vincente and Quinn. . . . Further action is concerned with the manner in which the former, aided and abetted by Toni, beats Quinn at his own hard boiled game. . . . You'll have fun watching this plot hatch and grow. . . .

John Payne, Ann Shirley's handsome husband, portrays Vincente ingratiatingly. He has lots to give and gives it, this boy. I see a screen future in the stars for him. . . . Pat O'Brien, good actor that he is, gets himself thoroughly hated by you as Quinn. He should, you know. Miss Lindsay warms your heart as Toni. Columnist Jimmie Fidler [himself] plays himself nimbly. All other players please.

If you like swing music, you'll enjoy the band numbers—though one of them DOES drag out wearisomely. [I thought.]

"GIRLS ON PROBATION."

KIND: Sad little drama showing the catastrophes that can happen to an innocent maiden who isn't careful in the choice of companions.

ACTING: Commendable. Jane Bryan as the victim does a clever believable job. So does Sheila Bromley as the reprehensible girl friend. Ronald Reagan is fine as a brainy loyal young lawyer, who loves the heroine, sees her through hell and high water and, of course, eventually marries her. Other parts are ably handled.

DIRECTION: Satisfactory.

DIALOG: Sounds natural.

PHOTOGRAPHY, SETS, SOUND, ETC.: All they need to be.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: Sincerity of the players breeds interest in the subject matter.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Listen, Kids.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 8.—So your football team got beaten last Saturday? What of it, so long as you played your best. A victory or a defeat is just a set of numerals. I'll grant you that pagans never gave their mummies the idolatry the American public gives to scores, but believe me that success isn't that important, and failure isn't that tragic.

The score is important only to your coach, or to the bank that financed your football stadium. They have a financial interest in victory, and a winning team means cold cash to them. To you, however, the game is the thing. Have fun out of it, have exercise, get the thrill of competition, but don't worry which end of the score is yours, so long as you leveled and did your best.

From grammar school up, American kids are taught that the main objective is to win. Stuff and nonsense. At the moment I'm playing in a golf tournament at the Bel-Air club. Probably 200 golfers teed off in the first round. Now it stands to reason that only one golfer can win. The only important thing about the tourney is that it persuaded 199 other business and professional men to get out and get some needed exercise, and relax.

Yet if this were a collegiate tournament the 199 kids who failed to win would be heartbroken. Us older dubs can rationalize the matter. Win, lose, or draw, we know that we have to go back to work the next morning. The golf tourney is only an interesting side-line. That's what sport should be to you.

Let's look over some of the winners and losers of the world. Benes of Czechoslovakia is a loser. Little Haile Selassie of Ethiopia is a loser. Hitler is a winner, a go-getter. Yet no man in the history of the world has won so little affection or inspired so little respect as Hitler. You'll find through life that the nicest people you meet are those who are failures, according to material standards. So don't get a cockeyed impression of success and don't sacrifice too much for it, because it rarely is worth it.

One of the finest pictures I've seen in Hollywood is "Boys' Town," the fictional account of Father Flannagan's colony of homeless boys in Nebraska. It's a great picture because it's a great story, the tale of a clergyman who decided to help helpless youngsters. By every financial standard Father Flannagan is a failure, but I can't call to mind any Wall street financiers who have won such a magnificent success.

The sporting writers are already beginning to discuss the next Olympic games. From here on they'll beat the drums and there will be track meets and stop watches and a general hullabaloo. Interesting? You bet it is. But just remember that Jesse Owens, hero of the last Olympic games, had to take a job in a cleaning and dyeing establishment in Cleveland after the whoop-de-doo died down.

Don't be oversold on sporting victories. They don't mean much.

There's nothing wrong with winning, mind you, but you must realize that it is only part of the picture, and not the complete canvas.

The stars of this town almost all were failures. Jack Benny was heaved off a radio program because his sponsor's wife preferred organ music; Bette Davis was fired by Universal; M.-G.-M. rented out Robert Taylor to other studios because they had no use for him; Deanna Durbin's option wasn't picked up; Joel McCrea could not get a job; Edgar Bergen was rejected by radio companies on the grounds he had nothing to offer; Warner's fired Clark Gable and fired Myrna Loy. The only important thing about their defeats was that they refused to believe 'em. They kept swinging and finally they connected.

I recommend to your attention Lew Ayres. He had more defeats charged up to him than Upsala college. If he had curled up, Ayers could have kissed his picture career good-by. He refused to believe the scores chalked up on the cinema blackboard. Today he is the brightest young old star out here. He didn't quit.

The point I'm trying to drive home to you kids is that defeats are part and parcel of life, and should be so considered. I've met an awful lot of people in my time, but never met one who hadn't dropped a lot of decisions and experienced a lot of discouragement.

So don't place too great and mournful an emphasis upon defeat, and don't yield to the American habit of overemphasizing victory, because one is no more important than the other. Through life you'll encounter your share of both of them, and you'll find that defeats are really the prep school of victories. In the final analysis, believe me that they are only sets of numerals, and they're not written in indelible ink.

A Door Closed Softly

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright, 1938. By Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

David Beddoes, young American, and his cousin, Alison Young, going to a party at Lady Wibbe's stumble by mistake into the house next door. While they are talking to the spinsterish woman who receives them they hear a woman scream and a body fall. The spinster explains it is a parrot. Young Penelope Wibbe says their strange neighbors have no parrot. But they acquire one next day. David learns his former love, Betsy Greentree, lives in the mysterious house. Betsy's father died after losing his money. While traveling in Europe with her aunt, Fanny Rush, Betsy met and married an Englishman, Geoffrey Scarpath. David sends a letter to Betsy, which is unanswered. He confronts Scarpath, who explains that Betsy is suffering from a chronic nervous condition and can have no visitors, that she is being cared for by his sister Evelyn. David gains a secret interview with Betsy and learns she is miserably unhappy. When the specialist, Dr. Broderick, insists on her taking the medicine, which always makes her feel worse, Betsy grows desperate. Alison's friend, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, leaving her flat one night, finds Betsy unconscious on the threshold. Revived she explains Penelope helped her escape. Colin plans to have his friend, Dr. MacConochie, examine Betsy, after he learns Dr. Broderick is a drug addict. Betsy refuses to return with Geoffrey to his London flat. Fanny Rush arrives and stays with Geoffrey, whom she greatly admires. She calls at Alison's and demands that Betsy return to Geoffrey, which Betsy refuses to do. When Geoffrey learns that Fanny intends to disinherit Betsy he kills her, and calls Broderick to help him cover up the crime. Terrified, Broderick arranges for cremation.

INSTALMENT XLV.
A FORGED NOTE.

The bedroom showed a blue dimness, but Broderick pulled back the glazed chintz curtains the better to reveal what lay, suitably shrouded on the bed. He then drew attention to the fact that the deceased, though sparely built, had a large, heavy boned frame.

"Which must account for the force of the fall being sufficient to cause actual skull fracture—with, it would appear, intercranial hemorrhage. Death was almost instantaneous. You'd have said that, wouldn't you?"

Dr. Barkstone did not at once reply. He was gazing down on the gaunt features which showed no discoloration. Now he had raised the head and was parting the stiffly dried hair at the back. His eyes, when turned on the speaker, had a startled expression.

"Eh? O, yes, decidedly!" He hesitated a moment longer, withdrew the pale blue linen sheet and made additional observations. "Quite," declared he. "And probably the fracture only hastened things. All this congestion—heart badly overtaxed. Long neglect, as you say. . . . And now, if I might just have a wash. . . .?"

"Not troublesome, was it?" murmured Scarpath when the guest had departed, driven home in Broderick's car. "You had him eating out of your hand."

Broderick sank down, mopping sweat from his lined forehead.

"Barkstone's no fool!" he muttered. "D'you see his face when he found that hole in her skull?"

"We've got his signature," said the young man easily. "Think he'll make difficulties? He can't! And the cremation will be over and done with before The Times makes any announcement. For the rest, don't you see this has given us precisely what we were wanting?"

Broderick sprang up and walked jerkily about.

"This ends it!" whispered he mulishly. "Wipes the slate clean—I—I've cracked up. I'm canceling my appointments from today, and burying myself in for two months in the Dolomites."

"Not for good, then?" demanded the other with cutting sarcasm. "No, Broderick, get this clear: You've two choices confronting you—suicide, or saving your reputation. Which is it to be? The second, I need hardly stress, carries ample compensation—and earlier than you supposed. Only a matter of probating the will."

Broderick wheeled. "And having found you wrong in two major calculations," he jarred, "how do I know this fortune is big enough to warant further risks?"

"It's a bit late to bring that up. Still, there'd be point in what you're saying if we'd only the word of a scatter-brained old woman to go on. Luckily my information is based on what I got out of a solicitor's clerk, by standing him a few drinks. I've told you the approximate figures. I leave you to work out your share."

Scarpath waited, noting the alteration in his companion's face, then warned: "But don't take too long over it. Otherwise MacConochie. . . ."

The consultant winced and with trembling hand staved off what was coming.

. . . .

"Alison!" Elizabeth looked up in bewilderment from the letter she had just opened. "Of all things, it's Fanny. Will you read it?"

Coat on, hat about to be snatched, Alison bolted her coffee and made a grab for the thin pages. Her brows went up as, still scanning, she knotted her wool scarf.

"Well—after all, she is your aunt. Going to play up?"

"I suppose so." Elizabeth retrieved the scrawled sheets and pored over them dubiously. "Yes, of course, it's the only sensible—and decent!—thing I can do."

"This offer does clear things up rather nicely, doesn't it? We'll confer over it this evening."

Vague thoughts were flitting through Elizabeth's brain. So like Fanny—always blowing violently hot or cold, but at rock-bottom magnificently generous! Moral shocks hurt her to the quick—and David had had his arm around her niece's waist! She, Elizabeth, could never have softened her. It had taken Geoffrey to manage that. Really, it was hard not to feel grateful to him. How had the writer put it?

> "If I appeared unreasonable," ran the vehement characters, "You must admit there was much to provoke me. However, a talk with Geoffrey has shown me how useless it is to try to bring you two together. I'll gracefully desist and see if I can't make life happier for you both. These matters, I'm told, can be arranged quite unobtrusively. So much the better! I intend to discuss details with you—but not just yet. I must get used to the new situation, which I frankly deplore, otherwise I might lose my temper again—and that is considered bad for me. You see, although I never wanted you to know, I've had some scares about my health, beginning about three years ago, before you came to me, and I had quite a bad giddy turn on Saturday, after seeing you. The truth is, my blood pressure is at times very high, and while there may be no cause for alarm I must try to avoid excitement. . . ."

Now, at last, Elizabeth understood her aunt's queerness all those months they were together. Poor Fanny, keeping it all to herself, Spartan to the finish! Afraid, of course, that doctors and friends should try and stop her venturing into rough regions. The secret worry, aggravated by the niece hung like the albatross around her neck, amply accounted for the many explosions.

"And now back I come to irritate her again!" Elizabeth sniffed a little and dabbed at her lashes. "O, I must somehow make it up to her! If she'll let me."

Scarpath stopped his engine by the old Foundling hospital and lighting a cigaret waited. The sun still shone thinly, but mist was gathering, and soon wintry gloom would settle down. Maybe he had miscalculated. Elizabeth's not stirring out during the forenoon might mean indisposition. That would be awkward, but a day or so wouldn't matter, with MacConochie not due back till the end of the week.

The Times notice, not yet inserted, could go on being withheld. Who would remark? The Rush woman had no acquaintance here apart from these few persons. Wait and watch.

She was coming—alone and on foot—around the far corner of the square. Wearing her mink coat—lucky he hadn't let that go!—trim brown suede shoes with buckled straps, and the periwinkle blue halo hat he had helped her choose in the Faubourg street Honore. She had been to the hairdresser's. There was fresh color in her cheeks. Hugging her handbag, and peeping into it as, slowly, she approached.

What the devil was she hesitating for? Now he understood. She was not turning into the house at once, but making for that flower barrow opposite. Scarpath watched her handling russet chrysanthemums, a bunch of wine red beech leaves. The coster wrapped them up. Clutching the moist bundle she returned, but by the time she had toiled up the three flights of stairs Scarpath was at the top, ringing the bell.

Elizabeth, seeing him, gave only a slight start. Geoffrey had no terrors for her now she knew he had consented to release her. As the tune she was humming died on her lips she even essayed a placating smile, though she did not hold out her hand. She was too laden.

Mutual Tastes Never Insure Wedded Bliss

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"We get along perfectly because we like the same kind of entertainment."

The foregoing appears so often in letters to this department, we wonder who tells young people that similar taste in amusement is the whole recipe for a happy marriage.

They will confide their love for this one or that "because we both go in for sports." Or, "we both are crazy about dancing."

It's all well and good for young couples to have compatible tastes in amusements. But this is but a fraction of the compatibility needs of a substantial union.

Character appreciation; a sense of money fairness; dispositions; religious affiliations and tolerances; these are the meat of a successful union.

Amusements are but the desserts or the cocktails, shall we say, in married life.

"Longie," in her confidences, frankly states that there are certain things about her fiancé that she does not admire, does not even like, but he is crazy about dancing and so is she.

Consequently they go dancing so frequently and see each other so often they are accepted by their friends as engaged.

Suppose the pair marries and is of average circumstances. The dancing dates a year, two years hence will not be so frequent. They may be merely occasional.

Or they may have to be eliminated altogether because a baby has arrived or just the business of meeting the household expenses will not permit.

The things that you do not admire, do not even like in the mate's makeup will be there to grapple with. They will be harder to take, too, realizing you knew they were there before you married.

No, young people, marriage isn't a long dance season. It is a serious business, and to make it go you must have in that partner you choose a man or a woman equipped to meet obligations, responsibilities, disappointments, as well as a companion for the leisure hours.

Spare Beau the Boring Details When Dieting

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"Never talk about diet in front of a man," warns Bert Lytell, handsome stage, screen, and radio star, "if you want to keep your friends. Although you may consider yourself far from perfect until you have shed some surplus weight, your boy friend may think you look all right to him. But when he takes you out to dinner and you spend the whole evening worrying about whether you should eat this, and confiding to him that you simply must lose at least five pounds, he is going to wonder if maybe there isn't something about you which he hadn't noticed before. He will in all probability say to himself: 'Well, if she thinks there's something wrong with her, she may be right.' And then, girls, you will be puzzled why what looked like the beginning of a beautiful friendship never got beyond the initial stage."

Fussing about diet is also extremely annoying to the masculine sex in general, according to Mr. Lytell. Men like to relax at dinner and enjoy the meal in congenial company. But when their feminine companions pick at their food or declare that all they can eat is a leaf of lettuce, most men are very likely to become irritated.

"So don't inflict your reducing problems on your dates," advises one of America's favorite matinée idols.

Episcopal Diocese Sets Up Board to Hold Church Property

Chicago Episcopalians meeting in a special diocesan convention at St. Luke's procathedral, Evanston, yesterday voted to reorganize the business structure of the diocese with a board of trustees in charge. Previously, the bishop, acting as corporation sole, was the holding agency of diocesan property.

The new board, composed of Bishop George Craig Stewart, three clergymen, and nine business men, was elected yesterday. The clergymen elected are the Rev. R. Everett Carr, the Rev. G. Carleton Story, and the Rev. Christoph Keller. The lay members are George A. Ranney, John D. Allen, Edward L. Ryerson, H. A. Scandrett, Austin J. Lindstrom, Hill Blackett, Harry Judd, Fletcher Durbin, and Britton I. Budd.

Bishop Stewart announced that he would call for the election of an assisting bishop of the diocese at the February diocesan convention.

Recently wall paints in all the lovely, artistic colors have been made available. You can choose from the following: Coral, empire green, bone white, pecan gray [eggshell finish], coral [eggshell finish], rose gray, and buff.

Formulas for mixing colors also have been provided.

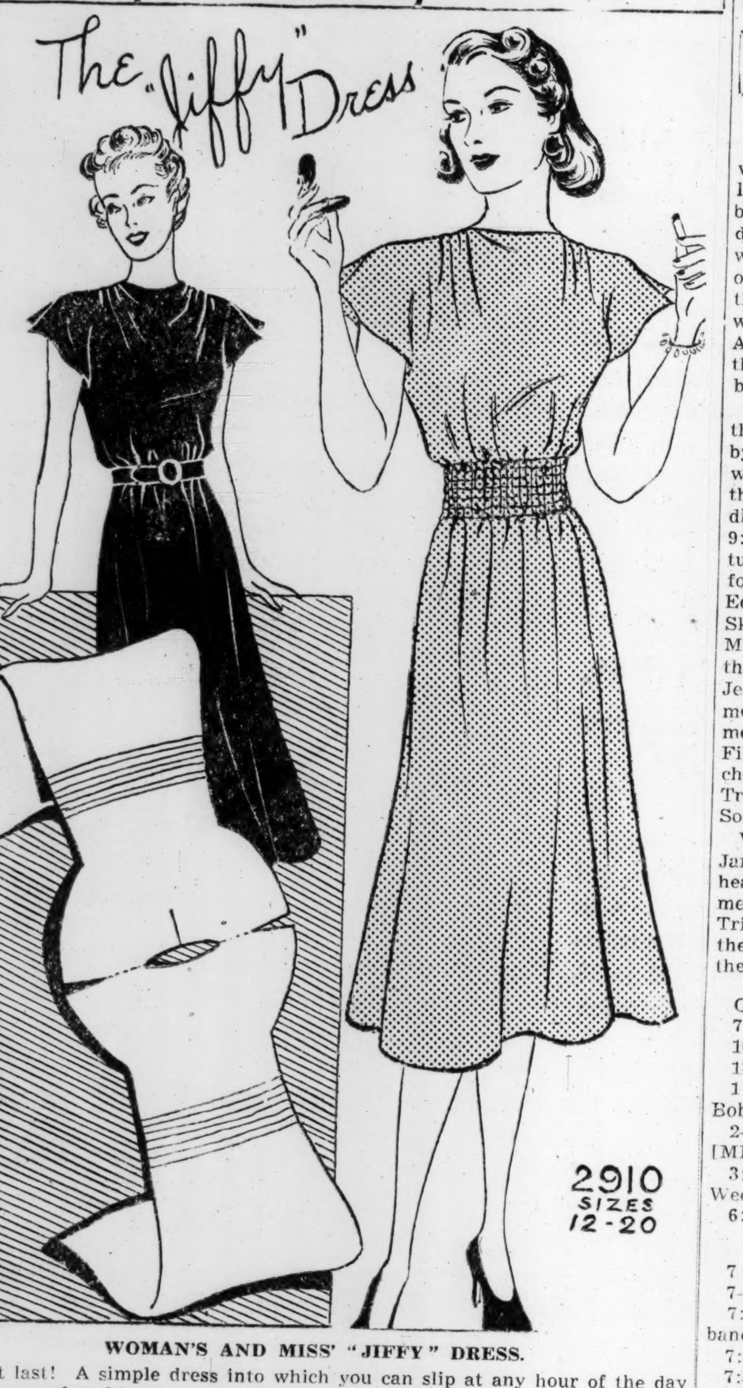
Simple and Easy to Wear



WOMAN'S AND MISS' "JIFFY" DRESS.

At last! A simple dress into which you can slip at any hour of the day and be comfortable as well as smart. There is absolutely nothing to the frock, as you will see upon looking at the sketch. It has the plainest of necklines, and brief sleeves that are cut in one with the shoulders. The waistline may be either shirred or gathered, and the skirt is a simple, full affair with lots of grace. All types of soft fabrics make up well, and then there is the matter of accessories. When it comes to these, you can suit your fancy. Anything goes!

Woolen and crêpe are perfect for daytime wear, and crush-resistant velvet, that all-important fabric this season, is grand for dress parade occasions. Challis is a possibility, also much in favor this autumn.

If you've never sewed a stitch before in your life, there's no time like the present to begin, and no frock like this one on which to use your initial efforts. You can't fail.

Style No. 2910 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, and 38 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material.

An Old Blotter Becomes Art in Miro Exhibition

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

What would you say if some one told you your old desk blotter with its splotches where red and black ink had spilled, and with the scribblings you made while the telephone operator asked you to hold the line, please, and with the ordinary reversed writing that betrays the fact of much and familair use, was worth $85?

That, for a fact, is its value if you will mount it on a blue background, frame it, and exhibit it as surrealist art. Miro, the celebrated Spanish artist, has turned his old blotter to just such a use and you can see it hanging as large as life in the exhibition of his recent paintings at the Katharine Kuh gallery, 540 North Michigan avenue.

You and I may think it a crazy idea, but after all $85 is $85 and if his old blotter can get that price, then why not ours?

Miro shows us more clever tricks in this trade of surrealist art. He has taken a sheet of masonite [which is a building material] and drawn on it very roughly [even as you and I] the outline of two birds billing and cooing over a nest. The nest is represented by a swirl of lines [not difficult at all] and the swirl harbors a collection of cobble stones glued on and smeared with white.

◆

A tragedy attends this masterpiece for one of the egg stones is missing, lost in transit, and as the entire collection of pictures was shipped here insured for $6,500, the question now is what shall be done about the missing stone? What is it worth?

Modern art is very difficult to keep up with. To you or me a stone is a stone, but to Miro—to the surrealist fan—to the insurance company—what will this stone be?

The exhibition is rich with extravagant and fantastic creations, which become the more amusing the more seriously one considers them. A man without a sense of humor might be bored stiff with the show, but if you can giggie there is hope for your real enjoyment of these concoctions. They knock our WPA efforts into a cocked hat and leave the American scene nowhere.

For pure, unadulterated joy gaze upon "Portrait of Young Lady," "Dancers," "Woman in Presence of the Moon," and "Man and Woman." Try not to think, just let these filter through. You'll be surprised at the result. And of such is ART.

RODMAN AND THOMAS JOIN BIKE RACE LEADERS

NO SECTION HAS EDGE SATURDAY IN MAJOR GAMES

Titles Are at Stake Throughout U. S.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Football fans in the central states may have attention only for the Minnesota-Notre Dame and Northwestern-Michigan games Saturday, but throughout the country there is a program of important contests which directly affect sectional and national championship aspirations.

Because Notre Dame is undefeated and Minnesota is defending Big Ten champion and still has an excellent chance to retain that honor, the game at Notre Dame probably is more important nationally than the Wildcats' invasion of the Michigan stadium. Yet, in view of Michigan's renaissance, its position in the current conference race and that its only defeat was by one point, thousands might prefer to be in Ann Arbor Saturday afternoon. Certainly a near record crowd will attend.

Record Is 95,000.

Thousands more would travel to Notre Dame if they could obtain tickets. The game is a sell-out, but, judging by the deluge of requests still pouring in, many still do not believe it. Minnesota set an all time attendance record when the Irish defeated the Gophers in Minneapolis last year, 7 to 6.

The attendance record for the 1938 season is 95,000. This was established last Saturday in Los Angeles at the Southern California-California game. And if Notre Dame continues victorious and the Trojans win their remaining Pacific Coast conference contests, that mark will be broken when the Irish play Southern California.

Southern California plays the University of Washington Saturday. While the Huskies have disappointed their supporters, the Trojans recall that Washington tied California last year, when California won the Pacific coast title, and they recognize the ever present possibility of an upset. Having pointed for California last week, Southern California quite likely will not enter the Washington battle with the same keen playing edge.

Big One Down East.

In the east Dartmouth and Cornell top the gridiron schedule. Cornell was beaten by Syracuse's brilliant fourth period air attack, 19 to 17, the only licking for the Big Red this season. Dartmouth hasn't lost a game and has beaten Yale, Harvard, and Princeton, thus scoring its first "slam" against the Big Three. Dartmouth's only other notable victory was over Brown. Since Cornell has beaten Colgate, Harvard, Columbia, among others, Dartmouth may finally come to the end of its championship path. If Dartmouth wins Saturday, only the intersectional game with Stanford remains between it and claim to a national title.

Unbeaten Duke, already victorious over Colgate, 7 to 0, in intersectional play, comes north to face Syracuse. Last Saturday Syracuse whipped Colgate by the same score as Duke did, which may mean that the Orange now is ready for the southerners.

Tennessee, undefeated leader in the Southeastern conference and victor over Louisiana and Alabama, must whip Vanderbilt this week. The game at Nashville is easily the outstanding game in the south. Louisiana is the only eleven to beat the Commodores.

Oklahoma vs. Missouri.

Oklahoma, also undefeated this season, and now sharing the leadership in the Big Six with Iowa State, plays Missouri. The Tigers turned in one of the outstanding upsets last week by trouncing Michigan State, but it is not likely that they can turn the trick again. On Nov. 19 Oklahoma meets Iowa State and this week the Cyclones stake their share of the conference leadership in the Kansas State game in Manhattan.

Texas Christian probably does not expect too much difficulty with Texas. Texas Christian is undefeated and Texas hasn't won a game. The following week, however, Texas Christian meets Rice institute, undefeated in the Southwest conference although beaten by Oklahoma, Louisiana State, and Tulane in intersectional play.

One of the annual intersectional games which last year was featured nationally, Pittsburgh at Nebraska, is just another game this season. Nebraska has lost four games, tied Indiana, and beaten Kansas. Pittsburgh lost its position in the race for national honors when beaten, 20 to 10, last Saturday by Carnegie Tech.

KNOX LOSES TWO HALF BACKS FOR BRADLEY BATTLE

Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Two regular half backs will be missing from the lineup when Knox meets Bradley Saturday. Co-Capt. Kenneth Johnson of Rock Island is out for the season, due to a knee injury, and Dan Roberts, Chicago, who took his place in the Coe game last week, today was ruled ineligible because of low grades. Leno Tattini of Farmington will fill the position.

Knox held a passing and kicking practice today and will scrimmage against the freshmen tomorrow.

Plotting Trouble for the Bears

ON YOUR GUARD, REDSKINS! OUR BEARS ARE MAD

They're Out to Spoil Your Title Plans Sunday.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Old notebooks, dusty rolls of motion picture film, and play-by-play accounts of three games were hauled out from the file room in Coach George Halas' office yesterday as the Bears settled down to preparations for their final appearance of the season in Chicago Sunday against the Washington Redskins.

Clinging to a remote chance of sharing in the western division championship, the Bears combined title business with personalities as they studied data on their previous meetings with Sammy Baugh and associated Redskins. All three meetings came at the end of last season and the Bears lost two of them.

Since they last squared off with Baugh and the National league champions, the Bears and other clubs of the league have come to understand the short passing game pretty well. Experimentation and careful analysis have enabled the defense to operate more efficiently against an attack built around the five and ten yard aerials.

Lots of Passes, Few Yards.

League statistics reveal the degree of success rival coaches have attained against Baugh, Bill Hartman, and Frank Filchock of the Redskins, and Dwight Sloan, Jack Robbins, and Pat Coffee of the Cardinals, the leading exponents of this offense. Washington and the Cardinals continue to lead the league in completions, but the ratio of productiveness has been reduced to such an extent that a short pass attack no longer stands as the most potent weapon.

Washington has completed eighty-one passes and scored 126 points while winning five of eight games. The Cardinals have completed ninety-nine passes and scored only eighty-three points, losing eight of nine league starts. The Green Bay Packers, who specialize in the long pass and put greater store in a running attack than either the Redskins or Cardinals, are leading the league with seven triumphs in nine starts and have scored 192 points, a new team high. Although they are all but out of the race, the Bears, combining long passes with the plunging and running of power backs, are second among the point scorers with 132.

Defense Is the Thing.

Halas and his assistants took notice of these figures in planning the defensive strategies given the club at its regular morning practice yesterday. They also took cognizance of a few Redskin tricks, learned all too well last December on Wrigley field, when the Redskins upset the Bears for the league championship and in Dallas, where the Redskins settled all arguments over luck, etc., by winning again in an exhibition a week later. The Bears' only victory over the champions since Baugh turned pro a year ago was scored in Miami, Fla., during the holiday season, when Washington was without Baugh for most of the game and did not dress Cliff Battles, its other offensive star.

The Bears never have been convinced, even by the Dallas game, that the Redskins were a superior team. The two defeats and hollow victory at Miami have rankled for months. And it is not likely that their experience against Green Bay Sunday, when they played their best game of the year only to lose, will leave them any the less determined to even the score with Baugh and associates. Washington is leading the eastern division, but might easily be knocked out of the championship by a Bear victory. The Bears have weighed and cherish this possibility.

Redskins Keep Busy.

Coach Ray Flaherty drilled the champions for several hours at Loyola university yesterday morning. He plans daily workouts at the university through Friday and will taper off for Sunday's game with a light drill on the beach at the Edgewater Beach hotel on Saturday. The Redskins, Flaherty believes, will be in better shape for Sunday's contest than at any time this year, including the All-Star game, which they lost, 28 to 16, in Soldiers' field Aug. 31.

Leader—Rodman.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Jerry Rodman of Chicago and Bobby Thomas of Kenosha last night demanded that they be dealt a hand in the leadership game in the six day bike race in the Stadium, which the Canadian team, the Peden brothers, and the Germans, Gus Kilian and Heinz Vopel, had been dominating. The boys from our neighborhood busted into a mileage tie for first place at 10:14 as a climax to the best jamming the race had produced to that point.

The jousting started at 8:30 o'clock and had few letups during the night. The Pedens seemed bent on protecting their earlier one lap edge but the Germans caught them out of position and the Canadian advantage disappeared before the Peden brothers could disengage themselves from a mob of easy riding cyclists.

Lead Shifts Rapidly.

From that time on the lead switched rapidly and shortly after the 9 o'clock sprints got under way there was a four way deadlock.

In all of the different sets of leaders throughout the evening, however, Rodman-Thomas never quite got abreast until they bounced into the tie in the midst of the night's third series of sprints.

The runners-up after the three way tie had been effected were Walthour-Crossley, Debaets-Gumbretiere, and Georgetti-Moretti, all one lap back of the leaders. They were joined later by Audy-Yates.

Struggling along in back came O'Brien-Testa, De Bacco-Wissel, Rodak-Fielding, and Bedard-Bollaert. Charley Yaccino and Al Jurca, who had found the going very tough, withdrew from the race at 7 o'clock last evening.

Kilian-Vopel Hold Point Lead.

While Kilian and Vopel had to share first place on a mileage basis with two other pairs, they had been sufficiently active in the sprints to hold the technical lead on points.

The Peden brothers were delighted when they learned that they are to be honored tonight by the Chicago Highlanders' bagpipe band of thirty pieces. This musical tribute was revealed in THE TRIBUNE yesterday, but it was not known at that time that tonight's concert will be the first time in which a bagpipe band of thirty pieces has sought to inspire two bicycle riders from Victoria, B. C.

No Time to Loaf.

With all the excitement about the bagpipes the Canadians have expressed themselves as being well aware that they can't lounge in their bunks and listen to the sweet squeals to be pumped out in their honor. Kilian-Vopel, say they, are liable to hop out right in the middle of an aria. Both of the Germans admit they never have learned to love bagpipe music and will stick to the pedaling while the Pedens are listening to the concert tonight.

The sprints last night were enlivened by the awarding of premiums. A local bicycle manufacturing company, with 500 employés present, gave $25 for the teams which won the most points in each of the night's eight series of sprints. Results of the sprints:

Maroons Are in No Shape to Be Jubilant

There was gloom in the camp of Chicago's Maroons yesterday as the squad reassembled after the Harvard trip, counted man power, the costs of that game, and began preparations for the homecoming match with A. A. Stagg's College of the Pacific team Saturday.

The Maroon squad returned with more injuries than after any game this season. Walter Maurovich, sophomore right guard, who has started every contest, will be out for the season with a leg injury. Bob Wasem, right end, has a broken finger on his right hand, and Jack Davenport, right half back, has a broken nose. Dave Wiedemann, who has started every game at left tackle, also is injured.

Stagg Arrives Tomorrow.

George Crandall, reserve back, is out for the season with a knee injury, and Morton Goodstein, full back, whose injury dates back two weeks, will be unable to play Saturday. It is expected that Wasem, Davenport, and Wiedemann will be able to play Saturday despite their injuries, but their effectiveness may be impaired.

Coach Stagg and his squad will arrive in Chicago tomorrow at 8:30 a. m. They will be welcomed by a group from the homecoming committee.

Plan Big Reception.

Plans for celebrating Coach Stagg's return to the Midway went briskly ahead yesterday. A dinner in Stagg's honor will be held at Hutchinson Commons Friday night. Between halves of the game Saturday a group of Maroon undergraduates attired in football suits of the '90s will stage a football game as it was played in the days when Stagg began his career at Chicago.

Too Many Upsets

In the last football week-end, some of the upsets were just too tough on the fans' nerves. After looking forward to a hilarious afternoon in the stands and a big evening of celebration, they were let down by the fickle fates of football.

Luckily, there's nothing fickle about the Wake of the News book. Sport followers can open it at any page and know they won't be disappointed. This breezy little volume, which contains the best items published in the Wake during the last year, races from cover to cover without ever letting you down.

Kizer to Speak Before Purdue Club on Friday

Noble Kizer, athletic director and former football coach of Purdue university, will be one of the speakers at the annual football banquet of the Boilermakers, to be held Friday in the Union League club. It will be the first public appearance in fourteen months for Kizer, who became ill on the eve of the 1937 season.

Purdue women will be invited to attend for the first time. Among the hostesses will be Mrs. Kizer and Mrs. John T. McCutcheon, wife of THE TRIBUNE cartoonist. The latter will give a short talk. Other speakers include Coach Mal Elward, whose 1938 eleven has been defeated only by Minnesota; Co-Captains John Mihal and Paul Humphrey, and Fritz B. Ernst, of the class of '00. William Winterrowd, '07, will be toastmaster. A. A. Stagg, who brings his College of the Pacific team to meet Chicago Saturday, is expected to be a guest at the banquet.

JENKINS, SPEED PILOT, OUTLINES SAFETY CODE

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Ab Jenkins, who holds more world speed records than any other man and has driven automobiles 2,000,000 miles without an accident, is going to teach the American public how to reduce the trafic toll.

Jenkins, who plans a driving demonstration and speaking tour through the eastern states, says of highway driving:

Be alert.

Be master of your car at all times.

Keep on your own side of the highway.

Don't cut in.

Don't attempt to pass when your vision is obscured.

Keep your head in an emergency.

If you've been drinking, keep out of an automobile.

Don't speed in heavy trafic.

Be courteous to other drivers; give them a break.

Notre Dame Track Stars Suffer Electric Shock

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 8. — (AP) — Steven A. Szumachowski of Schnectady, N. Y., cross country runner at Notre Dame university, was recovering today from burns and shock suffered Monday as he ran into a dangling electric wire blown down in a storm. Becoming unconscious, Szumachowski fell on the wire. Joseph Rice of Missoula, Mont., was shocked while attempting to rescue his teammate but was able to call to a dormitory rector who threw a master switch and cut the current.

Huot Gets a 66 to Lead Open Golf Tourney

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Nov. 8.—(AP)—A Canadian veteran and a 22 year old newcomer from Indiana breezed in ahead of a chilling drizzle today to take a narrow lead at the quarter way mark of the White Sulphur open golf tournament.

Jules Huot, 127 pound former Canadian open champ from Quebec, played machinelike golf for a four under par 66, snaring two birdies on each nine and parring others to pace the field.

Hamilton Takes 67.

Bob Hamilton, Evansville, Ind., youngster, taking his first fling at the full winter golf circuit, finished close behind with a 67. Slammin' Sam Snead, home course favorite, and Henry Picard, straight hitting Hershey, Pa., pro, were deadlocked one stroke back at 68.

Snead and Picard battled a fierce gale up the back nine which tumbled the mercury from 80 degrees to 51 within an hour.

Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., sharpshooter, also had a 68 to make it a three-way tie for third position.

Billy Burke of Cleveland, former national open champ, turned on the heat despite the unfavorable weather and birdied four of the last five holes to finish with a 69 for another three-way tie with Ed Oliver of Wilmington, Del., and Ky Laffoon of Chicago.

Cooper Has a 70.

Harry Cooper of Chicago, who shot par golf to go into tomorrow's 18, tied at 70 with Clayton Heafner of Sedgefield, N. C.

Dick Metz, Lake Forest, Ill.; Johnny Bulla, Chicago; Stanley Horne, Ottawa, and Sam Byrd, Philadelphia, were next with 71s.

Two amateurs, Al Dollins of Roanoke, Va., and Bob Dunkelberger, High Point, N. Y., stepped into the picture with 72s, where Jimmy Thomson, Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., rested along with Steve Warga, Peekskill, N. Y.; Dutch Harrison, Oak Park, Ill.; Pat Sawyer, Detroit, and Ralph Williamson, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Lawson Little, San Francisco; Jimmy Hines, Great Neck, N. Y.; Ed Dudley, Philadelphia, and Horton Smith, Oak Park, Ill., were in a group showing 73s. Others included Charles Farlow, Burlington, Va.; John Geertsen, Salt Lake City; Henry Poe, Durham, N. C.; Jim Milwards, Madison; Walter Urbane, Dalton, Mass.; Leonard Ott, Denver; Ben Loving, Saranac Inn, N. Y., and Frank Walsh, Bretton Woods, N. H.

Tommy Armour, playing in a group caught in the afternoon deluge, and Felix Serafin, Scranton, Pa., were ten strokes behind the leader.

BARBARA FACES CAVANNA TONIGHT IN PARK CASINO

Hold Triple Mat Windup in Rainbo Fronton.

Johnny Barbara, 1936 Chicago Golden Gloves welterweight finalist, tonight will be given his big chance in a ten round contest with Frankie Cavanna, Brooklyn, N. Y., 147 pound challenger, in Park Casino, Madison street and Hamlin avenue. The hard hitting Cavanna stepped into the limelight recently by stopping Milt Aron.

Barbara will try for his sixth straight victory. His victims are: Ray Lyle, Sept. 30; Verne Patterson, Sept. 16; Indian Billy Lee, July 21; Toots Bernstein, June 15, and Chester Rudy, June 8. He scored knockouts over Patterson and Lee.

Prior to his conquest of Rudy, Johnny suffered the first knockout in his one and a half year professional campaign at the hands of Tony Petroskey April 18. The north side boxer ran into a left hook to the chin after flooring Petroskey for a one count in the first round. Making 147 pounds weakened Barbara and is blamed for his humiliating upset.

Weight for tonight's match is 149, a poundage which is expected to leave Johnny strong.

Barbara, who lost to Chester Rutecki for the 1936 Golden Gloves title, is making his thirtieth pro appearance. He has registered twenty-five triumphs, lost three decisions, and fought one draw battle.

A triple windup is booked for the wrestling show in Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, this evening. Pete Schu will hook up with Ignacio Martinez, Bert Rubi with Jim Hefner, and Bill Weidner with Frankie Hart. Other encounters match Walter Palmer with Tony Bomerito, and Al Williams with Pierre La Belle. . . . Amateur fights will be held tonight in the Standard club, 320 Plymouth court, and Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. George Kontopoulos, former novice Golden Gloves welterweight champion, faces Johnny Duncan in a headliner in Marigold. . . .

Clarence Brown, ex-Catholic Youth organization heavyweight title holder, has been obtained for a four round semi-final against Carl Vinciquerra in White City Friday. Bob Tow, Alexandria, Va., heavyweight, and Henry Wacker are principals in the ten round main event. . . . Frankie [Kid] Covelli, Brooklyn featherweight, will leave this morning for New Orleans, where he meets Nick Camarata at ten rounds next Monday. . . . Paul Hartnek, last year's Golden Gloves heavyweight title holder, has refused a windup with Alex Kettles in Marigold Nov. 28. Harvey Woods and Georgie Zeengaras clash in Monday's featured match in the north side arena. . . . Milt Shivers, 1936 Golden Gloves middleweight champ, arrived yesterday for his ten rounder with Ken Overlin in Park Casino next Wednesday.

T. C. U. Rated Best Eleven; Notre Dame 2d

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Texas Christian, rated the best balanced football power the Southwest conference has produced, today had ousted Pittsburgh from its three week hold on No. 1 position in the weekly Associated Press ranking poll, beating out Notre Dame by a narrow margin in the battle for top honors.

T. C. U., which triumphed, 21 to 0, over Tulsa last Saturday and matched this week-end with Texas, first of three conference rivals still to be met, was voted the country's outstanding team by 48 of the 117 participating sports writers and earned a total of 986 points. Notre Dame, matched with Minnesota in one of Saturday's principal engagements, drew 41 first place ballots and 970 points.

Carnegie Rises to Sixth.

Carnegie Tech's thorough 20 to 10 defeat of Pitt, besides dropping the Panthers from first to third, with 790 points and 14 first place nominations, also boosted the Tartans into sixth place from their tie for twentieth a week ago.

Tennessee, Dartmouth, Duke, Santa Clara, and Oklahoma, all unbeaten and untied, like T. C. U. and Notre Dame, were ranked fourth, fifth, seventh, eighth, and tenth, respectively, while Southern California, once beaten conqueror of California, moved into ninth place.

Carnegie, Southern California, and Oklahoma are newcomers to the first ten, and replace California, pushed down to fourteenth as its winning streak was broken; Northwestern dropped to seventeenth on its defeat by Wisconsin, and Fordham dropped to thirteenth after being held to a 3 to 0 victory by St. Mary's.

Stripp Thinks Mize Case Cost Frisch His Job

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Joe Stripp, third baseman of the Boston Bees, had a few words to say about the Cardinals' ouster of Frankie Frisch before departing for Florida today. He plans to open his baseball school at Orlando after the holidays.

Stripp says Frisch's handling of Johnny Mize, the big first base slugger, probably had a lot to do with his losing his job.

"Mize was overweight most of the season," Joe said, "and Frisch used to make him get out and work hard in morning practice almost every day. St. Louis is about the hottest town in the world and a hard morning workout while wearing a rubber suit got Mize down.

"Frank wanted to arouse some competitive spirit in the fellow and finally benched him in the belief that he'd keep in condition by being more active when he got his job back.

"Frisch's plan made Mize a winning ball player and nearly got him the league's batting championship. Johnny was about the most surprised ball player in the world when, hitting .229, he was benched for Padgett, who was on the bench with a .200 average at the time. He got mad and he got to hitting. He really went to town in late August and September."

Besler Takes Shill's Place in Hawk Line

The world champion Chicago Blackhawks, who have opened the defense of the Stanley cup by winning all of their first three National Hocky league matches, will acquire a new player today in the person of Phil Besler, right wing of the Providence Reds of the International-American league. Besler will arrive to fill the vacancy caused by an injury to Jack Shill in the Toronto game last Saturday.

Although Shill is a left wing and Besler a right, Manager Bill Stewart said Besler probably will be used interchangeably. The Hawks yesterday obtained Besler by exercising an option.

The champions held a one hour workout in the Chicago Arena yesterday afternoon, half of it concentrated on the power play and the other half on target practice.

Power Means Goals.

The value of the power play, when the opposing team is short a man through a two minute penalty, already has been clearly demonstrated, and each team in the league realizes this to a point where all have at least two power play combinations.

The Hawks have played three games, scoring against the Americans and the Maple Leafs while the latter were short handed and being scored on by the Canadiens while in the same predicament themselves. Boston made power play goals on both Detroit and Toronto and yielded a goal to a Leaf power attack.

The Boss Seeks Speed.

Manager Stewart feels that speed is the only adequate defense against a power play when short handed, and to that end drilled Earl Seibert and Art Weibe, working with Wings Paul Thompson and Mush March, against five man rushes. The Hawks have a valuable weapon against power plays in John Gottselig, one of the ablest puck raggers in hocky history.

Alumnus Gives Princeton Polo Team Eight Ponies

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Princeton university's polo team is receiving eight thoroughbred ponies from Kentucky, the gift of Edward Madden, Lexington horseman. Madden, a graduate of Princeton, who breeds polo ponies as a hobby, decided upon the gift after learning Princeton was being beaten because their opponents had better mounts.

Penn State Builds Defense for Pennsylvania Game

State College, Pa., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—For the first time this season, Coach Bob Higgins called off all scrimmage work for the week as Penn State's team was drilled on defense today for the Pennsylvania game. Two major changes were made in the varsity. Sidney Alter, junior left end, replaced Tom Vargo, 195 pound sophomore. Both Harry Harrison and Chuck Peters were used in the backfield, Harrison at quarter, with Peters shifted to the wing back.

ILLINOIS TO PUT VETERAN ENDS BACK TO WORK

Zimmerman and Castelo to Start Against Ohio.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Ken Zimmerman and Bob Castelo, veteran ends, will start against Ohio State in Saturday's Dad's day game, Coach Bob Zuppke indicated today.

Probability that Mel Brewer would start at quarter back increased when the junior called signals for the first team.

BUCKEYES SEEK SPEED.

Columbus, O., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Ohio State's football team spent a long practice session today on offense in an effort to develop speed, both in the line and the back field, for the Illinois game at Urbana Saturday.

What remained of the squad after the cripples retired to the training quarters for treatments, went through a series of ground maneuvers and ended up with a long pass drill.

Also given a passing workout in the back field were Don Scott, Forrest Fordham, Frank Zadworney with Jimmy Sexton and Mike Kabealo.

HARRISON STAR KNOWS HOW TO TOSS THAT BALL

Expect Klemchuk to Put On Passing Show.

Football's greatest forward passers have been reviewed on the Soldiers' field gridiron during the last decade. There were Art Parisien, Sammy Baugh, Cecil Isbell, Jack Robbins, and Buzz Buivid. Another exponent of the art, a 17 year old youngster, may display his prowess in the lake front arena if Harrison Tech appears in Mayor Kelly's all-city prep championship game Nov. 26.

Willie Klemchuk.

When Willie Klemchuk, Harrison's full back, winds up his pitching arm something usually happens. His long, accurate tosses brought the team six consecutive victories and the central section title. Klemchuk has flipped 50 yard touchdown passes with ease. The big full back, 170 pounds in weight and 5 feet 11 inches tall, is the principal reason for Harrison's confidence that it will whip Austin, defending west division and league champion, in Mills stadium Saturday afternoon.

Coach Praises Klemchuk.

Bob Dougherty, for sixteen years coach of the Harrison Hornets, does not hesitate to name Klemchuk when asked for the greatest passer he has ever handled. Klemchuk's phenomenal ability rates him higher than Harrison's famous two Andys, Andy Pilney and Andy Puplis, who later starred at Notre Dame. Klemchuk has the same explanation as Baugh for his way of throwing the ball far and accurate.

"I just take the ball in my hand and throw," Klemchuk says with a boyish grin.

Klemchuk, who spends the summer months playing softball, gets just as much fun out of punting, blocking, and running as he does throwing the ball. He likes to block out would be tacklers when Ed Jankaus, his chief pass receiver, is carrying the ball. And you'll also find Klemchuk around when his other back field mates, Quarter Back Harry Wilk and Half Back Ciesla, are preparing to hit the enemy line.

Rivals 1931 Team.

The team is striving to match the record of the 1931 Hornet squad which won the Public School league championship, the All-City title against Mount Carmel, Catholic league representative, and then ended its great season with a 19 to 0 victory over Miami, Fla., High school, which was unbeaten in three years, on Christmas day in Miami. The squad is one of the heaviest in the Chicago area, the line averaging 177 pounds, and the back field, 176.

"We have balance, fighting spirit, and when we need that yard Jankaus and Ciesle are capable of getting it," Dougherty said. "No team has consistently cramped Klemchuk's throwing arm, and Jankaus is a great pass receiver."

Expect Crowd of 10,000.

Ten thousand are expected to watch Harrison's attempt to remove Austin from its path to the title in the west side park. Bleachers have been erected on the north side of the field to accommodate the crowd. Another record throng will see the other semi-final game between Fenger, south zone representative, and Lane Tech, north section champion, in Soldiers' field Saturday. The league title game will be played on Nov. 19.

Janke Is Hurt; May Not Play in N. U. Game

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 8. — [Special.]—Michigan football hopes hung to a considerable extent tonight on the extent of an injury received by Capt. Fred Janke in practice today. His left ankle was twisted in a defensive line scrimmage. Team physicians were unable to predict whether he would be available for Saturday's game with Northwestern in Ann Arbor.

Forrest Jordan replaced Janke at left tackle this afternoon, but it is possible that Don Siegel will be shifted from right tackle should the injured captain be unable to play.

The Wolverine line, under Coach Clarence Munn, again bore the heaviest work in scrimmage against Wildcat formations. Archie Kodros alternated with Horace Tinker at center, but rested his injured side as much as possible.

Howard Mehaffey, injured sophomore full back, reported ready to go against Northwestern, but Ed Phillips held the first team berth in signal drills.

WALDORF SEEKS SPEED.

In an effort to inject more speed into Northwestern's attack, Coach Lynn Waldorf hinted yesterday that several revisions may be made in the Wildcat back field for the Michigan game in Ann Arbor Saturday.

First steps in that direction were taken at yesterday's practice when Francis Purtell, a sophomore, was shifted from right half back to full back. Purtell started the season at full back but was switched to a half back position two weeks ago to provide support for Bernie Jefferson.

Purtell, who has given a good account of himself during his brief appearances in the lineup, may get the call Saturday over George McGurn and Jay Laskay, whose defensive play against Wisconsin was below par. Even if he does not start, his presence is expected to serve as incentive for both McGurn and Laskay.

Jefferson Certain Starter.

It is possible also that either Erwin Madsen or Paul Soper, sophomores, may start at left half in place of Jack Ryan or Ollie Hahnenstein. Both Madsen and Soper have shown improvement in recent workouts and Waldorf is flirting with the idea of giving them a chance against the Wolverines. The fact that Soper hails from Muskegon and is anxious to play before the home folks may influence his selection.

Another contemplated change is at quarter back where Nick Conteas may start in place of Dick Richards. Both players have been alternating the assignment all season, but to date Richards has the starting call. About the only regular who seems certain of starting is Bernie Jefferson, right half back, whose kicking makes his presence essential. His laxness on pass defense against Wisconsin has caused much concern on the coaching staff.

PURDUE PRIMES PASSING.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Looking forward to the annual Hoosier football civil war which will match Purdue against Indiana here a week from Saturday in the season's finale, Coach Mal Elward started adding a number of aerial refinements to the repertoire of plays as the Boilermakers resumed practice here this afternoon following a day's layoff.

Well pleased with the manner in which the running attack functioned against Ohio State, Elward concentrated on strengthening the weaknesses in the overhead attack. Lack of accuracy on the part of the passers provided the main problem, and Mike Byelene, Jim Nesbitt, Lou Brock, and Jack Brown, all were given a lengthy drill.

Right guard prospects were brightened by the return to action for a light workout of Carl Verplank, junior veteran, who had been unable to play since the Wisconsin battle two weeks ago. With Jim Maloney definitly out with a broken arm, Verplank, along with Jack Winchell, sophomore who filled in the breach in admirable fashion against the Buckeyes, is expected to carry the main burden against Indiana.

Wabash, DePauw Prepare for 45th Gridiron Meeting

Greencastle, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—DePauw and Wabash will meet for the forty-fifth time on the gridiron here Saturday afternoon. The series was inaugurated in 1890. Wabash holds the edge with twenty-two victories to seventeen for DePauw with five games ending in scoreless ties. Wabash has won only one game this season.

The game will close the football careers of ten DePauw seniors: Capt. Joe Barr of Bicknell; Quarter Back Alex Shiach of Lorain, O.; Half Back Howard Longshore of Valparaiso, and Karl Randels of West Unity, O.; Tackle Jean Stoops of Wabash; Ends Tom Murnane of Greencastle and Jack Davis of Alexandria; Reserve Quarter Back Budd Brown of Chicago, and Reserve Guards Charles Cox of Philadelphia and Don Grummon of Springfield, Ill.

The Monon bell, symbol of victory, will be at stake. DePauw took possession of the trophy last year with a 32 to 0 victory over Wabash. It will be dad's day on the campus and the game will mark DePauw's fiftieth anniversary of intercollegiate football.

With Butler crowned Indiana conference champion, DePauw's remaining hope for honors lies in the individual work of Johnny Scott, sensational half back, who is leading the conference in scoring.

Gophers Hold Long Drill for Irish Battle

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—As Minnesota's football team donned uniforms this afternoon for a long drill after being idle Monday, it became apparent that Coach Bernie Bierman may start George Franck at left half back against Notre Dame in South Bend Saturday.

The speedy Davenport, Ia., boy made his best showing of the season against Iowa. Harold Van Every isn't in tip top shape as yet, but may be by Saturday. However, Bierman's maneuvers in practice tonight indicated that Franck's stock has jumped considerably. Because this was a holiday, the Gophers had a longer drill than usual and most of it was concentrated on new offensive tricks which he hopes may fool the Irish.

Bierman Watches Reserves.

Bierman paid strict attention to some of the reserves who looked good last Saturday. Jamnik, idle last week because of an injured ankle, appeared ready today, but Jabbra was used oftener than his sophomore mate. Kilbourne remained at tackle, with every indication that he again will be a starter.

IRISH LINE TOILS.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.] — Coach Joe Boland directed a vigorous scrimmage for linemen while Head Coach Elmer Layden worked on back field blocking, timing, and forward passes at Notre Dame today. Intensive work on defensive assignments for Saturday's game with Minnesota concluded the drill.

The Gophers will have an advantage in the forward wall, on paper at least, going into Saturday's game. They are heavier from tackle to tackle and particularly at the guards, where Capt. Francis Twedell and Horace Bell outweigh Notre Dame's Augie Bossu and Capt. Jim McGoldrick. The Minnesota forwards also have more experience than Notre Dame's.

Beinor Only '37 Veteran.

Ed Beinor, left tackle, is the only member of the Notre Dame line who saw action for any considerable period of time in last year's 7 to 6 Notre Dame victory. McGoldrick, Earl Brown, left end; Paul Kell, right tackle, and Ed Longhi, center, were in action about five minutes apiece.

Three of this year's Gopher forwards—Twedell, Dan Elmer at center, and Charles Schultz at tackle—started the game. John Mariucci and George Nash alternated with the first team ends last year. Horace Bell at guard and Win Peterson at tackle saw considerable action during the contest. All are seniors this year.

INDIANA STUDIES PLAYS.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Defensive measures to combat Iowa formations were stressed at Indiana today. A comparison of Indiana's scouting notes on Iowa this season with motion pictures of the Indiana-Iowa game last year indicated that the Hawkeyes probably will use much the same tactics Saturday when they invade Memorial stadium.

After spending much time on fundamentals, the Hoosiers sought to improve their passing attack, working on forward passing and blocking for the passer. With Joe Nicholson, the squad's No. 1 passer, not fully recovered from injuries, most of the passing was done by Tim Bringle, Harold Hursh, and Vincent Oliver.

Don Werdine, sophomore center, will be lost for the season. This was established today when X-ray pictures showed that he received a fractured bone above the ankle in the Boston college game Saturday.

IOWA BUILDS DEFENSE.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Despite three inches of snow which fell on Iowa City Monday, the Iowa football team drilled tonight on its regular practice field as Coach Irl Tubbs began pointing the squad for its last conference game of the season against Indiana Saturday.

The snow was removed from the practice field during the morning and while it left the field in a somewhat soggy condition, practice was possible. None of the Iowa players was injured in the game with Minnesota, and the first string again consisted of Erwin Prasse and Dick Evans, Chicago juniors, at the ends; Chuck Brady and Mike Enich at the tackles; Bob Allen and Jim Kelley at guards, and Jerry Niles at center.

CORDOVA OPENS SEASON.

Cordova, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The first basketball game of the season in this part of Illinois wil lbe played Thursday, when Cordova High school and alumni players meet.

Badger Squad of 35 Off Today for U. C. L. A.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A dummy defensive drill against U. C. L. A. plays on snow crusted Camp Randall field this afternoon concluded Wisconsin's contact work for its game on the west coast Saturday.

The team will take a light workout shortly after noon tomorrow and leave at 3 p. m. for Chicago, where it will change trains for Los Angeles. No stops will be made Thursday, but a limbering up drill will be held after the team's arrival Friday afternoon. With every player available, Coach Harry Stuhldreher is not planning any changes in the lineup that started for the Badgers in the victory over Northwestern.

The following squad of thirty-five players, three deep at every position except at right tackle and quarter back, where extra reserves are being aken along, was named today for the U. C. L. A. trip.

ENDS—Ralph Moeller, Gordon Gile, Cyril Philip, Al Lorenz, Robert Weigandt, and Ed Wegner.

TACKLES—Al Dorsch, Robert Eckl, Rex John, Gene Brodhagen, Elmer Tornow, James Dean, and Bill Garrott.

GUARDS: Lynn Hovland, Robert Holloway, Bill Davies, John O'Brien, Dick Embick, and Baptiste Mazza.

CENTERS—Jack Murray, John Doyle, and Orville Fisher.

QUARTER BACKS—Vince Gavre, Fred Gage, Kenneth Bellile, and Ed. Hartman.

HALF BACKS—Bill Schmitz, Tony Gradisnik, John Tennant, Roy Bellin, Claude York, and Vince Cibik.

FULL BACKS—Howie Weiss, George Paskvan, and Karl Schuelke.

WEATHER SUITS MARQUETTE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Clear and cold weather was conducive to one of the liveliest workouts of the season at Marquette university today as the Hilltoppers engaged in their only heavy scrimmage of the week in preparation for next Saturday's homecoming game with Michigan State.

Defense was stressed in the workout. Marquette freshmen have had an extra week in which to reherse Michigan State plays and were able to give an apt demonstration of the enemy offense. The frosh caused considerable trouble for the varsity in the early stages of the workout.

CHILEANS TAKE MILITARY TROPHY IN HORSE SHOW

Hubbs Plate Is Won by Orange, N. J., Woman.

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The Chilean army team of Maj. Eduardo Yanez and Capt. Pelayo Izurieta, riding with superb ease and command, won the international military challenge trophy in the National Horse show tonight.

Mounted on Toque and Deseada, the winners turned in a faultless performance and held the lead in the three day competition with a score of minus 16 for two days. The United States army team was second with minus 28½.

The Mexican team of Lieut. Jaime Zapet and Lieut. Ramiro Palafox were second in tonight's performance over the stiff nine jump course with only a half fault registered against their work on Tolteca and Muchacho. The first Canadian team of Lieut. Douglas Cleland and Capt. Stuart Bate was third.

Chileans Place 1-2.

One of the show's most prized trophies, the Charles F. Hubbs' Memorial Challenge plate, went to Cynthia Clews Wrightson of Orange, N. J., who rode her Mount, Kentucky Bloom, in this class for ladies' saddle horses over 14.2 hands.

Vanity, a 3 year old mare owned by Mr. and Mrs. L. Victor Weil of Elberon, N. J., scored in the class for fine harness horses. Mr. and Mrs. Reed A. Albees' American Royal was second.

One of the evening's most colorful events, the pony four in hand competition, went to the North Farm of Mr. and Mrs. William B. McColl of Bristol, R. I., who showed four fine ponies in front of a miniature coach.

Two teams of Chilean Carabinero mounts finished first and second in the three day team jumping competition, the last round of which climaxed the afternoon session. Although beaten by the 61st Cavalry division's team No. 2 in the third round jump off today, the Chileans captured first place with only 18 faults for three competitions and took second with 21 faults.

Bartender Wins Again.

Capt. Eduardo Lema, the team captain, mounted on Lautaro; Lieut. Ramon Montecinos, up on Galvarino, and Lieut. Arthuro Ruiz, riding Antofogasto, made up the first Chilean team which captured the blues. The same trio rode the group of horses which took second place over the No. 2 team of the 61st Cavalry division. The New York city police department's team No. 1 was fourth.

Bartender, the aged chestnut gelding from Mrs. Edgar Mayer's Maytop stable of Port Chester, N. Y., took another step toward winning the show's jumping championship for the second year in a row when he won a blue in the Rocket event for jumpers, his second victory of the show. He won the Puritan yesterday.

The Dicksfield farm of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Dick Jr., Gurnee, Ill., took two blues. In the limit harness pony class for ponies not exceeding 14.2 hands and which had not won more than six first ribbons, King's Vanity, beautifully handed by Mrs. Dick, was the winner over a small field. In the division for pairs of harness ponies Highland Cora and Monarch Swell won over a good group.

Other Winners Listed.

Other winners included Miss Deborah G. Rood of Wilmington, Del., who took the heavyweight hunter class on Dublin Venture; Ebony Dream, a juvenile five gaited horse that won for Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Martin's Cedar Brook farm; the Kildare farm's Radiant Rhythm, victor in the five gaited saddle horses ridden by amateurs; the Seaton Hackney farm's Seaton Padrone in the division for single harness horses over 15.2, and Dixie Maid, the chestnut mare that captured the three gaited saddle mare division for entries over 14.2 hands for Mr. and Mrs. L. Victor Weil's Elberon, N. J., Fair City stables.

Torturer 1st in $2,500 Hunts Steeplechase

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—A crowd of 7,500 that included representatives of most of the important families in racing saw the Metropolitan turf season come to a close today at Belmont Park and watched F. Ambrose Clark's Torturer win the $2,500 added Temple Gwathmey Memorial steeplechase, feature event on the one-day program of the United Hunts Racing association.

Torturer, a 4 to 1 shot, proved much the best of the field of seven starters. The Clark Jumper took the lead the second time around and finished the two and a half mile test five lengths in front of R. E. McConnell's Prattler. Greentree stable's Sumatra was third.

A claim of foul was lodged against the winner when he jumped out at one fence on the backstretch, but it was not allowed as the officials ruled Torturer had not interfered with any of his six rivals.

Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Rockyrun, a winner at Pimlico last week in his first outing in four years, came through again today to take the Cherry Malotte steeplechase, the secondary feature. Favorite at 6 to 5, he also won by five lengths, with R. V. N. Gambrill's Tioga second and Louis Stoddard Jr.'s Blackcock, third.

Walter F. Wicks Jr.'s Prince Wick turned up a surprise winner of the other jumping race, the New York Turf Writers cup. An 8 to 1 shot, he beat Mrs. M. B. Metcalf's By The Sword by a length as Wild Son, the favorite, ran a dull race. In the three flat races M. Van Beuren's Pixey Dell won the seven furlong Class C and D handicap; Mrs. John D. Hertz's Count Eleven won the two year old race, and Walter M. Jeffords' War Spite, at 8 to 1, captured the mile and a half closing event.

INSCOELDA WINS WALDEN PURSE; VOLITANT IS 2D

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Herbert M. Woolf's 2 year old filly, Inscoelda, winner of the Arlington Lassie stakes last summer, again showed signs of greatness today when she won the thirty-second running of the Walden purse at Pimlico.

Up against a strong field in the mile and one-sixteenth test, the daughter of Insco not only benefited from a great ride by Johnny Longden, but showed plenty of courage on her own part to beat Volitant by a head. Ciencia, from Robert Kleburg's King ranch, was third in the field of nine.

Inscoelda ran the distance over a slow track in 1:49 to win $7,860. She repaid her backers at $11.50 for $2.

Volitant, beaten for the second time in six starts, trailed Time Along, the Eastern Shore handicap winner, and Impound, second in the Richard Johnson stakes and New England Futurity, up to the far turn. Then Harry Richards sent the colt from the Saratoga stable to the front.

Longden brought Inscoelda up to a contending position over a short path on the backstretch and took her to the better going on the outside as she headed for home. She came up even with Volitant 50 yards from home and beat him out in a driving finish.

Western Illinois Hunters Bag Canadian Geese

Moline, Ill., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Hunters in western Illinois have reported bagging a number of Canada geese during the last few days. The big birds came during the rain of Saturday and Sunday. One flock of 300 snow geese was seen on Arp's slough. Duck hunters also have reported success in the last few days. Rabbit hunters, who will take the field for the first time Thursday, have been assured by farmers that game is more plentiful than it has been in the last five years.

Runyan, McSpaden End Tour of South America

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Paul Runyan, U. S. P. G. A. champion from White Plains, N. Y., and Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Winchester, Mass., left today by plane for San Juan, Porto Rico. They had been on a golf tour of South America. Runyan won the Argentine open championship.

PARADE OF PETS TO MARK SHOWS IN CHICAGOLAND

Dog, Cat and Bird Events Are Scheduled.

BY BOB BECKER.

Pet owners in the Chicago area have a varied series of events on their program for the next several weeks. Dog shows, a cat show, and a fur and feather show featuring cage birds, pigeons, rabbits, dogs, cats and other pets will take place in Chicagoland during November and early December.

Many dog owners are planning to exhibit their canines in the big Western Specialty Club's association show to be held in the Coliseum Nov. 19 and 20, and also in the Rockford show scheduled for Nov. 17. The new Rock River Valley Kennel club is holding its first annual show in the Rockford Armory Nov. 17.

Nationally Known Judges.

Several nationally known judges, including Anton Rost, Brooklyn, N. Y.; John B. Charles, Tulsa, Okla.; Lawrence V. Drury, Peoria; Mrs. Alice K. Benjamin, Cincinnati; T. H. Carruthers III., Glendale, and Hubert A. Doll, Union, N. J., will select the winning dogs in the Rock River show.

The Western Specialty Clubs association show will attract entries from all over the country. Officials anticipate an entry of 1,500 dogs of 24 breeds. Last fall 1,362 dogs competed in this big show. The Dobermann-Pinscher Club of America led the entry totals at the 1937 show with 183, with the Cocker Spaniel Club of the Middle West second with 149 entries. The Mid-West Great Dane club expects more than 100 entries in its event this year.

Tribune Sponsors Class.

Children under 16 who know the rudiments of handling a dog in the show ring have a good chance of winning a handsome trophy by competing in the children's handling classes at the Coliseum show. These classes sponsored by THE TRIBUNE, offer twenty-two trophies to the best juvenile handlers. Children or parents desiring information may call or write this department.

The Fur and Feather Fashion show, featuring many kinds of pets, will be held in the Stevens hotel Nov. 23, 24, 25, and 26. Fancy poultry, pigeons, cats, canaries, game birds, dogs, aquarium fish, cage birds, and rabbits are among the pets to be shown.

The cat show on the schedule will be held Dec. 3 and 4 by the Beresford Cat Club of America at the Skyline Athletic club, 188 West Randolph street. The Beresford club is the oldest of its kind in the country, having been organized in 1899.

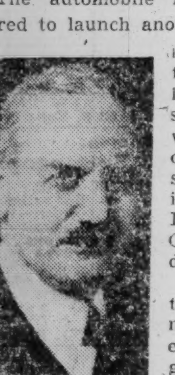
AUTO INDUSTRY SET TO LAUNCH ITS NEW YEAR

Chicago Show Will Open Saturday.

BY HAL FOUST.

The automobile industry is prepared to launch another merchandising year with better products and lower prices. The start will be made with the opening of the automobile shows this week, in New York on Friday and in Chicago on Saturday.



Alfred Reeves gives figures on auto output.

Factory executives will scrutinize these annual exhibitions as gauges of the market for their latest products. On the basis of pre-show receptions leaders in the industry predict sales gains of from 25 to 35 per cent over those in the last twelve months. However, they will be more confident in committing themselves to production schedules after the shows have run their eight days.

1938 Output 2,704,992 Units.

Alfred Reeves, general manager of the Automobile Manufacturers' association, commented yesterday that the style and mechanical advancements being presented in the 1939 models were perfected during a depression in the motor industry. He announced that production during the 1938 model year totaled 2,704,992 vehicles, 47 per cent lower than for 1937 models, although still 82 per cent better than in 1932.

The 1938 model production consisted of 2,130,214 passenger cars and 574,778 trucks with a total wholesale value of $1,683,600,000. In addition to the vehicles, the factories produced $950,285,000 worth of tires, parts and accessories for replacements, making the total value of the year's business $2,633,885,000.

41,500,000 Vehicles in World.

"World registration of motor vehicles," Reeves said, "is now computed at 41,500,000 cars and trucks, 70 per cent being in the United States. Registrations in the United States are computed at 28,800,000, of which 24,600,000 are passenger cars and 4,200,000 trucks. For America this is a shrinkage of about 900,000 vehicles as compared with a year ago.

"Motor vehicle user taxes now amount to $1,585,000,000 a year. This is 14 per cent of all taxes, federal, state and local.

"Employment in automobile, body and parts factories averaged about 337,000 this year compared with 517,000 last year."

Continental Oil to Offer Notes for 21 Million

Plans to offer $21,071,600 of ten year convertible debentures by the Continental Oil company, Ponca City, Okla., were disclosed yesterday. The $104,000,000 company filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commission at Washington giving the details of the issue.

The registration statement also covered an undetermined number of $5 par shares of capital stock which is to be reserved for the conversion of the debentures.

Most of Funds for Expansion.

Proceeds will be used to pay off all bank loans, amounting to about $2,500,000, and the balance will be placed in the company's treasury. The company said that its general funds have been, and may be, used for exploring, buying, and developing oil and gas properties, and in improving refining, transportation, and marketing facilities.

Continental Oil expended about $13,300,000 for this purpose in the eight months ended Aug. 31, 1938. About 73 per cent of this amount was used in connection with exploiting, buying, and developing gas and crude oil producing properties.

Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc., is to be the principal underwriter for the issue.

Offered to Stockholders.

The debentures are to be offered through transferable subscription warrants at $100 per $100 unit to holders of the company's stock of record Dec. 2, 1938. The basis will be $4.50 principal amount of debentures for each share of stock held. The right to subscribe will expire Dec. 16, 1938. All debentures unsubscribed will be offered publicly through the underwriters.

The rate of interest on the debentures and the number of shares of capital stock to be registered will be furnished in an amendment to the statement filed yesterday.

AMERICAN STOCK ISSUES QUIET IN LONDON MARKET

Trading in American shares in the London stock market was almost at a standstill yesterday pending the outcome of the elections in the United States. British securities received good support at higher quotations, however.

The Paris bourse advanced for the second consecutive day. Trading was active. In Berlin the boerse closed irregular.

Heavy demand in late dealings advanced stocks in Montreal and Toronto. Rail equipments were favored after quiet and narrow trading most of the day in the Canadian markets.

Closing stock prices in London [quoted in American equivalents at $4.75¾ to the pound] were:

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Purebred Herd Grows

November 8, 1938.

CLARENCE THUROW, manager of the Tribune's Fox river farm near Plano and Yorkville, is off to a good start in the establishment of a herd of 100 purebred Aberdeen-Angus cows. The plan was started three years ago.

Today there are forty-seven females in the herd. Forty-three of them will be mated to produce calves next spring and summer. There are ten 5 year old cows, twenty-six 2 year old hefers, and seven 18 month old hefers of breeding age. The other four females are young calves from the 5 year old cows. In addition to these the 5 year old cows have produced five bull calves this year. Another is to have a calf soon.

Buy Finest Anguses.

Thirty-two of the cows and hefers now in the breeding herd were bought from some of the finest Angus herds in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, and Washington. Fifteen of the females have been produced on the farm.

Prizemere 443rd and Black Scout 2nd, two purebred Augus bulls, are being used in the breeding herd this fall. Prizemere was bought at the Congdon & Battles dispersion sale held at Maquoketa, Ia., last summer. The farm also has a third mature bull, Tribune Colonel. He is not being used because he is related to most of the black cattle.

For many years the farm manager has followed the practice of buying feeder cattle that are raised on the western and southwestern ranges. In establishing the Angus breeding herd he expects to produce about one-fourth of the feeder cattle fattened on the farm for market each year. The plan followed is to save all of the desirable females until he has a herd of 100. The best bulls will be sold for breeding purposes. Animals that are not desirable for breeding purposes will be fattened for the market.

Increase Feed Crops.

Along with the establishment of the Angus herd the manager plans to increase the production of crops such as soy beans, alfalfa, and clovers. This is done to avoid buying protein feeds.

He expects to increase the acreage of soy beans for hay next year. The Black Sable variety of soy beans has been found the best for producing hay on the Fox river farm. About 140 bushels of seed will be saved from six acres of the Black Sable beans grown this year. These black beans yielded about two bushels to the acre less than the Manchu, an old standby among many Illinois farmers. But the farm manager considers the Black Sable a superior hay bean.

From six acres of Black Sable and six acres of Manchu 303 bushels were threshed this season, averaging 25¼ bushels per acre. The Manchus were sold at 62 cents a bushel. Black Sable beans are in demand in this region among dairy farmers who are trying to increase their soy bean hay yields and cut down their protein supplement costs.

BONDHOLDERS RESIST MILWAUKEE MERGER WITH NORTH WESTERN

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Bondholders' committees of the Chicago & North Western and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific railroads objected today to a proposal by stockholders' committees for consolidation of the roads.

The life insurance group committee of the Chicago & North Western and the institutional investors committee of the Milwaukee petitioned the interstate commerce commission to deny the stockholders' petition.

Committees representing preferred stockholders of the Milwaukee and common stockholders of the Chicago & North Western recently asked the I. C. C. to consider a plan of reorganization based on consolidation. The commission has not passed on this request.

The bondholders said today the common stock of the Chicago & North Western and the preferred stock of the Milwaukee "have no value," and that the stockholders have "no lawful interest" in the properties.

OCTOBER SALES OF MONTGOMERY WARD & CO. DROP

Sales of Montgomery Ward & Co. in October totaled $46,666,954, a decline of 4.42 per cent from the $48,825,203 reported for October, 1937, the company reported yesterday.

In line with the seasonal trend, sales for October were the largest for any month this year. The September total of $38,555,611 was the previous record for the company's fiscal year, which starts on Feb. 1.

Sales in both September and August showed increases over sales for the like two months of 1937. The September increase was 2.93 per cent and that for August was 10.68 per cent. In all other months of the company's fiscal year decreases were shown in comparison with corresponding 1937 months. The greatest decrease was that of 11.84 per cent for March.

For the nine months ended Oct. 31, 1938 sales totaled $309,665,055, against $319,788,818 in the like period of 1937. The decrease was 3.48 per cent.

Cotton Harvest of 12,137,000 Bales Forecast

The department of agriculture yesterday estimated cotton production in the United States this year at 12,137,000 bales. This was slightly less than the 12,212,000 bale crop forecast by this department a month earlier.

The indicated crop is more than 50 per cent less than the record harvest of 18,946,000 bales in 1937. Production during ten year period, 1927-'36, averaged 13,201,000 bales.

Supply to Set Record.

A crop of the size forecast would give the United States an all time record supply of approximately 25,250,000 bales. The 1939 surplus probably will be 13,500,000 bales.

The estimate was smaller than anticipated by private bureaus. The trade had been looking for a small increase in indicated growth with the average of private guesses around 12,253,000 bales.

After the issuance of the government report prices quoted on cotton for future delivery rose moderately in New Orleans, Montreal, and Liverpool. Chicago and New York cotton markets were closed for election day.

Prices Up 11 to 13 Points.

Closing prices in New Orleans were 11 to 13 points above Monday's last quotations. Cotton for delivery in December closed at 8.68 cents a pound.

The indicated yield per acre on this year's crop is 219.7 pounds, the government reported. Last year's yield was 266.9 pounds an acre and the average over the ten year period was 179.8 pounds per acre.

DUTCH DEMAND OIL INDEMNITIES; MEXICO SAYS NO

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The Netherlands government has demanded immediate payment for the Royal Dutch-Shell petroleum properties seized by Mexico March 18 and has received a curt reply refusing to negotiate, it was learned today. It was believed The Netherlands might break off diplomatic relations.

The Mexican government today began an inventory of the equipment on 1,000,000 acres of unexpropriated oil land. It belongs to a Standard Oil Company of New Jersey subsidiary, Titania, and the Sinclair Oil company. Oil company officials viewed this as a step toward seizure.

American Bosch.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate any information you have concerning the American Bosch corporation.—S. A.

Answer: This company was incorporated in 1919 in New York as the American Bosch Magneto corporation. The title was changed to United American Bosch corporation in 1930 and the name American Bosch corporation was adopted last September.

The company manufactures and sells automobile equipment and accessories, such as magnetos, heaters, timer-distributors, generators, and spark plugs; Diesel engine equipment and accessories, and gas fired water heaters. During the years 1933 to 1937, inclusive, radio products provided about 35 per cent of the company's revenues, but manufacture of radio receiving sets was discontinued early in 1938 as unprofitable.

Plants of the company are located at Springfield and Chicopee, Mass. Selling branches are operated in Chicago, Detroit, and New York. Practically all sales are made in the United States.

Sales totaled $1,834,655 in the first six months this year and the company reported a net loss of $327,339. Sales during all of 1937 amounted to $9,236,595 and net income for the year was $47,609, or 17 cents a share. Net loss of $302,433 was reported in 1936, against net income of $250,131 in 1935 and net income of $50,101 in 1934. Losses were incurred in the years 1930 to 1933 inclusive.

Stockholders last September in approving the change to the present title also voted to change the authorized capitalization to 750,000 $1 par shares from 500,000 no par shares formerly authorized. The 278,399 no par shares then outstanding were to be exchanged for an equal number of the new $1 par shares.

The company then registered 417,598 shares of the new stock for offering through rights to present stockholders. Rights to purchase one and one-half additional shares were issued for each share outstanding. The rights expire Nov. 15, 1938. No dividends have been paid by the company since 1921.

OIL COMPANY'S EARNINGS FALL IN 3D QUARTER

Nine Months' Net Half Last Year's.

The Continental Oil company yesterday reported net earnings for the third quarter of $2,706,698, or 57 cents a share. This compared with net earnings of $3,730,043, or 79 cents a share, in the September, 1937, quarter and $1,281,511 in the June quarter.

Third quarter operations brought the company's net earnings for the first nine months to $5,783,406, compared with $11,614,574 in the first nine months of last year.

Cause of Profit Decline.

This year's decreased profits, the company announced, were the result of smaller production of crude oil because of more drastic proration restrictions, to lower prices received for refined products, and to higher costs. The volume of sales for the first nine months was lower than in the same 1937 period, the company said.

The Gaylord Container corporation reported net profit of $749,015, for the nine months ended Sept. 30. This was equal, after dividend requirements on preferred stock, to $1.01 on a share on the common stock. In the September quarter net profit was $244,746, or 35 cents a common share against $228,873, or 30 cents a share, in June quarter.

The figures were before depreciation, amortization, and interest charges. The company's mines and mills, chiefly for gold and silver operations, are located at Hanover and Mogollon, N. M.

Net income of Michigan Gas and Electric company in the September quarter slipped to $43,953, off $803 from the third quarter of last year. For the twelve months to Sept. 30 net income was $119,740 against $107,476 in the preceding twelve months.

U. S. Is Headed for Upheaval, Says Dr. Palyi

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—To return to economic normalcy, this country must pay the price by going through a financial crisis, Dr. Melchior Palyi, research economist at the University of Chicago and former economic adviser to the Deutsche bank, Berlin, spoke at a meeting of the Greater Cincinnati Savings and Loan exchange.

Dr. Melchior Palyi.

"The choice of the American economic system," Dr. Palyi said, "is between a permanent depression with rising national debt and a slowly growing inflationary setup on one hand, or a rise of interest rates combined with a fairly severe but temporary crisis on the other hand."

Predicts an Upheaval.

He said that we are apparently destined for a financial upheaval, and that the sooner we prepare for it, the better are our chances of moderating its effects.

Dr. Palyi said American investors now face three important problems from the long run point of view:

"1. Is there any prospect for an upturn and for profitable investment possibilities, such as were available before the great depression? When that prospect arises, will our money be available for us? Can we keep it in a necessarily liquid state which, at the same time, would be compatible with the necessity to make earnings in the meantime?

"If Prosperity Returns."

"2. If prosperity returns—in the sense of prosperous investment chances—interest rates are bound to rise. How will rising rates affect our savings now invested, to a large extent, through the channels of banks, savings banks, and insurance companies and in governmental and other high grade bonds?

"3. Such potential depreciation of government bond prices cannot be counteracted by artificially protecting the market. The only way to protect the market is by printing money with which to buy the bonds that, at present yields, cannot be placed with the ultimate investors. In view of the danger of a price revolution, that method is not likely to be applied."

WHEAT ADVANCES IN WINNIPEG ON EXPORT DEMAND

Wheat prices advanced moderately yesterday in the principal foreign markets. The Chicago Board of Trade and other American markets were closed for election day.

Closing quotations on wheat futures in the Winnipeg market were ¼ to ⅝ cent a bushel above the preceding day.

The market responded to reports of a revival in European demand.

The trading in the Canadian market was light. Other grains were steady, closing prices showing slight change from the preceding day.

Wheat in Liverpool and Buenos Aires recorded small gains over Monday's closing quotations.

HILLS COFFEE PLANS FACTORY AT ELMHURST

Would Put $750,000 in New Industry.

BY AL CHASE.

A new suburban industry is planned for Du Page county. Hills Brothers Coffee, Inc., of San Francisco, one of the largest dealers of its kind in the country, contemplates erecting a $750,000 coffee roasting and packing plant in Elmhurst. Construction depends on rezoning of a thirty acre tract on the eastern boundary of the town, permitting a change from residential to industrial use.

The Elmhurst city council on Monday voted to refer the question to the zoning board of appeals. Clarence L. Finis, secretary of the zoning body, said a public hearing will be held in about two weeks. Meanwhile the Elmhurst Trade and Civic association, composed of business men, met Monday and went on record as approving the project.

Take Option on Land.

Hills Brothers has taken an option on land owned by A. H. Bucholz and the Chicago and North Western railroad. The land is bounded on the north by Schiller street, on the west by Geneva avenue, on the south by the Chicago and North Western right of way, and on the east by the Du Page-Cook county line. Over the line to the east are the North Western Proviso freight yards.

The intention of Hills Brothers, according to a statement made by H. G. Hills, vice president, and A. L. Fowle, general manager of trafic, is to erect a modern one and two story plant. Coffee will be roasted and packed for the entire territory east of the Rocky mountains. At present all the company's coffee is roasted in its San Francisco plant.

Plan 650 Foot Building.

The new building will be 650 feet long and 276 feet wide, of steel, brick, and concrete construction. The major part of the acreage will be planted to trees, lawns, and gardens and will be used for recreational purposes for employés.

The company would employ about 200 workers, 15 per cent of them women, according to Hills. It would have an annual pay roll of several hundred thousand dollars. The present offices of the company in the Merchandise Mart would be moved to Elmhurst upon completion of the new plant, Hills said. Gas will be used for roasting and electricity for power. No coal or oil will be used, he said.

Company Founded in 1878.

Hills Brothers Coffee, Inc., was founded by A. H. and R. W. Hills in 1878 as a retail store in San Francisco. Later it expanded into a wholesale business. About ten years ago, Hills said, the company entered the Chicago market. Business, he said, has now reached a volume where it will be cheaper to roast coffee for this part of the country in Chicago and thus avoid long hauls of the finished product from the Pacific coast.

Business on the Pacific coast also has been increasing rapidly, Hills said, and with favorable prospects for the future the capacity of the present plan in San Francisco will be insufficient to pack the requirements of the grocery trade.

Plate Glass Industry—4.

After molten glass has been rolled flat it must be rushed immediately to what is known as the annealing oven to prevent too rapid cooling, which would result in imperfections. The oven in reality is a huge tunnel about 800 feet long through which the glass moves slowly on an electric conveyor. As the glass moves through the oven it is cooled gradually until it emerges at the temperature of the outer air.

After cooling, the huge sheet is placed under machines which, using sand as an abrasive, grind it smooth. Then it is polished by other machines which use red oxide of iron, or "rouge" as it is known in the industry.

The method of production which has been described is known as the "casting process." Another method is the "continuous process." Here, a continuous sheet of glass is produced, being drawn from a "drawing pot" affixed to the furnace directly to the roller and then to the annealing ovens.

A CORRECTION.

Recently we advertised in part as follows: "Oldsmobile 6, 1928, $665 de luxe coupe; also 1938 sedan, 1937 sedan, $525." This was inaccurate, as the 1938 sedan was available only at $750. We regret this error and pledge it will not recur.
